Limestone is quarried near Oswestry (like marble), Ludlow, Orton, — slate at Selattyn, Purslow, Clun, — good stone at Grimshill, etc.; and traces of copper are found. Coal measures (3826 hands) on the E., are sometimes 6 ft. thick, lie about 500 ft. above the Severn, and are accompanied with abundance of iron, which is blasted in the furnaces in Coalbrookdale (about 2300 hands). All the mines engage 6300 hands. Nails (450) are made at Broseley, Hales Owen, etc., — pottery and china (367) at Caughley, Broseley, and Coalport on the Severn (where the first iron bridge in England was made 1777), — carpets (364) at Bridgnorth, — cotton, woollen, linen (250) at Coleham, Leebotwood, etc., — gloves at Ludlow, paper at Drayton. Smaller rivers are: Tern, Ony, Clun, Vyrnwy, Camlet, Rea, Perry, Quenny, Corve. Soil fertile, with light sand on N., and clay in middle; chief crops, wheat, turnips, barley, peas, grasses, a few oats, and hops; agriculture is backward, except on the large farms; mixed breeds of cattle are found on the dairy lands in S. and W., where inferior

Cheshire cheese is made, turkeys are bred, and large hogs fattened; stock of sheep 42,000, yielding 7000 packs, — but the wool is not so fine as it was; estates and farms are well divided, some being very small, — and the farms generally held nearly; oak, ash, beech plantations. Watling St. comes in at Weston P'k., and passes Oakengates (anct. Uxacona) and Wroxeter (Uriconium, — the chief station here), whence it goes to Rowton (Rutonium), or S. by Ch. Stretton, etc. to Leintwardine, — two ways also go hence to Bangor Iscoed and Kinderton; roman camps are seen at The Walls, Bury Ditches (Walcot Pk.), Bury Walls (Hawkstone Pk.), — and others at Boro' Hill, Brocard's Cast., Bucknell; parts of Offa's dyke near Oswestry (with remains of Wat's dyke also) from Selattyn to Blodwell Hall, and again S. near Lymore Pk., and from Mainstone to Skyborey; abbey ruins at Shrewsbury, Haughmond, Buildwas, Wenlock, Lilleshall; priories at Bromfield, Whiteladies (near Boscobel and the Royal Oak, where Ch. II. was hid 1651); old churches at Chirbury (which gave title to Lord Herbert), Tonge, St. Kenelm's at Hales Owen; castles (out of 35 held by the marchers) at Shrewsbury, Bridgnorth, Ludlow (the lords marchers' court, where Milton's 'Comus' was first played), Hopton, Stoke, Clun and Oswestry (held by the Fitzalans, of whom was Walter, who emigrated to Paisley, and founded the Stuart line), Cawse, Whittington (the Fitzwarines'), Knockyn and Middle (L'Estranges'), Red Castle, Acton, + Burnell, where Edw. I. held a parl. 1284. Baxter was born at Rowton, old Parr at Winnington; Fletcher was vicar of Madeley, Heber of Hodnet; at Battlefield, near Shrewsbury, Hen. IV. defeated Hotspur, etc. 1405; Bridgnorth, by old travellers, was said to be like Jerusalem. Av. number of offenders (1836-46) 126, — but 196 in '48. —— An irregular range of trap hills, 1300 to 1500 ft. high, under various names (as Campsie fells, Kilsyth, Fintry, Gargunnock hills) runs for the most part NE. and SW. through the middle (in a line with the Lennox, Stirling, and Ochills), dividing the coal measures on the S. and SE. from the old red sandstone which prevails on NW., except in the corner under Ben Lomond (3195 ft.), where the chlorite and mica slate of the highlands appear. Coal (1075 hands) is worked at Baldernock (where alum is found), Airth, Campsie, Denny, Kilsyth, St. Ninian's, Muiravonside, Polmont, Falkirk, etc., — with ironstone (113), freestone (176), lime, and a little lead, silver, copper, cobalt. Cast-iron goods (640 hands, — 323 being founders and moulders) are made at Carron, nails (530) at St. Ninian's; the manufactures of cotton, woollen, tartan, worsted (5211 hands altogether, more than half being cotton) are carried on at Stirling, St. Ninian's, Ballindalloch, Dunipace, Fintry, with printworks at Campsie, Denny, E. Kilpatrick, Strathblane; leather is made at Falkirk, St. Ninian's, — paper at Denny, copperas at —; and there are large distilleries at Lillyburn, Milton, etc. The small rivers Avon, Carron, Pow, Bannockburn, Touch, etc. run to the Forth, which runs under Ben Lomond, and flows by a very winding course through the links of Stirling to the open Frith; the Finglen runs to the Kelvin, and that to the Clyde, — the Blane, Carnock, etc. to the Endrick, which has a fall of 91 ft. at the 'loup,' and goes down to L. Lomond. Lakes, all small, are: Black, Ellrig, Coulter, Craigend, Arklet (near L. Katrine), and Airthrey, near Bridge of Allen wells. —— Surface flat to the E., where the carse lands (a sandy clay, with shell marl, moss, etc.) are fertile, well drained, and cultivated, — the farms run from 20 to 300 ac., orchards are seen, and wheat, beans, barley, turnips, potatoes, clover, etc. are raised; but thin and poor towards the highlands on the W., where the farms are 4000 acres, bear and oats are grown, and highland cattle and Linton and Cheviot sheep are grazed. Along the rivers the soil is gravelly; there are about 23,000 ac. of wood and plantation; bog and peat are abundant. —— At Castle Cary are remains of a station on the Antonine Wall; a copy of a roman remain which was at Larbert, called Arthur's Oven (like a great tun), is at Penycuick; Arthur's Lift cromlech has cairns near it. Old castles are at Airth (called Wallace's), Dunmore, Powfonts, Baldernock (the Galbraiths'), Inversnaid, Almond (Callanders'), Stirling, Mugdock, Duntreath; an abbey at Cambuskenneth, nunnery at Muiravonside. Wallace beat the English at Stirling 1297, and was beaten at Falkirk 1298 (when Sir Jno. the Graeme fell), as were the royalists 1745; the battle of Bannockburn was fought 1298; Jas. III. was defeated by his subjects at Sauchieburn, and killed at Beaton's Mill, close by, 1483; Montrose beat Baillie 1645 at Kilsyth. At Dunipace hills Edw. I. signed the treaty of 1301; and Kippen belonged to Buchanan, 'king of Kippen,' when he received the 'gude man of Ballangeich' (Jas. V.). Buchanan was born at Killearn; the old scotch pint for liquids was kept at Stirling; at Craig Leith, near Alva, in the Ochills, falcons were got; large cattle trysts are held at Falkirk (2nd Tu. Aug. Sept. Oct.), when 80,000 black cattle and 50,000 sheep are sold. Demyatt (1345 ft.) and Stirling hills command fine views. Chief seats are: Duke of Montrose Buchanan Ho., Earl of Dunmore Dunmore, E. of Zetland Kerse, Lord Abercrombie Airthrey, Bruce Bt. Stenhouse, A. Campbell Bt. Gartscube, Edmonstone Bt. Duntreath, Hay Bt. Stirling, Stewart Bt. Touch Ho., Livingstone Bt. Westquarter, Stirling Bt. Glorat, Forbes, M. P., of Callander, Bruce, M. St. Anne's hill near Chertsey is 240 ft., Norwood hill near Croydon rail. 390 ft. Ragstone is quarried at Send, Chobham, Reigate, Bletchingley, Merstham, Godstone, Nonsuch; fire clay at the last three, and other places; fullers' earth at Bletchingley, Croydon, Nutfield, Reigate, Sutton; lime and chalk at Carshalton, Croydon (croie, chalk), Dorking, Guildford, Sutton, etc. Many old houses in London have railings, etc. of the iron which used to be extracted from the greenstone and wealden clay; mineral springs are found at Epsom, Cobham, Streatham, Kingston, Dulwich, Godstone, Stoke, Dorking. Chief crops are: wheat (2 to 6 qrs. per acre), barley for malt (4 to 7 qrs.), beans, peas, turnips, — with cabbages, carrots, asparagus, parsnips, etc. in the mkt. gardens near the Thames, where they raise as much as 5 crops a year in the rich sandy loam, — clover, sanfoin for hay, and woad (both sown with barley, on the Downs), — hops (1200 ac.) near Farnham, — also peppermint, lavender, roses, liquorice, camomile, poppies, and other medical 'simples' at Mitcham and Tooting; short-horned and other sorts of cattle are fatted, and house-lamb (near Guildford, etc.) reared for market; about 300,000 S. Down sheep yield 4500 woolpacks; Berkshire pigs are kept, geese in the Weald, rabbits and 5-clawed fowls about Dorking, of all sizes, 200 to 800 ac. on the average, leases run to 21 yrs. (?); many old farm buildings remain. Oak, beech, walnut, grow in the clay of the Weald, box on Box hill, furze on the heaths, and ash, alder, willow, osier, etc. in coppices, for hop-poles, faggots, charcoal (for the powder works at Ewell, Maldon). Some of the wells are 200 to 300 ft. deep; grass lands lie on the Thames: but there are many tracts of barren common, as Wimbledon, Esher, Epsom, Ockham, Clandon, Pirbright, Woking, and especially down the W. border (at Bagshot, Chobham, Bisley, Farnham, Thursley, Frensham, etc.), where, on a space of 100 sq. m. of sand and moor, about 2200 tons per acre of pure water fall yearly, with which it is proposed to supply London. The rivers run to the Thames, — as the Wey and Mole (through gaps in the Downs — the latter being sucked in at the 'Swallows' near Thorncroft bridge), Bourne, Hog's Mill, and Wandle — which has, or had, good fishing, and turns above 90 mills for paper, snuff, oil, flour, etc. Leather (2311 hands), hats (2191), parchment and vellum (112), are made at Bermondsey; calico bleaching and printing (144) is carried on at Carshalton, Merton, Mitcham, Wallington; woollens (133) are made at Wandsworth, coarse linens at Farnham, pottery (217) at Battersea and Waterloo; silk employs 247, paper 200, glass 292, iron 223, hands, — all near London. Stockings were knit at Godalming, and there are copper works at Wimbledon. Cooper's, St. Anne's, Sandersted, and Richmond hills, are famous for their views, — as well as those on the Downs from Guildford, etc., and from Leith hill, and other points, which overlook a vast extent of the Weald, with glimpses (sometimes) of the sea. Ermine St. went from St. George's Fields to Croydon and Godstone; Stane St. by Streatham, etc. There are camps at Holmbury hill (roman), St. George's hill near Cobham, Aldbury (a temple), Warlingham, Cæsar's at Walton-on-Thames and Farnham, Anstiebury (rom.), Caterham (danish), Wimbledon (saxon), Hascombe near Godalming; an old abbey at Waverley, priories at Merton and Newark (or Send); castles at Farnham, Guildford. Nonsuch palace was at Cuddington; Dr. Hammond was born at Chertsey (where Cowley died), Bolingbroke at Battersea, T. Cromwell and Gibbon at Putney, Benbow at Rotherhithe (?), Abp. Abbot at Guildford. Raleigh lived at W. Horsley, Temple at Moor Park, Johnson at Streatham, Fox at St. Anne's hill; Princess Charlotte and Louis Philippe died at Claremont. Hollies, 60 ft. high (?), grow at Frensham. Dulwich has a picture gallery; Kew the botanical gardens. Downs, runs ESE. past Bow hill (702 ft. high), near W. Dean, Waltham (near which Stane St. crosses), Amberley, Chanctonbury Ring (814 ft.) near Wistow, Steyning, Devil's Dyke (685 ft., with a vast prospect over the Weald), Lewes, Firle beacon (820 ft.), to the coast at Beachey Head (564 ft.), where it ends between it and Brighton; the N. side of this is bordered by a strip of hilly greensand through Midhurst, on to Ashurst, Ditchling beacon (858 ft.), and Pevensey; and all beyond belongs to the clay, 'Hastings sand,' and 'Purbeck stone,' of the Weald, — rising into hills in the Forest ridge in the N. (as at Crowboro', 804 ft.) and E. (where Brightling is 646 ft., and Fairlight Down beyond Hastings is 599 ft.). The SW. corner, from Brighton westward, is part of the 'I. of Wight' formation, which prevails in S. Hants. Limestone for building, for mantel-pieces, etc., is quarried as 'Sussex marble' at Petworth, and good cement made of it; marl in abundance is dug under the chalk hills; fullers' earth at Tillington; red ochre at Graffham, and Chidham; iron was extracted from the greensand and clay in the Weald; and there are several tile and brick works. Paper (60 hands) is made at Iping, powder at Battle. The rivers, all short, are the Lavant, Arun (which has good angling), Adur, Ouse, Rother; herrings, mackerel, flatfish, etc., are got along shore; carp, tench, perch, pike, eels, are found in the lakes and ponds, — many of which belong to deserted ironworks. 'It boasts,' says I. Walton, 'of several fish, as namely a Shelsey (Selsea) cockle, a Chichester lobster, an Arundel mullet, an Amerly (Amberley) trout,' — the two last found in the Arun. Climate mild in the W., but bleak on the Downs, — which are green, and have a light mould, with patches of furze; their S. side is gravelly or 'shrevey,' but fertile; good loam is found on the N. side, sand in St. Leonard's and Ashdown forests (28,000 ac.), and about 30,000 ac. of marsh (for fatting cattle) on the E. near Pevensey, where shells and logs are in the soil; chief crops are beans, potatoes (400 to 700 bush. an acre), wheat (the 'Chidham white,' etc.), oats in the Weald, hops (8000 to 10,000 ac. in E. Susx.), rhubarb, opium, chicory, peas, sanfoin, with coleseed, rye, etc. (as food for cattle), and apples for cider (about Petworth); cattle are good native deep-red breed, fine-haired, good milkers (5 lb. butter per week), and 120 stone on the average, — the oxen being used to work, 8 to a team sometimes; about 863,000 sheep, yielding 10,800 packs, are kept, of the Dorset., Wilts., and other breeds, but chiefly (450,000) the 'S. Downs,' which are polled and hardy, with grey and speckled faces, fine-woolled (2½ lbs. the fleece), weighing 8 to 11 stone, and quarter; rabbits, pigs (a Berkshire [illegible] bred, with large 5-clawed poultry (5 lbs. [illegible]ne av.) about Horsham, etc.; farms run to 0 ac. in the Weald, 1200 to 2000 on the Downs, and are mostly held at will; farm bldgs. and cottages are good, — but the system of husbandry is rather backward. The delicate wheatear is shot on the Downs; good oaks, dwarf beech, are grown; timber, charcoal, bark, cattle, sheep, hides, wool, are exported. —— Stane St. came in by Pulboro', past Bignor (anct. Ad Decimum), to Chichester (Regnum), whence another road struck off to Midhurst (Mida), etc.; Ermine St. came in by E. Grinstead, Isfield, to Lewes (Mutuantonis) and Seaford (Anderida?), crossing another which came from Pevensey (Anderida Portus) along the coast and the Downs past Newhaven, Aldington (Portus Adurni), Lancing, Amberley (Anderesio), Bignor, Chichester, on to Porchester. Traces of british forts (round) and roman camps (square), etc., are found on or near these ways, at Broile, Gonshill, and St. Rook's, near Chichester, — Bury, Storrington, Sullington, High Down, near Arundel, — Chanctonbury and Cisbury near Steyning; another near Poynings, Wolstenbury near Pyecomb, Ditchling, Hollingbury, and another near Brighton, Tellescombe (two), Newhaven, Seaford, Burling Gap (two or three), Mt. Caburn near Lewes; abbey or priory ruins are left at Battle (where the Conqueror defeated Harold, 14th Oct. 1066), Robertsbridge, Shelbred, Lewes, Bayham, Michelham; old churches at Chichester (cathedral), Boxgrove, Parham, Horsham, Shoreham, Steyning, Broadwater, Poynings, Fletching (where Gibbon was buried); castle ruins at Amberley (was the bishops'), Bramber, Pevensey (roman bricks in it), Eridge, Mayfield (was archbp's.), Hastings, Ipres (at Rye), Winchelsea (Hen. VIII.), Bodiham, Hurstmonceaux. Abp. Juxon and Collins were born at Chichester (where Chillingworth died), Otway at Trotton, Selden at Salvington, the Shirleys at Wistow, Andrea Borde (the first 'merry Andrew') at Pevensey, Abp. Frewen at Northiam. At this place, in the Rother, a danish barge was found 1822, — and another in the Arun 1834, 34½ ft. long. Cowdray Ho. was the Montagues' old seat; Selsea was a bishop's see 711-1082; De Montfort defeated Hen. III. at Lewes; Bolebrook Ho. is brick of 15th cent. Schools about 56, with 2930 child. attending. Av. number of offenders (1836-46) 11, — but only 5 in '48. —— The surface is all mountain, lake, and moss, except on the E. side coast, which has a flat sheltered strip under hills 300 to 800 ft. high. From a crooked ridge from Cape Wrath SE. to Brora, short rivers run down to the N. and S. through narrow straths of the same[illegible] the Cassley and Tyvie into the Oik[illegible] Evlix, Fleet, Brora, and Helmsdale to t[illegible] coast, — the Halladale, Strathy, Naver, Borgie, More, Gradie to the N. coast, — most of them having good salmon fisheries. Gneiss and mica slate prevail as a substratum, with granite near Helmsdale, also in Rogart between L. Shin and Dunrobin, — old red sandstone near Cape Wrath, Ben Stomie, and Ru Storr, — limestone along the coast near Brora (with new red sandstone and jet coal), and in Durness and Assynt (where it becomes marbly); traces of bog-iron and manganese are found. Some heights along the W. and N. coast are: Ben More 3230 ft., Queenaig 2200, Suilben 2700, B. Leod 2200, Ben Stack 2400, Mealrynie 2000, B. Fionaven or Finevan 3015, Arkle 2500, B. Among the lakes, mostly in the middle and W., are: Shin (the largest, 18 m. long), Naver, Hope, More, Assynt, Loyal, Brora, Merkland, Maddie, Nacarr and Nacnan, Sandwood, etc.; red-bellied trout are got in L. Borley, — and trout, salmon, pike, etc. in the others. Cod, ling, herrings, mackerel, lobsters, are caught along the coast; red and roe deer are in the deer forests ('Lord Reay's' was in Edderachyllis), and grouse, blackcock, ptarmigan, and other game abound. A few native oaks, birch, alder are seen. Climate, changeable and wet, but mild and warm in the valleys; plenty of turnips and potatoes, with fine barley, oats, and a little wheat and rye, are raised in the arable strip on the E. coast. Dunrobin cattle are kept, with about 170,000 cheviot sheep on the sheep-farms, yielding 430,000 lbs. of fleece. Great improvements have been made by the Gowers (heritors of 10 parishes, and parts of others), who have laid out nearly 400 m. of the road (free of toll), and promoted agriculture and the fisheries. Among the antiquities are: Clacktoll druid stones; pictish forts at Ru Storr, Bonfrectan, Rogart, Craigbarr, Farr, Helmsdale; danish forts at Loth, and pillars at Criech and Goldspie; old castles at Ardvraick (the M'Leods'), Criech (Rosses'), Skilbo, Borve, Dunrobin, Helmsdale, Bighouse (Mackays'), Tongue, and Dun Reay (Lord Reay's); Dornoch has the bishop's old palace, and cathedral (restored). Montrose was taken in Assynt by the M'Leods. Some of the seats are: Duke of Sutherland Dunrobin and Tongue, Gunn of Rhives, Matheson M. P. of Achany, Loch M. Thames Haven (1) 2 m. above Hole or Holy Haven, SW. Essex, at the Thames mouth, is a proposed dock for colliers, etc. 1000 ft. by 800, with a rail. to London viâ Romford.

Thames River (1, 2, 7, 8, 13, 34, 45) the largest in the British Islds., and anct. Tamesis, Tamesa, Tamissa, Thamesis, or saxon Temese, Taemese, with a basin of about 7000 m., rises in 4 springs at Ullen Farm, and the "7 heads" (14 springs) near Coates, 3 m. WSW. of Ci'ster, on the Glouc. border, 376 ft. above sea at the Nore, and 216 m. from N. Foreland; passes Leigh, Wilts. where the Swill joins; Cricklade-210 (i. e. from the Foreland), where the Churn joins; Lechlade -202, Glouc. (258 ft. above low water mark at London br.), near which the Ray, Cole, Colne (243 ft. above sea), and Leach join, the Severn canal falls in, and to which barges come up; Standlake where the Windrush, and Ensham where the Evenlode, joins; Oxford-180, the Cherwell joins, 190 ft. above sea; Abingdon-172, Ock joins and Wilts. canal falls in; Dorchester, the Thame joins; Wallingford-160; Pangbourne-150, the — joins; Reading-144, Kennet joins, and Ken. and Avon canal falls in; Shiplake-140, the Loddon; Henley-137, and 106 ft. above sea; Gt. Marlow -129, Maidenhead-122, Windsor-116, Ankerwyke (near Magna Charta isld.); Staines-109, the Colne joins, and City jurisdiction or 'Western View' begins; Weybridge, the Wey and Bourn join, 41 ft. above sea; Hampton Court-96, to which steamers come, opposite Moulsey, where the Mole joins; Kingston-93, the Hogsmill; Teddington lock (to which the tide comes, — 2 hrs. later than at London br., with low water level 16¾ ft. higher); Twickenham-90; Richmond-89 (and its delightful scenery); Isleworth, the Cran; Sion Ho. and Brentford-87, rail. bridge crosses, the Brent joins, and Gd. Junct. canal falls in; Kew -86, and gardens; Chiswick-83, Hammersmith-82, Fulham-80; Wandsworth, the Wandle; Chelsea -77, its hosp. and reach (— ft. wide); Vauxhall -75, and br. near the Penitentiary and gardens; Lambeth reach and palace; Westminster-74, its br., abbey, and houses of parl.; Hungerford suspension br., Waterloo br. and Somerset Ho., Temple Gardens; Blackfriars-73, and br., St. Paul's, etc. and St. Saviour's; London br. 4½ ft. above sea, 692 ft. wide, with 12 ft. water at low tide, which rises 17 and 18 ft.; Tower-72, near which 800-ton ships come up to St. Katherine's docks, and tide rises to 30 ft.; T. Tunnel-71, 1200 ft. long, made 1825-41 (see LONDON and ROTHERHITHE), near London docks. Thence the river turns by 18 bends or reaches to the sea,—as the Upper and Lower Pool where colliers lie; Limehouse Reach, where Regent's canal falls in, near W. India and Commercial docks, Deptford dockyard; Greenwich Hospital-68 and Reach, where the Ravensbourne joins; Blackwall-66 and Reach, near E. India docks, where the Lea joins; Bugsby's Reach; Woolwich-64 and Reach, dockyard and arsenal; Gallion's Reach; Barking Reach, where the Roding joins; Halfway Reach; Erith-58 and Reach; the Rands near Purfleet-56 (opposite which the Darent joins); Long Reach, and the measured mile for trying steamers; Greenhithe-53; Fiddler's Reach; Northfleet-49 and Hope, where E. Indiamen used to lie; Gravesend-48 and Reach (1250 ft. wide) where outward bound ships stop; Hope Reach (3 to 4 m. wide), and Yantlet Creek -34, where City jurisdiction ends; Sea Reach. Thence along the S. shore to Sheerness-29 and dockyard, the Medway joins; the Nore Light -28; Whitstable-17, the Swale joins; Herne Bay -13; Margate-8; N. Foreland, where Port of London begins. Along the N. shore are Southend, 17 m. below Gravesend, Shoeburyness 20 m. below; Foulness (32 m.), where the Crouch joins; the Blackwater and Colne (40 m.); the Ness or Naze (48 m.) where the Port of London begins on this side (32 m. from N. Foreland on the other); and Harwich (53 m.) where the Stour joins. The mouth is full of sands, as the Margate, Girdler, Long, Kentish Knock, Sunk, Barrows, Cant, Maplin, Heaps, Glenfleet, etc., with South, Queen's, Prince's, Thomas's, Black, and Barrow Deeps, Swin, King's, Wallfleet, and other channels between them. Depth at low water from Lond. to Gravesend 2 to 5 fath.; below it to the sea 5 to 12 and 14. Mean tides at full and change, II¼ hrs. at London br. and the Docks; II hr. at Blackwall; 1½ at Gravesend; XII½ at the Nore, where it rises 14 ft. At Teddington, the low water surface is 16¾ ft., and the high water mark 1½ ft. higher than at London br., to which the fall in the bed is about 1 ft. a mile; between Westmr. and London bridges, it runs at the most 3 to 3½ m. an hour. It was frozen over 1269 (for 4 months), 1282 (and 5 arches of the old bridge carried away), 1515 (above bridge), 1739-40 (called the 'great frost') and 1813-4; but since the new bridge (opened 1831) with its wide arches was made, this is not so likely to happen, because the stream runs more freely, scouring the bottom and clearing everything away: the increasing force of it has already loosened Blackfriars and Westminster bridges. Three tides in 24 hrs. are recorded, 12 Oct. 1407; and it is observed that in the upper part above Oxford (which poets call the Isis) it begins to freeze from bottom upwards. Pike, chub, eel, roach, flounders, dace, chub, white-bait (below Greenwich), gudgeons, with a few salmon and sturgeons, are caught; in Harrison's time (1586) 'plentie' of 'fat and sweet salmons' were 'daily taken in this streame;' whales came ashore, at Deptford 1658, Gravesend 1718, Seasalter (near Herne bay) 1763, Gray's Thorruck 1849; and porpoises are seen tumbling up from the sea in rough weather. Drayton says, 'Our flood's queen, Thames, for ships and swans is crown'd;' and the form of nicking the latter (hence the 'Swan with two necks') is still gone through at the annual swan-uppings. It was while sailing in a packet boat on it that Bradley made the discovery of the aberration of light. The first steamer on it was Dodd's from Glasgow 1816; the oldest one for passengers, was the 'Kent' to Gravesend in 1829; now they run to all parts above (to Hampton Court) and below bridge, for ½*d.* fare and upwards. The largest ship on it, the Amazon mail steamer of 2256 tons, 800 horse power, was launched June 1851, from Green's Yard, Blackwall. Regattas from May to Aug., the best being from Putney to Mortlake or Kew; Morris's coat and badge for 7 yr. apprentices is rowed for in July; Doggett's for the same, 1 Aug.

Thames and Medway Canal (1, 6) in N. Kent, 7¼ m. long, cut 1804, on a level with 2 locks, begins at Gravesend, and passes Merston tunnel 2 m. long, to Frindsbury opposite Rochester — passing close to the N. Kent rail., to which it belongs. T. and Severn Canal, 30 m. long, cut 1783-92, 42 ft. broad, begins at Stroud Water canal at Walbridge, rises 243 ft. (with 28 locks), following Gt. West. Union rail., past Chalford and Sapperton tunnel (2½ m. long), and falls thence 134 ft. (with 14 locks) towards the Thames Head, Siddington (a branch 1 m. to Ci'ster), Latton (N. Wilts. canal joins), to Lechlade in the Thames.

Tattermoyle (1932 ft.); thence a plain of old red sandstone prevails to a line from Donaghty, through Omagh, to Dooish mountn. (1110 ft.). N. of this line, on the NE., are trap and granite hills (Beleevnamore 1261 ft., Fir mountn. 1188); but the NW., except a patch of old red sandstone near Newtown Stewart, is clay and mica slate, or schistus, rising into several mountns., as Sl. Sawel (on the Derry border) 2236 ft., Straw or Mullaghclogher 2085, Mullaghcarb 1890, and others in the Sperrin range, — Ligfordrum near Strabane 1345, — Sl. Kirk, N. of this, 1245, — Munterlony 1432, Sl. More 1262, Broughderg 1088, near R. Owenkillow, — Bessy Bell 1386, Mary Gray 826, near Newtown Stewart, — Mullaghcarn 1778, Sl. Ard 1381, near Mountfield, — Croagh on Donegl. border beyond Castlederg 1250. Millstone grit and some poor slates are quarried; lime, with fossil fish, etc. in it, at Cookstown, Caledon, Dungannon, Stewartown; and coal (7 beds, 34 ft. thick, in a depth of 730 ft.) is got from the field of 13,000 acres, at Drumglass and Coalisland, mixed with sandstone, ironstone, and fire-clay. Woollens and brown linen are spun for the market; they make cotton and linen 'unions' at Stewartown, — gloves at Ballygawley, — coarse pottery at Dungannon, Moy, Coalisland, — and there are some distilleries and breweries. In '47, a bad year, 1124 hands were in the flax mills. The river Ballinderry runs to L. Neagh; other streams run to the Blackwater; the Camoan or Carnown, Lloghan, Drumragh, Owenkillow, Owenreagh, Mournebeg, Stride, etc. to the Mourne, which joins the Foyle. *Lakes are: Moor, Fea, Creevy, and other small ones; and there are mineral spas at Dunbunrover, Aghaloo, Scarsay. Climate, wet and changeable; soil, poor and moory in the hills, but fertile in the lower parts, along the Blackwater, etc., with good meadow land near Urney; acres in crop in '48, 249,513, of which the chief are, oats 147,648, potatoes 31,304, wheat 8748, turnips 11,689, barley and rye 5290, peas and beans 2063, flax 8905, meadow and clover 31,276, — and the val. of stock in '41, on 34,383 farms above one acre each, was 754,227*l.*, including 78,113 cattle (above 147,000 in '48, — small native and good english breeds), 24,385 sheep (small breed, — upwards of 41,000 in '48), 22,111 horses and asses, 31,080 pigs (good breed, — about 18,000 in '48), besides goats (about 5000 in '48), etc. Young cattle are reared in the hills, where the farms are large, and salt butter is sent to market; the smaller tillage farms are leased on the partnership system; some orchards about Strabane; many large estates; labour 5*d.* to 8*d.* a day, with diet; cottages of clay or stone, and turf the usual fuel. —— Druid stones are seen at Cloghtogle near Newtown Stewart, and another Cloghtogle near Tamlaght, — also at Loughry, Castlederg, Kilmeillie; kistvaens have been found at Cookstown, Errigal-Keroge, Omagh; and there are several raths about Mary Gray hill and elsewhere. Church ruins, etc. at Ardboe, Ardstraw, Cluin-Dhubhain, Donoughmore, Garvaghkerin, Grange, Puble; old castles at Benburb, Cast. Caulfield, Ballygawley, Dungannon, Strabane. Chief seats are: Earl Charlemont Roxboro', Marq. Abercorn Baron's Court, E. Castlestuart Stuart Ha., E. Registry districts of '45 (total pop. 409,138 + 6252) the 'births' were 13,811, of whom 6774 were females, 779 or 5·1 per cent. illegit.; 'deaths' 9275, or 1 in 44, — the all-England av. being 46; 'marriages' 3467 (at church 3210), of which 2670 persons or 38½ per cent. signed with marks.——A line from Rugby to Wellesbourne cuts off the lias on the SE., including Dunsmoor Heath and the ridge about Broom Hill (in S.), which rises 830 ft.; red marl and keuper sandstone are found between this line and the Avon, down the river to Warwick, and thence in the SW. corner, round Henley, Alcester, etc. (with lias close to Henley); new red sandstone prevails in the middle and to the N., — except on the NE. border from Willey, past Nuneaton, Bedworth, Atherstone, to Tamworth, where a field of coal, 16 m. by 3, lies among trap, slaty rocks, and lower red sandstone. Coal (in seams of 3 to 4 ft.), employing 784 hands, is worked at Bedworth, Chilvers Coton, Griff (with greenstone), Nuneaton, Oldbury (with ironstone), etc.; blue flagstone for mantel-pieces, steps, etc. is quarried at Bidford, Wilncote, Temple Grafton; gritstone or lias at Compton: marl (in W.), limestone, blue clay (in E.), are got in abundance. The hardware manufact. (5188 hands) carried on at Birmingham (see that), includes tools (1093), needles (730), pins (120), nails (516), screws (438), and an immense variety of small articles; other manufacts. are brass (3388), iron (542), founders (650), guns and pistols (2126), percussion caps (30), buttons (2913), engines (242), britannia and other plate (304), toys (938), trays (114), wire (381), steel pens (379), glass (1000), besides 1600 platers and burnishers. Needles are also made at Alcester, Ipsley, Lambourne, Studley. Ribbons (about 9300) and silk (3040) are manufact. at Coventry, Astley, Chilvers Coton, Foleshill, Nuneaton, Sow, etc.; clocks and watches (1184) at Coventry, etc.; hats at Atherstone, combs at Kenilworth: flax and yarn are spun at Tamworth, Berkeswell; a little worsted is spun at Warwick, and rushes are woven for mats. In '47, a bad year, 1301 and 101 hands were in the silk and cotton mills. The rivers Alne, Arrow, Stour, Dene, Leam, Watergall or Ichene, and Sow, run to the Avon (Antona Fluv.), which passes by Stratford — the birthplace of Shakspeare, Warwick, Rugby; the Rea, Bourne, Blythe, Colne, Anker, to the Tame, which flows by "Tamworth tower and town," the Marmions' seat; good mineral springs at Birmingham, Leamington, Newnham Regis, Southam, Stratford. Surface rises in gentle hills, and is for the most part well wooded, with old oaks, elms, etc. the remains of the 'Woodland' or Forest of Arden (N. and W. of the Avon, — the S. side was called the Feldon or Champaign) of which there are traces, though many parts of it are now bare heath; climate mild; soil, various but fertile, chiefly clay, — being a red sandy loam in E., good in the S., strong in W. and SW., and poor and whitish in the N.; chief crops are wheat (4 qrs. per acre), barley (4 to 5 qrs.), oats (3 to 8 qrs.), peas, beans (4 to 5 bush.), turnips, potatoes, rye, vetches, clover, flax; stock of polled Leicester and S. Down sheep 342,000, yielding 8600 wool-packs; long-horned and other cattle are grazed in the rich pastures on the Avon, and in E. and SE., — the cheese made being 2¾ cwt. per cow, yearly; estates are of all sizes; farms average 150 ac., and are held mostly from year to year; there are many old timbered farm buildings; wages 7 to 9*s.* on the average. The Fosseway goes by Stretton-on-the-Foss, Chesterton camp, Wolston camp, to High Cross (Venonæ), where it meets Watling St., which, coming from Daventry, passes Mancetter (Manduessedunum) near Oldbury camp, and Tamworth; Ryknield St. or 'Hayden Way' crosses the SW. corner, passes Alcester (Alauna) to the Upper Salt Way near Birmingham (towards Wall on Watling St.); earthworks are at Welcome, King's Standing, and Seckington, where Cuthred and Ethelbald fought 757. Some remains are left of: abbeys at Combe, Merevale, Stoneleigh; priories at Coventry, Kenilworth, Maxstoke; nunneries at Nuneaton and Polesworth; old churches at Badgley, Beaudesert, Bidford, Burton Dasset, Honingham, Kenilworth, Polesworth, Ryton, Shuttendon, Stretton, Wolston (all these have norman traces), Coventry (with a fine spire, besides an old hall, etc.), Coleshill (good dec. eng.), Balsall (the Templars'), Stratford, Warwick; castle ruins at Astley, Beauchamp (the Grevilles'), Brandon, Warwick, Kenilworth (where Eliz. visited Dudley in her progress 1575), Maxstoke, Tamworth. At Blacklow hill, Beauchamp beheaded Piers Gaveston 1311; Ch. I. was beaten at Edgehill 1642; there are fine prospects from Barford, Brailes, Corley (35 churches seen), Milverton, Packington, etc.; the Wedgnock oak is 18 yds. girth. M. Gneiss is the substratum throughout, except a little old red sandstone near Stornoway, and the coast is worn in innumerable lochs (or inlets), islands, and shoals, with lights at Scalpa and Barra Head; surface, all sand, bog, lake, rock, mud, moor, with several hills or mountains, as Suaneval 2700 ft., Barvas 780, in Lewis, — Clisseval 2700, in Harris, — Ben Croaghan 1500, in N. Uist, — Mt. Hecla 2940, in S. Uist, — Barra hill 2100, Mingala hill 900; no trees (though Harris has a deer 'forest') or roads are seen, but some of the hollows have rich pasture, and the light sandy soil is capable of improvement; about 80,000 ac. are arable, producing oats, barley or bere (for bread), potatoes. There is abundance of game; cod, ling, dog-fish, lobsters, etc. are caught; and traces of iron observed in Lewis, which now belongs to the Mathesons, who design many improvements. Some danish burgs or duns are left along the coast, and the names are a mixture of danish and gaelic; Johnson, in his 'Tour to the Hebrides' 1773, visited Macneil of Barra; the title 'Lord of the Isles' is held by Prince of Wales.

Length from Arnside Knot NE. to R. Tees, 40 m., greatest breadth 25, av. ditto 17; relative size 132-10,000ths; circuit 135 m., marked by ridges of fell on the York. side, and touching the sea below Milnthorpe in R. Kent's mouth. It contains 762 sq. m. or 487,680 acres (485,990 by total of pars.), of which about 180,000 (?) may be arable and pasture; 56,454 + 141 persons, of whom 10,225 are in Kirkby Lonsdale, 28,241 are females, 26,287 under 20 yrs. of age, 45,059 county-born,—7771, or 13·8 per cent., live by trade, manufact. etc., 6566, or 11·6 per cent., by agricult. (2478 being farmers and graziers), 613 educated professions, 2275 independent, 9581 labourers and servants, etc.; 10,849 houses, besides 914 empty and building; 4 wards, — East (NE.), Kendal (SW.), Lonsdale (S.), West (NW.), another, or Middle ward, having been divided between E. and W.; 31 parishes (Kby. Kendal the largest, — 68,360 ac.), with parts of 1 other; about 220 vils. hmlts. etc.; 10 mkt. towns, Appleby the capital, assize, and sess. town, Kendal sess. town, Ambleside, Kirkby Lonsdale, Kirkby Stephen, Shap, Brough, Burton-in-Kendal, Milnthorpe, Orton,—the first 4 being new county courts, — and Kendal, with E. Ward and W. Ward, poor-law Unions and sup. registry districts; returns three members to parl. (instead of 4 before the Reform act, which disfranchised Appleby), viz. 2 for county (elect. 4136), with Appleby for election, and the first 6 towns above for polling places,—1 for Kendal new boro' (el. 390); is governed by a lord lieut. and custos, hereditary high sheriff (in the Tufton family), 15 dep. lieuts., and about 105 magistrates,—is in the NE. military district, and Northern circuit,—and constitutes the deaneries of W. (as below) and Kendal, in dioceses of Carlisle and Chester (but both to be Carlisle hereafter), province of York. Real prop. (1815) 299,582*l.* — ('43) 334,501*l.*, of which 6134*l.* on mines, 363*l.* on quarries, 579*l.* on fisheries; ditto rentals 234,851*l.*, or 9*s.* 7½*d.* per acre (when wheat was 77*s.*), and 269,418*l.* or 11*s.* 0½*d.* per acre (wheat 53*s.*); county income ('48) 4547*l.*, of which 2277*l.* from co. rate (on a val. of 256,303*l.* made 1832), 951*l.* from the Treasury. Poor r. (yr. 1846-7) for 3 unions, 15,484*l.* on 260,816*l.*, or 1*s.* 2*d.* in the £ (wheat being 59*s.*),—cases relieved 4702 (out-door 3847), in estimated pop. of 57,339. Total charities 5438*l.*, of which 2250*l.* for schools and education (1616*l.* for gram. sch.); savings bks. ('49) 2, with 31,818*l.* from 1139 depositors; in yr. '38-9, 1025 m. of road (194 being turnpike) were maintained for 3437*l.* In '46-7, out of 77 pars. etc. 74 had 149 church schools, supported by 7067*l.*, with 6726 child. attending, and 143 paid teachers (3 being monitors) whose salaries were 5132*l.* and who had 48 teachers' houses: out of these 8 were free schools, and 59 sund. sch. (exclusively,—with 337 teachers, and 2434 child.),—and 13 in union with the National Soc. had 867 child. and total grants since 1811 of 676*l.* Offenders in '48, 47 (or 45 av. of 5 yrs.), of whom 41 were convicted, 6 were females, 2 under 15 yrs. of age, 9 could not read or write. Following the sup. registry districts of '45 (total pop. 56,454 + 141), the 'births' were 1748, of whom 860 were females, 179 or 9·3 per cent. illegit.; 'deaths' 1157, or 1 in 51,—the all-England av. being 46; 'marriages' 448 (at church 429), of which 237 persons, or 26½ per cent., signed with marks.——A range of carboniferous limestone fells (part of the ridge from York. to Northmbrld.) borders all the E. and SE. side, under the names of Ravenstonedale fells near R. Eden's head (2188 ft. high at the Calf), Harter and Wildboar fells, Lady's Pillar, Nine Standards (2136 ft.) near Stainmoor forest, also Dufton, Marten, Halton, and Warsop fells in Milbourne forest; it appears again W. of the Eden, bounded by a line from Kby. Stephen, up to Morland and Penrith, thence down to Shap and Langdale, — also, in the S., from Middleton down the Lune, and from Kendal down the Kent; above this, still towards the S., upper silurian rocks prevail (except two patches of old red sandstone near Kby. Lonsdale and Kendal) to a line from Orton to Ambleside: the rest, on the NW., belongs to the cumbrian system of mica and chlorite rocks, traversed by trap or whinstone, and granite here and there. The valley of the Eden on the NE. is occupied by new, or lower red sandstone, within or N. of the line from Penrith to Morland, Kby. Stephen, round to Brough, and the limestone fells above mentioned; millstone grit shows itself between Shap and Morland, and a further strip of it runs from Lowther down to Tebay. The surface is all moors and fells, i. e. commons and mountains, with deep valleys between, watered by numberless becks and streams. Among the highest hills, which are mostly rugged and irregular in their outline, are: in the S.,—Whitbarrow (limestone), Farlton Knot, Lord's Seat 1728 ft., Middleton and Potter fells, Benson Knot 1098; in the W. among the slate and granite,—Wansfell Pike 1590 ft., High Street fell 2700 (being a ridge with an old road along it, 2486 ft. in another part), Crag Quarter, Fair Field 2950, Rydal Head 3090 (?), Loughrigg fell 1050, with others on the Cumbrld. border, viz. Wrynose (at R. Dudden's head), Bowfell 2911, Langdale Pikes 2400, and Helvellyn (near Dunmail Raise pass) 3055; in the Middle,—Wastdale Crag (the highest of the Shap fells) 1500, Harrop Pike at head of Rs. Lune and Lowther; SE. and E.,—Ravenstonedale and other fells, as above.

Cross fell, over the Cumbrld. border, where the Helm wind blows, is 2901 ft. Gypsum is quarried at Acornbank; grey or greenish lime, or marble, bearing a good polish, near Ambleside, Kby. Lonsdale, Kendal (which has marble works); plenty of good roofing slate (with fossils in it) at Kentmere, Ambleside (pale blue under the limestone), Thrang Crag, Whitemoss, etc.; pink and bluish granite in Wastdale Crags, besides many single blocks, along with ragstone, and coarse 'galliard' slate, dispersed about in all parts. Lead (199 hands) is worked at Dunfell or Dunall, and at Eagle Craig, Greenside, Glenriddling, and Staveley, in Patterdale; copper near Ashby, Kby. Stephen, Orton, Raine, Shap; poor coal (57) on Stainmoor, and near Mallerstang and Casterton. They make and dye cottons, i. e. woollen coatings (about 1000 hands), linen, flax, linsey (391), carpets (87), at Kendal, the old seat of the 'Kendal green' or buckram, brought over by the Flemings 1337; worsted (108) and woollen at Kirkland, Melthorpe, etc.; waistcoatings, hosiery, sacking, canvas, bobbin-net, etc. at these and other places; paper at Milnthorpe. In '47, a bad year, 486 and 501 hands were in the woollen and flax mills. Windermere (and its 18 islds.) 11½ m. long, and Ulleswater 8 m. long, are the largest and most magnificent of the lakes; the rest, called meres, tarns, etc., are small, as Aiswater, Angletarn, Broadwater, Grasmere, Grisdaletarn, Elterwater, Hawsewater, Kentmere, Redtarn, Rydalwater (and its pretty falls), Skeggleswater, Whinfelltarn, etc.: trout (some 30 lbs. weight), pike, perch, tench, roach, char, eels, leeches, wild-fowl, are found. Mineral waters at Shap wells, Clifton, Roundthwaite. The ridge between Fair Field and Shap fells divides the streams which run N. thro' several dales to Ulleswater and the Lowther, from those which run S., as the Troutbeck, Brathay (with char), Rothay (trout), etc. to Windermere,—the Thornthwaite, Sprint (with Gillforth spout or fall of 300 ft.), etc. to the Kent (which receives also the Mint, Underbarrow, Beetham and its fall), — the Borrowdale beck, etc. to the Lune: the Lyvennet runs to the Eden. Oak, ash, alder, holly, birch, hazel, larch, are seen at Rydal, Whinfell, Milbourne, etc. being remains of the old forests which once covered all the hills, but are now turned into bog or peat; at Lowther and other seats, large plantations have been made. Climate healthy, but wet and stormy,—3-5ths of the year being wet, with upwards of 60 inches rain; several of the valleys are fertile, with a gravelly mould and good pasture, kept green by the perpetual moisture; oats (for 'haver' or unleavened cakes), barley or bere, wheat, turnips, potatoes (near Kendal), clover, are grown; draining is more practised, and lime abounds for manure (though little worked for want of coal); rough long-horned cattle, and the hardy native dark-faced mountain sheep, are fed on the hills; Scotch and Durham short-horn cattle are also kept, with a white-faced Silverdale breed of sheep, of a finer wool; many goats were bred, as they do in Wales now; small good hams, sometimes sold as York hams, are cured with wood smoke; many farms from 10 to 300 ac. are held as freeholds or copyholds (subject to fines) by the small 'statesmen (estatesmen), who still live in a simple way; most of the fences are stone; wooden-soled shoes are worn. The Watling St. 6 yds. wide, and made of 3 layers of stone, or of gravel, comes in over Stainmoor, and passes Rerecross and Maiden Castle camps, Brough (Verteræ), Sandford tumuli, Crackenthorpe camp (near Appleby), Kirbythore (Brovonacæ, or Whelp Cast., where Maiden way, 7 yds. wide, turns off to Caervorran on the Wall), Brougham (Brocavum), Mayboro' camp, on to Carlisle; another way from Lancaster passes Castlesteads, Watercrook, and Coneybeds camps (near Natland), Kendal (Galacum), Ambleside (Alone), and Burran's Ring camp, over the High Street ridge, on by Coddle camp, to Brougham. Castlehows roman camp is in Borrow-Bury-dale, by which probably a cross road went from Kendal to Kirbythore; Haberwain camp is near Crosby Ravensworth; Green and Pendragon castles near Milbourne. Tumuli are left at Gamelands, Penhurrock, Sandford, Dummel Raise, etc.; druid stones at Oddendale, Gunnerkeld, Helton, Lowther, Ellerbeck, Moordurrock; danish pillars at Carl Lofts; a tilting place at Arthur's Round Table; abbey ruins at Shap; old churches at Askham, Kirbythore; old castles and towers at Appleby (once the Cliffords'), Brougham, Hackthorpe, Buley (the Builleys'), Selside and Whitwell (the Thornhughs'), Kentmere (Gilpins'), Beetham, Yewbarrow, Brough, Lamerside, Cliburn, Kendal, Preston, Rossgill, Yanworth, etc.,—many of them now farms, having been fortified for security, as were the churches. Card. Bainbridge was born at Burton, Bernard Gilpin at Kentmere, Bp. Gibson at Knype, the Langhornes at Winton; at Clifton Moor the skirmish took place with the Pretender 1745; Pates Hole is a large cave; Stankrethbridge on the Eden has a fine view; others are had at Kirkstone toll (the highest inhabited house in England) at the head of Patterdale, also (of Windermere) at Low Wood Inn and Ambleside,—which is the tourist's head quarters, whence Stockgill force (fall of 150 ft.), Loughrigg fell, Rydal, Grasmere, the Langdales, etc. are visited. Chief seats are: Earl Lonsdale Lowther Cast. and Wharton, Lord Brougham and Vaux Brougham Cast., Musgrave Bt. Hartley Cast., Le Fleming Bt. Rydal Ha., Tufton Knt. Appleby Cast., Hutton of Beetham, Watson of Calgarth, Wybergh of Clifton, Wilson of Casterton, Yeates of Collenfield (old), Curwen of Curwen's Isld., Wilson of Dallam, Hornby of Dalton, Moore of Grimes Hill, Howard of Levins Pk., Askew of Middleton (old), Crackenthorpe of Newbiggen, Burn of Orton, Marshall M. P. of Patterdale (where the Mounseys 'kings of Patterdale' lived), Fleming of Rayrigg (like Ferney at Geneva), Wilson of Rigmaiden, Strickland of Sizerph, Shepherd of Shaw End, Sanderson of Stockbridge (old), Bolton of Storrs, Atkinson of Temple Sowerby, Bateman of Tolson, Greene M. P. of Whittington, Prof. Wilson ('Christopher North') of Elleray, etc. Gives title of earl to the Fanes. Roads from Kendal: (1) Staveley 4 m., Elleray on Windermere 8, Ambleside 12, Rydal water 14, Helvellyn 20, Keswick 27; or by Ambleside to Brother water 18, Patterdale and Ulleswater 21, on to Penrith 33. (2) Forest Hall under Whinfell 6, Shap Fells 11, Shap 15, Lowther Cast. 21, Brougham 23, Penrith 24. (3) Shaw End 4, Tebay and fells 11, Orton 13, Hoffland 19, Appleby 21, down the Eden to Temp. Sowerby 27; or by Tebay to Ravenstonedale 17, Wharton 20, Kirkby Stephen 22, Brough 26, over Stanemoor to Barnard Castle 44. (4) Under Benson Knot to Sedburgh 10, Dent 15. (5) Old Hutton 4, K. Schools (national) in '48, 91, with 12,159 child. attending, — in 1841, 16,370 went to schools of all kinds, and 42 per cent. of the pop. could not read or write; av. number of committals ('45-8) 423, of whom 236 were convicted.——Clay-slate prevails almost everywhere, rising towards the granite ridge on the NW. border, where Mt. Leinster is 2610 ft. high, Blackstairs 2409, White Mountn. 1627, Kilkevin hill 1063; Connakill and Slievebuy (clay-slate) near the Wicklow border, and Croghan upon it, are 1491, 1384, and 1985 ft.; Carrickbyrne and Camorus hills (granite) in the S. are 767 and 598; Slievekielter and Lacken hill near the barrow, are 887 and 628; Forth hills (slaty quartz, with traces of copper, iron, lead), near Wicklow, are 774 at the highest; Tara hill (porphyry) near Gorey is 826. A little granite is also found round Ladyisland lough near Carnsore pt., round Ballyteigue lough (along with sandstone and mountain limestone), and on Hook peninsula. Other patches of limestone are near Wexford, etc.; lead is worked at Cairne (127 hands); galena, with silver, has been found at Bannow, and Clonmines; copper at Kerlogue, plumbago at Greenfield; slate, granite, and freestone are quarried near Newtonbarry, Bloomfield, etc.; and they get stone and black clay near Enniscorthy. Bones of the large moose deer are met with in the marl beds on E. and S. Malt is made at Wexford; coarse woollens, linens, checks, etc., and straw plat, by the people of Bargy and Forth baronies, — a peaceable, industrious race, speaking a mixture of broken Welsh and Somersetshire, and descended from the settlers (including the Flemish colonists), who came over from both sides of the Bristol Channel under their Norman leaders. The rivers Bann or Banna, Urren, Blackwater, Boro, etc. run to the Slaney (anct. Modonus), which is well wooded about the Glynus, and other fine spots; the Banoge runs to the Owenavorragh, which goes down to Courtown; the Owenduff and Courg flow to Bannow bay; there is fine scenery on the Barrow near New Ross, where they catch salmon in little cots or canoes. Climate mild, and suitable for grain, especially in the S.; soil clayey and tolerably fertile, — the best being on the coast sides, where it is manured with sea-weed, lime, etc.;

acres in crop in '47, 286,725, of which the chief are, oats 87,804, wheat 39,901, barley and rye 81,252, potatoes 29,384, turnips 8673, peas and beans (in S.) 5590, meadow and clover 41,740, etc., — and the val. of stock in '41, on 18,428 farms above one acre each, was 766,300*l.*, including 31,113 horses, asses, and mules, 56,467 cattle (above 79,000 in '47), 66,555 sheep (a large, rough, wild breed), 73,308 pigs (about 41,000 in '47), besides goats (about 6400 in '47), and poultry, for which (as chickens, turkeys, etc.) this part is noted; butter is sent to mkt. from many dairies, which are tolerably well managed, — and the system of husbandry is improving; pigeons, rabbits (in the sandy warrens), and bees are kept; estates are of moderate size; rents are high, but well paid, and the farms better cultivated than elsewhere; pretty gardens and hedge-rows, and decent cottages are seen. —— Danish raths are left at Moatabeg, Donamore, Ballytrent, Dunbrody, Great Isld., New Ross; abbey and church ruins at Enniscorthy, Wexford, Selsker (i. e. St. Sepulchre), St. John's, Ferns (anct. Menapia, and seat of the Leinster kings, whither M'Murrogh brought O'Rourke's wife, — which led to the conquest of Ireland), Dunbrody, Ross, Clonmines, Tintern, Carnsore, Clonmore, Glascarrig, Clonatin, Bannow, Kilmashall, with Ballyhack and Kilcloghan preceptories. In Bargy and Forth baronies, where the first invaders had to keep their ground, there are about 120 old castles (Forth alone has 57, with 55 churches, etc. attached), usually made up of a court, with a tower at one corner; among which are, White Cast., Carrig (on site of the oldest of all), Barntown, Ferns, Enniscorthy (the Graces'), Mackmine, Black Cast., Cuislan-na-Blaie or Buttermilk, Killesk, with Knockagh and Kilhill (the Montmorencys'), Ballykeroge (the Suttons', making with others the 'Seven Castles of Clonmines'), Stokestown, Alderton, Priest's Haggard, Gt. WIGHT, ISLE OF (10) a div. of S. Hants. from which it is cut off by the Solent, was the Vectis of the Romans, who took it under Vespasian A. D. 43, and Wect or Wiht of the Saxons; was first planted with Jutes by Cerdic 530; taken by Wulphere of Mercia 661, and by Ceadwalla of Wessex 686, from Edelwarch of South-Sex; ravaged by the Danes 787, 897, and 1001, — by Earl Goodwin (1052) in the Confessor's time, and Earl Tosti 1066; given by the Conqueror to his kinsman Fitz-Osborne, — by Hen. I. to Rich. de Rivers earl of Devon, from whom it came to Will de Vernon 1184, Isabella de Fortibus (who gave it up to Edw. I. 1293), and to Piers Gaveston; ravaged by the French 1377 and 1418; granted by Rich. II. to Will. Montacute and the Duke of York, — by Hen. VI. to good Duke Humphrey, to Hen. Beauchamp 1445 (with the title of 'king'), and Edmd. duke of Somerset, — by Edw. IV. to the Widviles, with the title of captain, and thenceforth held by a governor under the Crown; was attacked by the French 1546, taken by parl., and held by Col. Hammond when Ch. I. was seized here 1648. Length from the Needles E. to the Foreland 22¼ m., greatest breadth 13, av. ditto 6½; relative size (to Hants.) about 1-12th; circuit 56 of coast (the N. and S. sides being equal, and the S. side rocky), along which are Cowes yacht station at the Medina's mouth, Wootton creek opposite the Motherbank, Ryde bathing place, St. Helen's opposite Spithead, Brading harb. (800 acres) with the Yarboro' pillar, Bembridge Foreland (with the Nab light and Warner shoal off it), Culver cliff 400 ft. high (off which is Princessa shoal), Sandown bay, Shanklin chine (a wooded gap 120 ft. deep), Luccombe chine (cliff, 200 ft.), Dunnose point (chalk) at the beginning of Undercliff, Ventnor bath. place, St. Catherine's point and light, Black Gang chine (a high naked spot where the 'Clarendon' was wrecked 1836), also Walpana, Cowleaze, Barnes, Grange or Brixton, Chilton, and Brooke chines in Chale and Brixton bays, — Compton bay, Freshwater cave 120 ft. deep, Scratchell's bay with cliffs 600 ft. high, Needles light and rocks (one of which was a sharp rock, 120 ft. high) with the Dolphin and Shingles banks beyond, Alum bay with its party-coloured sides 300 ft. high, Tolland and Colwell bays, Yarmouth opposite Hurst Cast. (the channel only 1 m. broad), Newtown and creek, Thorness and Gurnard bays. It contains 86,810 acres, or about 136 sq. m.; 42,550 + 719 persons, of whom 21,806 are in Ryde, Carisbrooke (the old capital), Cowes, Newport, Brading boro', — 22,186 are females, 20,087 under 20 yrs. of age, 37,080 county-born; 2 liberties, E. and W. Medina; 30 parishes, — the largest being Carisbrooke and Newchurch (which stretches across the island, and includes both Ryde and Ventnor); 1 market town and boro', and poor l. Union, Newport the capital, — for which it returns one member (elect. 663), besides one for the island (el. 1167, the polling places being Ryde, Cowes) since the Reform bill, which disfranchised Newtown and Yarmo'; and constitutes a deanery (as below), in dioc. of Winton, province of Canterbury. —— A ridge of chalk, commanding the best prospects, runs through from Needles Down (500 ft. high) past the Downs called Afton (500 ft.), Shalcombe, Motteston (698), Brixton, Calbourne, Chillerton, Bowcombe, Arreton, Ashey (sea-mark), Brading, to Bembridge or Culver cliff. To the N. lie the plastic clay sands, beds of shelly marl, and the clays, etc. of the 'I. of Wight deposit,' which is found on the Hants. side, and round London; and to the S. the upper and lower greensand strata prevail, — crossed by the Weald clay (with saurian bones, cyprides and cyclades shells in it) from Brixton, by Kingston, Godshill, etc., to Sandown, and pierced by the chalk, which rises 700 ft. (?) at Shanklin Down, and 830 ft. at St. Catherine's, near the old chapel ruin. At this part, the 'Back of the Island,' the springs acting on the soft marl beneath have undermined the sandstones and chalk of the cliffs above, and occasioned repeated landslips (some as late as 1799, 1818, and '20, etc.) which have made a beautiful and irregular terrace, called Undercliff, 7 m. by ¼ to 1, from Bonchurch, past Ventnor, to Black Gang Chine, where myrtles, hydrangeas, geraniums, etc. grow to a large size, in a climate softer than any in England. Various coloured ochres, clay, marl, sand, mix in the striped cliffs of Alum bay, — lignite or wood coal also is found here (with alum), and under Bembridge cliffs, — and here, too, and at Headon Hill, are beds 30 to 50 ft. thick of fine white shelless sand, used in the glass-works; fullers' earth, pipe-clay, copperas stones occur; and salt is made at Newtown, Yarmo', etc. Rivers are: the Medina, Wootton, Yar, Newtown, E. Yar or Brading; iron springs at Black Gang, Shanklin, etc., where they are seen trickling over the rusty earth. Samphire grows in the cliffs, in which many sea-birds breed; lobsters, crabs, cockles (at Ryde, etc.), and large shrimps or prawns are caught in Alum bay; small shells are picked up at Shanklin beach, which here and at Ventnor, etc. consists of minute pebbles, growing larger W.-ward. —— The climate is healthy, tho' somewhat rainy on the Downs, and the surface is a delightful succession of hill and dale and sea-views, changing at every turn; soil a strong fertile loam, — the chief produce being wheat (18 to 21 bush. per acre), barley and oats (30 bush.), peas (28 bush.), potatoes (60 to 80 sacks), turnips, and green crops; about 50,000 fine-woolled Dorset. and Leicest. sheep are fed on the Downs, etc.; Devon and Alderney cows pastured in the meadows at Brading and elsewhere; early lambs are sent to London, and the calves to Portsmo', etc. to fatten; good butter and hard skim-milk cheese are made; the horses are large, and there is a good breed of blackish spotted swine; pheasants, etc. are preserved; oak (chiefly), elm, etc. are grown at Swainston, Wootton, Parkhurst, Quarr, and other woods on the N. side. Land is mostly copyhold, and farms go from 100*l.* to 500*l.* rent. Foxes are brought over for hunting; cracknell biscuits are made at Cowes, bobbin-net at Newport. Some remains of an abbey are left at Quarr, — a cell at Barton, — and part of a priory near Carisbrooke old castle, old churches at Brading (the oldest, with 'Little Jane's' grave, and L. Richmond's parsonage), Shalfleet (norman), Godshill, Yaverland, and St. Lawrence, which was but 25 ft. long, now 40 (and 11 broad); barrows at Ashey Down and Arreton, where the 'Dairyman's Daughter' died. Sir J. Cheke, tutor to Edw. VI., was born at Mottiston, Hooke the philosopher at Freshwater, Admi. Hobson at Bonchurch. The roads or lanes are in general narrow, winding, and hilly; and some of the best views are had from Mottiston, Ashey, and Catherine Downs, Marwell copse near Gatcombe, Mountjoy hill near Newport, — near which also are the Parkhurst prison for boys, Albany barracks for recruits, and the house of industry or P. L. Union for the island. Poor r. (yr. 1846-7) for 17 unions 141,133*l.* on 1,243,902*l.*, or 2*s.* 3*d.* in the £ (wheat being 59*s.*), — cases relieved 41,584 (out-door 35,362) in estimated pop. of 244,069. Total charities 16,663*l.*, of which 2225*l.* for schools and education; savings bks. ('49) 11, with 434,429*l.* from 12,522 depositors; in yr. '38-9, 2881 m. of road (591 being turnpike) were maintained for 19,779*l.* In '46-7, out of 331 pars. etc. 321 had 505 church schools, supported by 15,181*l.* with 28,434 child. attending, and 532 paid teachers (19 being monitors) whose salaries were 11,631*l.*, and who had 194 teachers' houses: out of these 9 were free schools, and 93 sund. sch. (exclusively — with 891 teachers and 10,834 child.),—and 204 in union with the National Soc. had 16,429 child. and total grants since 1811 of 4909*l.* Offenders in '48, 465 (or 443 av. of 5 yrs.), of whom 359 were convicted, 59 were females, 15 under 15 yrs. of age, 104 could not read or write. Following the sup. registry districts of '45 (total pop. 242,772 + 1852), the 'births' were 7062, of whom 3366 were females, 521 or 73 per cent. illegit.; 'deaths' 4729 or 1 in 50, — the all-England av. being 46; 'marriages' 1754 (at church 1560) of which 1685 persons, or 48 per cent., signed with marks. —— N. Wilts. and S. Wilts. (500,000 ac.) are divided by the vale of Pewsey, and an irregular line, marked throughout by downs, from Bishopstone (E. of Swindon), by or near to Calne, Devizes, Tottenham, Pewsey Hill, Mkt. Lavington, Westbury, Warminster, Heytesbury, Mere, Hindon, Wilton, and Tollard Royal, and separating the chalk of the Marlborough Downs and Salisbury Plain, etc. on the E. and S. from the greensand, coral rag, Oxford clay, and oolite, which prevail N., W., and SW.; part of the SE. corner belongs to the London clay deposit. Westbury Down is 775 ft., Alfred's Tower near Stonehead (on Somerset. side) 800, Clay Hill near Warminster 900, Wingreen near Tollard Royal 941 (?); Walbury Beacon (on the Hants. side) the highest of the chalk in Engld. rises 1011 ft. Salisbury Plain, about 500 ft. above sea level, (Beacon Hill near Amesbury is 600), is not quite flat, but rather wavy, rising and falling in gentle swells; is destitute of houses or trees, with scarcely any roads but foot tracks; feeds vast flocks of sheep upon the sweet grasses which spring up; and abounds with many camps, barrows, and other antiquities, including Stonehenge, Avebury, Silbury Hill, etc. Marlboro' Downs are of the same character, but more hilly, with several stones called 'grey wethers' lying about. Bath stone with fossils in it is quarried at Box (where the great tunnel was cut), Swindon, Grittleton, Chilmark, Tisbury, etc.; good lime at Silbury Hill; sandstone fit for fences, pavements, etc. in the N., with blue clay; chalk and flint in the Downs. The Rs. Nadder and Deverill run to the Willey, and the Bourne to the 'upper' Avon, which flows by Salisbury; the 'lower' Avon in the NW. goes by Malmesbury and Bradford towards Bath; the Kennet, by Marlboro', towards Hungerford; and the Thames rises on the Glouc. border. Melksham, Middle Hill (near Box), Chippenham, have good spas; and Bradon Pond is the largest lake. Broad cloths, narrow woollens, cassimeres, kerseynets, blankets, etc. (about 5800 hands) are made at Bradford, Trowbridge, Chippenham, Melksham, Heytesbury, Calne, Wilton (also carpets), Frome, Warminster (a little hair cloth), Beckington, Bromham, Ditton Marsh, etc.; good cutlery at Salisbury, with some silk there and at Devizes (335); dowlas at Mere, cotton (154) at Albourn, gloves at Swindon: flax is spun, lace employs 248 hands, and Wiltshire and Kennet ales are brewed. Savernake forest (the only one left of 8) is still wooded, and stocked with deer; there are some remains of Albourn Chase on Marlboro' Downs, and those of Cranborne and Vernditch on the Dorset. border. Climate bleak, but healthy. Soil of N. Wilts., W. of Marlboro' Downs, a red clayey and chalky loam, or 'stone brash,' on clay, or 'corn-grate,' stone; it is flat and well wooded (but less than formerly), with good pasture on the Thames and Avon from Chippenham to Trowbridge, where they make the 'thin,' 'broad-thick,' and 'loaf' Wiltshire cheeses, which used to be sold as single and double 'Gloster,' — each cow producing 3 to 4½ cwt. per season; long-horned cattle are fattened, and calves bred for veal; good Wilts. bacon is cured, the pigs being the old Wilts. large white long-eared breed, and a smaller crossed with chinese, etc.; wheat (20 to 28 bush. per acre), barley (on the chalk — 40 bush.), turnips, potatoes (in the sandy tracts), clover, sainfoin, rape (on the Downs), etc. are raised, with vegetables near the large towns. S. Wilts. is devoted to grazing about 600,000 sheep (out of 700,000, yielding 8650 packs), chiefly S. Downs crossed with the Leicester and Cotswold breeds, with fleeces of 3 to 4 lbs.; a chalky or flinty loam is found round the hills, with black earth by the rivers, and several gravel or sandy strips; there are about 20,000 ac. of good water meadows, especially at Orcheston; early lambs are sent to mkt., and butter is made on the Dorset. border. Estates and farms are of all sizes (arable 800 to 5000 ac. — sheep farms 2000), and the latter usually let for 7 to 14 and 21 yrs. lease; wages 6*s.* to 8*s.* per week. Several roman ways go from Old Sarum (Sorbiodunum), as the Icknield St. towards Dorchester, passing Grimsdyke or Grim's Ditch, which runs along the Downs from Whichbury to Cranborne Chase; one past Hanging Langford, Monkton Deverill, etc. towards Wells; another over Salisbury Plain, towards Bath; another towards Winchester; the Portway towards Silchester, with a branch off it towards Ludgershall and Tidcombe, on to Speen in Berks. From this last a way goes by Littlecote, Mildenhall (Cunetio), Silbury Hill, Sandy Lane (near Heddington) or Verlucio, on to Bath; and Ryknield St. also goes from it over the NE. corner past Baydon, Wanboro', Stratton, Cricklade, towards Cirster, — between which and Bath, part of the Fosseway crosses the NW. corner. Part of Ridgeway runs on the hills by Mkt. Lavington; nearly 20 m. of Wansdyke or Woden's dyke remain on the Downs from Heddington round to Manton. Pavements have been found at Pitmead, Cheney Court, Littlecote, Bishopstone; druid circles are left at Avebury or Abury, Stonehenge, and Swindon; cromlechs at Bulford, Littleton-Drew, Clatford, Monkton Fields; Silbury Hill is the largest tumulus in the kingdom. On Salisbury Plain and the Downs of S. Wilts. in particular, stand a great many remains of barrows (where bones, urns, etc. have been found), and camps of all shapes, — round, oval, square, etc. according to the nature of the ground, and showing signs that they were occupied and altered by the Britons, Romans, Saxons, and Danes in succession. Among them are: Old Sarum (roman), Chlorus's (rom.), Clearbury, Whichbury, on Grimsditch; Soldier's Ring, Winklebury, Whitesheet Hills, barrows and ditches; Chiselbury, Broad Chalk camp (rom.) and barrow, Castle Ring, Wickball, Stockton Works, Whitesheet Castle (near Mere), Pen Pits Holes, Bidcombe, Roddenbury, Hays Castle, Southley Wood, Clay Hills, Cophead Hill, Battlesbury, King Barrow (largest of barrows), Cotley Hill, Scratchbury, Whitenhill, Knook Castle, Bowls Barrow, Golden Barrow, Ogbury, Yarnbury, Bilbury, Hanging Langford, Grovely Wood castle and ditch (near E. Castle, Hamshill ditches), Heale Hill, Ogbury (near Durnford), Lake House tumuli, Vespasian's camp (british) near the Cursus and Stonehenge, Elbarrow, Casterley, Chidbury, W. Down Hill, Wick Down, Haydon Hill, Godsbury, Milton Hill, Combhill, Lidbury, Chisenbury, Marden, Bagdon Hill, Bratten (and the horse), Oldbury, Bury Wood, Ebdown, Lackington, Cams Hill, Blunsdon Castle, Liddington, Barbury, Folly Farm (rom.), Martinhall Hill, Castle Hill (near Gt. Bedwin), Chisbury. Abbey and other ruins, at Laycock ab., Bradenstoke and Monk. Farleigh priories, Kingswood nunnery; old churches at Sarum (cath.), Anstey, Bps. Cannings, Gt. Bedwin, Chippenham, Durnford, Castlecombe, Draycote, Kingston St. Michael (and priory), Malmesbury (ab. church and cross), Steeple Ashton, Tisbury; old castles at Wardour, etc. Addison was born at Milston, Jos. Alleyne at Devizes, Clarendon at Dinton, Hobbes at Malmesbury, P. Massinger at Wilton, Gen. Ludlow at Hill Deverill, Bp. Tanner at Mkt. Lavington, Wren at E. Knoyle, Harris author of 'Hermes' at Salisbury; G. Herbert lived at Bemerton; at Eddington Alfred defeated Guthrum the Dane, and Ironside beat Canute at Sherston; Ramsbury, Wilton, Old Sarum, were seats of the diocese; at Clarendon the 'Constitutions' were passed which led to à Becket's rebellion; Marlboro' has a college for clergymen's sons, Wilton a noted sheep fair. Itchen, was the british Caer Gwent, i. e. white city (mistaken for another Caer Gwent in Wales,—whence the story of Arthur and his round table took root here), the chief place of the Belgæ, which was taken by Ostorius Scapula and called Venta Belgarum; became the seat of Vortigern and other british kings, and of the W. Saxons, after Cerdic (who was buried here) took and called it Wintanceaster 516; made the head of a see by K. Kenewalch 660; the place where Egbert was crowned king of all Angle-land or England 827; assaulted 862 by the Danes, who took it 871-3; made a mint town by Athelstan, and the deposit of the standard "Winchester bushel" as fixed by Edgar; ravaged 1013 by Sweyne the Dane for the 'Hocktide massacre' of his countrymen 1002 (3rd Mond. after Easter); was the seat of Canute, and the Confessor (crowned here 1042), who kept the great seal here, and whose mother Emma passed the ordeal of red-hot ploughshares here 1044; had a castle b. by the Conqueror (who confined Archbp. Stigand in it), whose kinsman Walkelin reb. the cathedral, and whose son W. Rufus was brought here in a cart after his death in the New Forest 1100,—in which year Hen. I. married Matilda here, made it his chief seat, and contributed much to its prosperity; was taken and retaken 1141 in the contest between Stephen and Maud, when "20 churches" (of wood) were burnt; first chartered 1184 by Hen. II., who was crowned here 1172, as was his son Cœur-de-Lion 1189 and 94 (after his captivity); was seat of John, who held a parl. 1207, and whose son 'Henry of W.' (born 1207) when Hen. III. kept his court here 1215, '39, '49, '65 (a parl.), '67-8, and '70 (a parl.); visited by Edw. I. 1276, '79, '85 (a parl. which passed "statutes of W."), and 1306 with Q. Margaret; visited 1308 by Edw. II. (a parl.), whose queen held a parl. 1329, which condemned the Earl of Kent; was made the staple of wool by Edw. III. (who held a parl. 1354), but decayed upon its removal to Calais; visited 1388 by Rich. II. who held a parl. 1392,—by Hen. IV. who married Joan of Navarre 1402, and held parls. 1403 and '5,—by Hen. VI. 1440, '44, and '49 (a parl.),—by Ch. V. 1523, and Hen. VIII. (whose brother Arthur was born here 1486, and called after the King of the Round Table); was the place where Mary married Philip of Spain 1554, and Raleigh was tried 1603; was taken by Waller 1642, retaken 1643 by Ogle, taken by Waller again with much damage to the cathedral, and finally captured by Cromwell 1645, when many churches, Wolvesey Cast., and the city walls were ruined; ravaged by the plague 1666 (and also 941 and 1348); and was frequently visited by Ch. II. 1682, etc., who began a large palace by Wren, now King's House barrack;—returns two members to parl. (since Edw. I.), the new Reform bill bounds including 5 city and 6 soke pars. as below (with Milland, Sparkford, and 8 extr. par. spots, as the Close, College, St. Cross hosp., etc.), and parts of Week and Winnall,—no. of electors 710 (of 10*l.* houses 1969); was chartered as above, and under the late act is divided into 3 wards, governed by a mayor (who is returning officer), 6 ald., 18 council., with the style of "may., bailiffs, and commonalty of city of W." and revenue of 2613*l.* Acres of new boro' 2250 (or 715?),—of old 692, chalky; pop. 10,732 +197, in a general (formerly the woollen) trade. Houses 1671, in regular streets, and some ancient, with the cathedral and college (as below), 11 churches (they say it had '90' at one time), 5 chapels, benedictine nunnery; county hall (close to the Conqueror's gate), once the castle chapel, 110 ft. long, with 'Arthur's Round Table,' 18 ft. diam., as old as K. Stephen's time, and having portraits of the hero, and his 24 knights,—guildhall, reb. 1713 on site of older ones (as far back as 1112), having a figure of Q. Anne, the old 'Winchester bushel,' Hen. The 'Sovereign of the Seas,' of 1637 tons, was launched here —; she was a 3-decker of 167 guns, 128 ft. by 48, carrying 11 anchors (one 4400 lbs.), and 5 lanterns (one held 5 persons upright in it); many of the vessels which went out with Drake, Hawkins, Cavendish, etc., were built here, as well as the 'Worcester,' which Cromwell launched after his "crowning mercy" in the battle of 1651,—and the 'Royal George.' The Arsenal, on site of a rabbit warren, covers 142 acres (mostly in Plumstead par.), and has: the foundry b. 1719 by Vanbrugh, where brass and other cannon, 2 to 90 cwt., are cast, in 4 furnaces (one will melt 325 cwt.); laboratory for making ammunition, etc., where the elder cadets practise for a time; boring house, Napier's machine for compressed balls; model room or museum (the old academy); percussion cap, rocket, and gun carriage factories; stores for navy, horse artillery, sappers and miners, etc., in a large range of buildings with wings, in front of which are 24,000 to 28,000 guns (chiefly iron), and 4 million shells and shot in heaps; butt for proving cannon, practice range of 3 m., powder magazine, etc. The new Marine barracks, by Grissell and Peto, are — ft. by —, with a massive gate. Sappers' and miners' barracks for 300, have a library, museum, depôt of field artillery, — and the ordnance hosp. is near it. On W. Common, a healthy open spot of — acres, reaching to Shooter's Hill, are the Artillery Barracks for 3000 to 4000 men, on a site of 50 acres, or about 1200 ft. by 870; the front is a noble range of brick in six parts, and has a doric centre of Portland stone, chapel, mess-room (66 ft. by 50), where Will. IV. and Q. Adelaide were received 1830, guard-room, library, etc.; behind, are the riding school (100 ft. by 60), non-commissioned officers' lib., 3 racket courts for officers and men, stabling for 1000 horses, &c.,—before it is the parade, with a great cannon taken at Bhurtpore 1827 (and given by Geo. IV.), and 4 other pieces; to the W., a park of guns and a mortar battery (with a lake and pontoon boats beyond), an observatory, obelisk to Sir A. Dickson,—and the Repository or Rotunda (made like a tent, by Nash, for the banquet to the Allied Sovereigns 1814, in Hyde Pk.), 24-sided, 120 ft. diam., rising to a high peak in the middle, and full of naval and military models, etc., as, the Beejapoor gun (which weighed 42 tons), models to scale of Deptford, Woolwich, Chatham, Sheerness, Portsmo', and Plymo' yards, Fort William (Calcutta), Quebec, Gibraltar, Fort St. Philip (Minorca), Cumberland fort, Brimstone-hill fort, St. James' Pk., Rio de Janeiro, a kettle-drum weighing 4¾ cwt., waggons, scaling ladders, etc., with guns of all sorts, including those of the 'Mary Rose' (sunk at Spithead 1645), others found at Walney supposed to be as old as 1379 (with a breach in the middle to fire both ways), the ashes of 56 million 1*l.* notes (under a glass case), Congreve's clock moved by a ball perpetually sliding about, Bayard's armour, also Bonaparte's funeral car, and two of Marlborough's guns (three barrels each) used at Malplaquet 1709; further off, beyond the ditch across the Common, are the married soldiers' quarters, and veterinary hosp. Towards Shooter's Hill, is the Roy. Mil. Academy for about 130 artillery cadets, under the master-gen. of the Ordnance (who is capt. of the cadets' company), lieut. gov., inspector, professor of math. (first held by Dr. Derham, then by T. Simpson 1743, Hutton, Gregory), and 7 math. masters, prof. of fortification, masters and lecturers in plan and geometrical drawing, descriptive geometry, landscape, descriptive artillery, surveying, modelling, mechanics and metallurgy, chemistry, geol. and mineralogy, hist. and geography, french, german, astronomy, fencing, etc., with a chaplain attached; the buildings, b. for 150,000*l.* by Wyatt, 1805-6 (when the academy was moved from the arsenal, to which it was first moved from Charlton 1719), include a front of about 600 ft. with a turretted centre behind it, class and dining rooms, officers' and cadets' quarters, great hall (with richly stained windows lately put in, suits of armour, etc.), botanic garden, gymnastic grounds, etc.,— and at the rear is a mineral spring. W. Reach, on the river, lying E. and W., is about 2 m. long and ¼ to ½ broad, marshy on both sides, having 9 to 18 ft. water in mid channel, but only 9 in some parts, with a shelf (which dries at low water) off Ham Creek, and another with 4 ft. water off Charlton; the guard-ship, and four or five steamers and hulks,— the Hebe, Justitia, Unité, Warren, and Wye, convict ships,— the Venus marine society ship, and the Investigator Thames police vessel, are moored here. The marshes below the arsenal (which the river overflowed 1236) are 3 ft. above sea level, 4·3 lower than those at Yantlet (near Sheerness), ½ lower than those at Greenwich. Nightingale Vale is a pretty spot, and there are many others on the hills behind. Garrison Races, July.

WOOLWICH, NORTH (1) on the Essex side, at the steam ferry opposite the above, is at the end of the E. The harb., which is kept up at great cost, is at the Yare's mouth, between wooden piers 1111 yds. apart, made by Johnson a dutchman,—the N. pier being 235 yds. (with a jetty of 265), the S. pier 340 yds.; and 200-ton ships can come over the bar up to the quay. Outside are the Roads, a sheltered spot, something like the Downs in Kent, protected by the Holm, Corton, Scrooby, St. Nicholas, Barber, Cockle, and other sands (with the Cross and Newarp at the back), between which deep water channels, well buoyed and lighted, lead to the anchorage in 15 to 18 fath.,—but they constantly shift, and even now the S. or St. Nicholas passage is closed up. The coast is full of dangers; 200 colliers were lost 1692, and many in 1554, 1790, etc. In 1846, 688 sail of 47,164 tons (345 being under 50 t. each), and 9 steamers of 639 t. (5 under 50 t.) belonged to the port, which has Beccles, Lowestoft, for sub-ports; and the tonnage Inwards and Outwards, including repeated voyages, was 'coastwise' 2691 sail of 186,976, and 1331 of 78,872 tons (besides 244 steamers of 38,427, and 262 of 41,815 t.),—from and to 'colonies' 13 of 3346, and 6 of 1190 t.,—from and to 'foreign ports' 109 of 14,408, and 77 of 10,857 t. (besides 95 foreign sail of 9532, and 40 of 5140 t., 35 foreign steamers of 5685, and 1 of 291 t.); total customs 59,784*l.* Trade, in grain, malt, coal, fish, timber, etc. The Sept. herring fishery employs about 100 boats of 40 to 50 tons, with 12 hands, and 80 to 100 nets each; some boats will catch 12 lasts=12 barrels of 1000 fish each; and as many as 6000 people are concerned in the trade. Bp. Felton (d. 1626) one of the Bible translators, Bp. Ellys (1690-1761), Wilson (1595-1652) who wrote 'Life of Jas. I.,' Swinden (d. 1772) and Ives (1750-76) the antiquaries, were natives; 16 witches were burnt 1644; Princess of Orange landed 1795 at the Revolution, Louis XVIII. 1807, and K. of Sweden 1810; Ireton lived here (when Cromwell visited him), and his daughter died at South Town 1728; D. Turner, Esq., the antiquary, and J. Penrice, Esq. (who has a fine gallery, including Rubens' 'Judgment of Paris'), are residents; it is the E. Norfolk militia head qrs., and gives title of earl to Marq. of Hertford. Yarmo' P. L. Union, contains the par. above; cases relieved (yr. 1846-7) 2026 (out-door 1548). Sup. Registry comprises the same; pop. 24,086+297; births 800 (886 being females, 92 illegit.),—deaths 598,—marriages 256, of which 228 persons signed with marks: 53 deaths from cholera in 1849. Crown; church, b. in Cromwell's time, near two stones which mark the site of the duel between John and Walter Scott, the subject of the 'Dowie Dens of Y.' and many other ballads by Hamilton, Logan, Wordsworth ('Yarrow unvisited,' 'Yarrow visited,' etc.). Ashiesteel, was seat of Col. Russell who led the storming party at Manilla, and Scott; Elibank tower (a ruin) gives title of baron to the Murrays, who had an old seat at Hangingshaw, on the Yarrow. Further up that stream are: Deuchar tower, the kirk, Mount Benger where the Ettrick Shepherd lived, and Altrieve where he died. Dryhope tower, the birthplace of Mary Scott the 'flower of Yarrow,' and the old ch. yard, stand close to 'lone St. Mary's silent lake,' whither the 'hills which rise abrupt and sheer' send a 'thousand rills,' and upon which the wild swan in its migrations 'floats double — swan and shadow.' The hollows are fertile, and the sheep a good breed; salmon and delicate trout are caught; in the mosses they find oak and other logs of old Ettrick forest; game abound; and 10 m. of the Catrail bank pass Swinbrae, Sandhope, Singlee, Deloraine, etc. The Yarrow is apt to flood in rapid flow from the 'Yarrow braes' at its source. Duke of Roxburghe and Lord Traquair are chief heritors.

Following the sup. registry districts of '45 (total pop. with City 221,376 + 2807), the 'births' were 7903, of whom 3874 were females, 582 or 6·9 per cent. illegit., — 'deaths' 4828, or 1 in 46, the all-England av. being the same, — 'marriages' 2548 (at church 2329), of which 1440 persons, or 28 per cent., signed with marks. —— The post-tertiary flats of Holderness stretch W. from the low coast in the SE. to a line from Auburn to Gt. Driffield, and thence S. down the R. Hull; this marks also the border of the hard chalky swelling Wolds, which appear in the cliffs between Bridlington and Hunmanby (N. of which chalk is never seen), and extend to a line from this past Sherburn, Birdsall, Kilnwick, Londesboro', and S. Cave, to the Humber, — cover a space 30 m. by 20, or about 400,000 ac., are 500 ft. thick on the average, and rise 809 ft. at Wilton beacon, 531 at Hunsley beacon, commanding good prospects; a thin border of greensand, coral rag, and lias (thro' Bugthorpe, Mkt. Weighton, and Brough Ferry), lies beyond the Wolds; and thence all the rest as far as the Ouse makes part of the valley of York on red marl, except the post-tertiary levels or carrs S. of Howden. Soil, stiff clay and sandy loam on the rich marshes of Holderness, now well drained, but still foggy, — a light sandy loam, with gravel, on the Wolds, which are healthy and bracing, — and sand and clay, with moss, along the Derwent; chief crops are: wheat (25 to 35 bush. per acre), beans, a little barley (on the Wolds), oats (28 to 55 bush.), kidney potatoes (on the warp land by the Humber, which is kept highly fertilised by letting in the tides to form a deposit of sand and mud), flax (Howden), rape and cole seed, cabbages, carrots, sainfoin, etc.; improvements are carried out on a great scale; warrens, sheep-lands, marshes have been reclaimed, lands enclosed, and a little timber planted on the Wolds, which are now well cultivated; Holderness or Teeswater short-horn cattle are kept; Leicester and S. Down sheep on the Wolds; chalk, bone, wreck or sea-weed (along shore), and other manures are used; the best road and coach horses are bred here, the dealers being noted for cunning; shell-marl is got in Holderness and near Mkt. Weighton, where bones of the elephant, rhinoceros, bison, etc. have been found; farms run from 200*l.* to 1500*l.*, at 15*s.* to 5*l.* an acre, — few are small or held on lease. Wages 2*s.* a day, without board. The Keyingham and Hedon levels run to the Humber; the Lambwith, Holderness, Barmston and Beverley, and other levels, to the Hull, which has a branch canal of 4 m. to Gt. Driffield; the Pocklington canal, of 6 m., is cut to the Derwent, which falls into the Ouse; the Fooner and Foulness runs to the Humber, with 10 m. of M. Weighton canal and several drains. Hornsea Mere, of 467 ac., is with Malham Tarn in N. Ridg. the only lake in York. The cotton manufact. at Wansford and Hull (?) employs about 250 hands, flax and linen (79) at Hull, lace (33), woollen (26), — besides about 300 'spinners' and 'weavers;' iron and boilers (132) at Hull; carpets are also made at Wansford, and pottery at Hull, — with white bricks at Walling Feu. Cornelians and amber are picked up on the shore; rock pigeons and sea-fowl frequent the cliffs of Flamboro' head. —— A roman way, in continuation of Ermine St. in Linc., went by Brough (Ad Petuariam), Londesboro' (Delgovitia), to Stamford Bridge (Derventio) on the Derwent, whence a branch struck off by 'Roman Works' near Heslerton to Flamboro' (Prætorium), close to remains of Dane's Dyke. Rudstan has a pillar cross (rood), Skipsea a trench; Driffield is near Dane's Dale tumuli. Old priory ruins at Bridlington, Kirkham, Watton; ancient churches at Bempton, Beverley, Filey, Goodmanham (where was a pagan temple), Kilham, Newbald (all these are part norman), Hull (some old brickwork), Skirlaugh, Speeton, Patrington, Hemingboro', Howden (with a decayed palace of the Bps. of Durham); old castle at Wressle (Percys'). Following the sup. registry districts of '45 (total pop. 186,226 + 607), the 'births' were 5753, of whom 2811 were females, 518 or 8·9 per cent. illegit., — 'deaths' 3377, or 1 in 53, the all-England av. being 46, — 'marriages' 1485 (at church 1424), of which 895 persons, or 30 per cent., signed with marks. Red marl and new red sandstone are the basis of the fertile Vale of York (400,000 ac.), which divides the moorlands, extending from the Tees (between Darlington and Middlesboro') down the Rs. Swale and Ouse, Leeming Lane, and Gt. N. of Engld. rail. to York (thence S. along the E. and W. Ridg. border, to the Humber); W. of this, the stone of the West Moorlands (3,170,000 ac.) prevails, with mountain or carboniferous limestone (containing lead) at the heads of the Ure (above Bedale) and Swale (above Richmond), rising at Shunner fell 2350 ft., Water crag 2182 (near Nine Standards on the Westmrld. side, 2175), Gt. Whernside 2263, and Cam fell at R. Ribble's head 1925 (both on W. Ridg. border), — ft. at Kelton, White, Wasset, and Little fells; on the other side the rugged oolite of the East Moorlands ridge (300,000 ac.), with several beautiful dales branching from it, runs through Cleveland (i. e. cliff-land), from Osmotherly to the coast between Fylingdales and Scarboro', — rises 1246 ft. at Black Hambledon, 1300 at Wainstone (at the head of Raydale), 1485 at Botton Head (near the top of Bilsdale and Bransdale), 1864 at Ralph's Cross (at the head of Farndale, Dowthwaitedale Rosedale, Westerdale, Danbydale), 1404 at Shunnor or Loose Moor, Hoe (at the head of Fryopdale, Glazedale, Hortoftdale), — ft. at Silhoe and Lilhoe Crosses, — appears also in Danby and Guisboro' Moors (at Roseberry Topping 1022 ft.) to the N., — leaving between, rocks of lias and alum shale, which run in a circle from Stokesley along the Esk through Egton to Whitby, along the coast to Redcar, round to Guisboro' and Stokesley (again), and thence S. past Thirsk and Easingwold to Bugsby and Stamford Br.; the S. side of these moors, in the fertile Vale of the Rye (104,000 ac.) and its branches, is occupied by Oxford clay, cornbrash, coral rag, Portland oolite, etc., to the coast between Scarboro' and Filey. Lead (1109 hands) is worked, along with lime, in Swaledale, at Hurst, Whitsandale, Arkengarthdale

(near Leyburn, Muker, Reeth, etc.); some poor coal (255) found near the above (and near Kirkby Moorside), with a little iron there (142) and about Roseberry Topping, Rosedale (where it was worked in K. John's time), Whitby, and Ayton; traces of copper found at Middleton Tyas, and near Richmond; alum (215), first made at Guisboro' in Elizabeth's time (1595) by Sir T. Chalmer, is worked at Boulby, Kettleness, Sand's End, Stoupe Brow, the Peake, etc., in rocks which produce amber, jet, ammonites or 'snake stones,' saurians, shells, and other fossils, with lignite. They get good stone at Gatherly Moor near Richmond, Renton near Boroughbridge, Aislaby near Whitby, Hackness near Scarboro'; lime near Malton and other places, where it becomes marbly; slaty flagstone in the West Moorlands; a whindyke 24 to 200 ft. thick, from Middleton in Teesdale, passes across to Whitby. Flax and linen (679), woollens and worsteds (240), are manufactured into stockings and other articles for use at home, at Appleton, Hatton, Northallerton, Osmotherly, Reeth, and many country vils.; rope (154) and sails at Scarboro' and Whitby, where they make ornaments of the jet; a little cotton is spun at Easingwold and Masham; pottery (307) made at Middlesboro'; 526 are called 'weavers.'—Cold E. winds and rain prevail on the coast (which is a strong cold clay) and on the East Moorlands, which are 30 m. by 15, and boggy, but have a good loamy soil at the W. end, with sand in the fertile vales below, and red clay in Cleveland vale or level (70,000 ac.); gravel, clay, loam, and sand are found in the Vale of York, which is chiefly pasture, with arable land marked by hedgerows; a very fertile loam on gravel and lime in Wensley and Swale dales (pasture) in the West Moorlands; good strong loam on clay and cobble or gravel in the 'Howardian' hills (60,000 ac.), between Vale of York and Ryedale,—the soil of which last and the 'marishes' on the Derwent, is a warp or silt and clay, very rich, but wet. Chief crops are: wheat (in Vale of York,—also Cleveland and Ryedale, 3 to 5 qrs. per acre), oats (on the moors,—and a good sort in Ryedale, 6 to 8 qrs.), turnips (drilled in on the Northmbrld. plan), a little barley (4 qrs.) or bigg (near the moors), beans, good potatoes (on the warp lands, 200 to 300 bush.), a little flax (Ryedale), clover, rape (which like the oats is thrashed in the open fields), mustard (near York, though called 'Durham'), rye (mixed with wheat for 'meslin' bread); large Teeswater or Holderness short-horn cattle (which fatten well, and give much milk), with coarse Teeswater sheep (30 to 40 lbs. the qr.), crossed by other breeds, are kept by the graziers,—but smaller kinds (the sheep being about 18 lbs. the qr., with a 5 lb. fleece) are fed on the common pastures on the hills, besides many black-faced sheep in the West Moorlands; good Cleveland and other horses for hunters and the carriage are bred; farms are small and numerous, running from 40 to 100*l.*, and 50 to 1000 ac.,—2-3rds of each, on the av., being pasture; a little oak is grown, with ash for butter tubs. Grouse are shot on the moors. The Rye and its branches from S. side of East Moorlands run to the Derwent; several streams run from the N. side to the Esk (which falls down to Whitby), and others to the Tees; the Codbeck (in the Vale of Mowbray) and Wiske run to the Swale, which, after passing by God's Bridge, and over several falls, runs to the Ure, which has the Hardraw (102 ft.), Aysgarth, and other falls in Wensley dale, and joins with the Swale to make the Ouse below Boroughbridge; the Foss runs by Sutton-on-the-Forest (i. e. Galtees Forest) to the Ouse at York. Mineral springs at Guisboro', Thirsk, Malton, Easingwold, Egton, and Scarboro', which has Cloughton druid circle near it. Watling, or Ermine St., by the name of Leeming Lane, passes from York (Eboracum), Aldbo (Isurium), by Bedale, Catterick (Cataractorum) to Pierse Bridge (Ad Tisam), having a branch (near Kneeton) to Rokeby, Bowes (Lavatræ), near Maiden Castle camp, on to Brough (Verteræ); Wade's Causeway from York, goes by Stamford Br. (Derventio), Malton (Camelodunum), to Whitby. Old camps are left at Seamer, Eston, Pickering; abbey and priory ruins at Rievaulx, Jervaulx, Byland, Easby, Mountgrace, Guisboro' (in a fine spot), Whitby, Hackness (in a fine spot), Wykeham; old churches at Bowes, Filey, Helmsley, Kirkby-Wiske, Kirkdale, Old Malton (these are part norman); remains of castle Crake, Helmsley, Middleham, Pickering, Ri mond, Sheriff Hutton (the Nevilles'), Scarbo Mortham was the Rokebys' old seat, Topcli the Percys'; Ayton (in a fine spot) belonged to Clifford the shepherd lord. The battle of the Standard was fought at Cowton 1318; Gower the poet was born at Stittenham, Bp. Coverdale who translated the first english Bible at Coverdale (?), Cook at Marton, Roger Ascham at Kirkby-Wiske, Abp. Hutton at Marske, Hutchinson the hebraist at Spennithorne, H. Jenkins (who died 169 yrs. old) at Ellerton; Villiers 2nd duke of Bucks died at Kirkby Moorside. In the coralline oolite caves of Kirkdale, Dr. Buckland found the bones of 20 different animals; a blocks of drifted granite are seen here and there in the valleys, mixed with gravel, clay, and (sometimes) bones of the elephant, hippopotamus, etc. Malton has a large horse fair. (exclusively,—with 7873 teachers and 43,918 child.), and 591 in union with the National Soc. had 66,958 child., and total grants since 1811 of 41,705*l.* Offenders (for three Ridgs.) in '48, 2036 (or 1700 av. of 5 yrs.), of whom 1550 were convicted (2 hung), 344 were females, 51 under 15 yrs. of age, 619 could not read or write. Following the sup. registry districts of '45 (total pop. 1,176,514 + 18,204), the 'births' were 43,273, of whom 21,173 were females, 3166 or 7·1 per cent. illegit., — 'deaths' 26,464, or 1 in 45, the all-England av. being 46, — 'marriages' 10,930 (at church 10,086), of which 11,060 persons, or 50½ per cent., signed with marks.——A broad line from Masham, by Ripon, Ripley, Knaresboro', Wetherby, Tadcaster, Sherburn, Doncaster, is the W. border of the new red sandstone in Vale of York, with lower red sandst. and magnesian limest. (burnt for lime) further W. Beyond this, chiefly between the Aire and Don, where manufacts. of all kinds most flourish, lies the great Yorkshire coal-field, within a circle from Todwick (where it enters from Derby.), Conisbro', Elmsall, Pomfret, Aberford, Horsforth, Wilsden, Halifax, Huddersfield, SE. towards the Derby. border again, — which encloses Leeds, Bradford (where the coal is thickest, the thinnest being at Halifax), Dewsbury, Wakefield, Barnsley, Penistone, Wentworth, Sheffield, Rotherham, etc. — a space

45 m. by 20, and 4000 ft. thick (including ironstone, clay, shales, and sandstone strata), with 20 beds, 1½ to 10 ft. thick, or about 40 ft. of coal altogether, — the top seams being usually poor (burning swift, with a white ash), the next good for furnaces, and the lower (about 200 ft. down) where ironstone is found, being the best. Gritstone prevails N. and W. (down to Sheffield) of the coal, and rugged mountain or carboniferous limest. (like the Derby. hills) with slaty rocks in the Craven moorlands W. of Skipton and Linton, —where Ingleboro' rises 2361 ft., Pennigant 2270, Whernside (at R. Ribble's head) 2385, Gt. and Lit. Whernside (near Kettlewell on N. Ridg. border) 2263 and 1958, Cam or Carn Fell (at the Wharfe's head on N. Ridg. bord.) 1925, Rumbold's Moor 1308. Siker's, Bow, Rysell, Whiddale, and Holme Fells, Lee Pike, Moughton, and Fountains Fells, Hard Flask, Riggs Moor, Barden Fells, Bowland Knots, Standard of Burnmoor, are other peaks in this quarter on the Lancash. border, where Holme Edge and Boulsworth Hill are 1689 and 1246 ft.; Stoodley Pike, Green Withens, Standedge, Blackstone Edge, Langsett, and Broomhead Moors, lie towards Lord's Seat and Bradfield Moor near Derby. border, which are 1752 and 1246 ft. Coal (11,566 hands) is worked at or near all the places above-named (Bradford and Halifax having 200 coal and iron pits round them, 200 to 550 ft. deep), also at Lindley, Bowling (52 pits), Holmfirth, Northowram, Idle, Allerton, Tong, Kirkheaton, Wyke, Lindley, Thornton, Lockwood, Horton, etc., and at the 'S. Yorkshire' collieries of Earl Fitzwilliam and others about Barnsley, viz. Brierly (50 pits), Cliff, Elsecar, Haigh Moor, Flockton, Lofthouse, Silkstone, Worsboro'; those at Saddleworth belong to the Lancash. field: fossil fish, plants, etc. are found in the coal. Iron (1491) is worked near the coal; lead (591) at Grassington above Pateley Bridge, in Craven, which has traces of copper and calamine, and many caves in the limestone. Stone (2979) is quarried for building in the sandstone at Bramley Fall, Park Spring, Scotgate, — the magnesian limestone at Brodsworth, Huddlestone, N. Austen, Roche Abbey, Smawse Hall, — for grindstones at Wickersley (some 6 ft. diam.) and other parts, — for flagstones near the coal, — and a galliard stone for roads. Slate appears near Horton-in-Ribblesdale and Sedbergh; and fine sand for the foundries (which are rather on the decline) is got at Bilham. —— W. R. York. is the great seat of woollen cloths and worsted stuffs, and as it also makes cotton, linen, and various textile fabrics (altogether 137,000 hands, besides 16,000 'weavers,' etc.) with cutlery and other goods, it is in this respect an 'epitome of the manufacturing industry of the kingdom.' Woollens (64,363 hands) are made chiefly at Leeds and places within 11 m. of it (except to the N.), as Bramley, Wortley, Armley, Yeadon, Farsley, Idle, Morley, Rawden, Guiscley, Eccleshill, Horsforth, Cleckheaton, etc., where about 10,000 hand looms are employed, the mixed, i. e. coloured sorts, being nearer Leeds, which has 2 halls for white and mixed goods, and also makes stuffs: in the process of manufacture the cloth gives employment to 120 different occupations, classed under the heads of pickers, sorters, washers, cleaners, dyers, willowers, carders, slubbers, drawers, doublers, spinners, warpers, winders, sizers, weavers, fullers, burlers, teazers, giggers, croppers, shearers, boilers, pressers, finishers, packers, warehousemen. Bradford is the head qrs. of alpaca and other woollen stuffs (26,000), having a piece hall and 14,000 looms within 10 m. of it, at Horton, Allerton, Bierley, Clayton, Thornton, Wilsden, Baildon, Morden, Keighley, Haworth, Hainworth, Oxnop, etc., — the occupations (about 65) being under the heads of sorters, washers, dyers and stovers, pluckers, combers, breakers, drawers, rovers, spinners, reelers, warpers, sizers, weavers, finishers, etc.; Halifax, where baizes are made, has a piece hall for both woollens and stuffs; narrow fancy goods (3489) are made at Huddersfield, which has a cloth hall; blankets and flushings at Dewsbury (a hall); flannels, kerseys, and broad cloths, at Saddleworth (hall at Rochdale, Lancash.); woollens are made and dyeing carried on at Wakefield. Flax, thread, and coarse linens (9751), as ticks, ducks, towelling, canvas, etc. are made at Leeds, Barnsley, Knaresboro' (sheets and diapers,) Pateley, Ripley; cotton (15,409, — in about 105 occupations under 16 or more heads) at Saddleworth, Keighley (with woollens and worsteds), Settle, silk (912) at Leeds; carpets (537) at Dewsbury, Halifax, Leeds. At Batley and Dewsbury are shoddy mills, where old woollen rags are worked up afresh into yarn for coarse goods; pilot and army and navy cloths are made; and 2053 hands produce wool cards, combs, hackles, healds, shuttles, etc., for the above manufactures. —— Cutlery (15,300), files (2854), other tools (1595), small articles (771), — Birmingham goods, as fire-irons, teapots, snuffers, buckles, hooks, pins, needles, steel pens, spectacles, screws, rivets, skates, scale-beams, etc., also britannia metal, german silver, and other plated goods (917), steel (312), brass (258), are made at Sheffield, and within 7 m. of it; iron (2143) and nails (1262) at Leeds, Sheffield, Elsecar, Barnsley; wire (482) at Barnsley, Halifax; engines and machines at Leeds, etc.: about 760 are set down as founders and moulders. Pottery (1081) mostly at Leeds; glass bottles (341) at Leeds, Sheffield, Barnsley; brown paper (415) at Leeds, Halifax, Settle (with rope); oilcake is pressed, and logwood rasped for dyers; at Wetherby. —— Except the Ribble, which flows W. through Lancash., all the great rivers run E. to the Ouse, as the Nidd by Knaresboro', — the Wharfe by Otley and Wetherby, — the Aire by Skipton, Leeds, and Snaith; the Colne runs by Huddersfield to the Calder, and that by Dewsbury and Wakefield to the Aire, — the Loxley, Sheaf, Rother, Dearne, Went, to the Don, and that by Sheffield, Rotherham, Doncaster, to the Ouse. Climate on the whole dry and healthy, — with bog in the marshy flats E. of Doncaster, — and cold and rain in the W. moorlands, which have many fertile spots on the limestone, where oats and a little barley are raised; the land is chiefly pasture, but tillage prevails E. of a line from Ripley to Rotherham, where, on a soil of sand, clay, and loam, and partly moorish, but improved by draining, shoddy, bone and rape dust manure, and warping (near the Ouse), they grow corn (5 qrs. an acre), beans, turnips, good potatoes (70 sacks of 12 pecks each, on the warp lands), flax (40 st. of 14 lbs.) about Selby, clover (with woad, round Selby and Doncaster), tares and vetches for fodder, teazles (Barkstone Ash wap.), liquorice (Pomfret, and also at Ripley); good Teeswater short-horn, and Scotch cattle are kept, — the cows giving 22 to 24 qrts. of milk per day; but in Craven the long-horns are used (with crosses), producing good milk and butter: hardy native or Penistone sheep are fed on the heathy moors, with various crosses and some Leicesters; and hogs are fatted for hams and bacon: fences of stone W. of Leeds; farms numerous and small, — most of the weavers and others near the towns keeping one; oak, ash, larch, etc. are planted for use in the collieries; horses are middling, the best being reared in the other Ridings: but good draught horses are bred,—with hunters round Doncaster, Ripon, Wetherby. Wages 12*s.* to 14*s.* a week. —— A roman way went from Manchester (Mancunium) by Slack (Cambodunum), Castleford (Legeolium, where Ryknield St. from Temple Brough or Ad Fines, crosses Watling St. from Doncaster or Danum), Tadcaster (Calcaria), to York (Eboracum), thence on to Flamboro', and N. to Boroughbridge (Isurium), where it was met by a short cut from Castleford; from Tadcaster, a cross way went W. to Ilkley (Alicana, where it crossed a way from Manchester to Catterick), Broughton (Ad Alpes Peninas), over the moors to Ribchester. Among the antiquities are: logan stones at Settle, Halifax, Saddleworth; Brimham Crags druid stones, Arrows pillar stones; Conyngarth and Gateshill camps near Scriven, Elshaw near Ripon; abbey or priory ruins at Selby, Fountains near Skeldale Spa, Bolton, Kirkstall, Roche, York; cathedrals at Ripon and York; old churches at Addle, Bardsey, Gilling, Guiseley, Linton, Sheffield, Sherburn, Silkstone, Swinton, Thornton-in-Lonsdale, Wighill (all part norman),— large ones at Doncaster and Leeds, and an ancient chapel at Wakefield; ruined castles at Cawood and Bawtry (once the archbp.'s), Spofford (Percys'), — Knaresboro', with its spa, dropping well, hermitage (where Mother Shipton was born), and caves (where Eugene Aram murdered Clark),— Harewood, Skipton (Cliffords'), Bolton (where Mary Q. of Scots was a prisoner), Sandal, Tickhill, Conisboro', Pomfret (where Rich. II. was murdered), York (Clifford's tower, besides part of a roman wall). Bones of deer, and logs, have been found on the site of Hatfield Chase, where Edwin of Northumbria was beaten 633 by Penda (who was killed 655 at Wedwinfield, near Leeds), and Edw. III.'s son was born; at Wakefield, Hen. VI. and the Lancastrians beat the Duke of York (1460), and were utterly routed by his descendant Edw. IV. at Towton 1461; Aske and the Pilgrimage of Grace encamped at Scansby Lees 1536. Hen. I. was born at Selby, Guy Fawkes at Bishopthorpe, Abp. Bramhall at Pomfret, Tillotson at Halifax (where Defoe wrote 'Robinson Crusoe'), Bp. Porteus and Flaxman at York, Dr. Radcliffe at Wakefield, Gen. Fairfax at Denton, Sanderson the blind mathematician at Penistone; Robin Hood is buried at Kirklees. At the heads of the Nidd, Wharfe (which has salmon), and Aire, are several fine spots, — as Malham Tarn (or lake) and Cove, Ingleton fall of 90 ft., Weathercote Cave, Dent, Hackfall hollow; Laughton church has a view of 60 m., and the Moorlands everywhere command wide prospects; spas at Harrogate, Knaresboro', Ilkley, Askern; Cowthorp has an oak 60 ft. girth, Giggleswick an intermittent spring; Sherburn is noted for wine-sour plums, Doncaster for its races; large corn mkts. are held at Knaresboro' and Skipton; cattle and sheep fairs at Wakefield and Rotherham, and a horse fair at Boroughbridge. Haslewood was the Vavasours' old seat, Newhall belonged to Fairfax the poet; about Thorne are many descended from the dutch who came over to drain the fens here in Ch. I.'s time; Goole, on the Humber, is a thriving port; Rotherham and Bradford have dissenters' colleges. Some of the chief seats are: Archbp. of York Bishopsthorpe, Duke of Devonshire Bolton Ab., Marq. of Hertford Temple Newsome (old), Earl Harewood H. House, E. The Leeds and Livpl. (45 m. of it) comes in from Lanc. at Foulbridge, and runs by Barnoldswick, Gargrave, down the Aire to Skipton, Kildwick, Bingley, Shipley (branch to Bradford 3 m.), to Leeds; Aire and Calder navigation of 30 m. (begun 1699) consists of various cuts below Leeds and Wakefield (to which 100-ton craft come), on those rivers down to Ferrybridge (where 18½ m. of Egboro' can. go by Pollington, Cowick, to Goole on the Ouse), and Haddlesey (where 5 m. cut goes to Selby); the Rochdale (10 m.) comes in at Todmorden, and goes by Hebden to Sowerby Bridge (near Halifax), whence Calder and Hebble navigation (22 m.) runs by Rastrick, Cooper's Br. (Ramsden's branch of 3 m. to Huddersfield), Dewsbury, to Wakefield (where the Aire and Calder nav. begins); the Huddersfd. (18 m.) comes in at Saddleworth (from Manchester), and goes thro' Marsden tun. of 5451 yds. (656 ft. above sea), to Ramsden's at Huddersfd.; the Barnsley (15 m.) goes from Wakefield to Barnsley and Silkstone collieries, joining the Dearne and Don can. (13 m.) which runs from Barnsley to Swinton on the Don, having colliery branches to Worsboro', Hoyland, Wentworth, Mexboro'; the Sheffield (4 m.) runs down the Don to Tinsley, with a coal rail. to Handsworth; below it, at Rotherham and Mexboro', are cuts (6 m.); below Doncaster, a cut of 4 m. from Sandall joins 8 m. of the Stainforth and Keadby, past Thorne, towards the Trent; 6 m. of the Chesterfield cross the SE. corner. About 400 m. of rail. under various names and companies (as Lanc. and Yksh., N. Western, Midld., Yk. and N. Midld., Manch. and Shefd., etc.), and usually following the rivers and canals, join all the great towns with each other, and with York, Hull, Manchester, Liverpool, etc.: (1) From Leeds to Dewsbury 9 m., Mirfield 12, Cooper's Br. 13, Huddersfield 17 (Holmefirth, Penistone, Sheffield 13), Marsden 24, Saddleworth 29, Staleybridge 34 (Stockport 43), Manchester 42, Liverpool 75. Wesleyan centenary chapel, b. 1839-40 for 7780*l.*, is 90 ft. by 68, with an ionic stone front. —— St. Peter's noble minster or Cathedral, in the midst of narrow streets and small houses, was burnt 741 and 1069 (with Abp. Egbert's famous library, collected 730-6) by the Danes, burnt 1137, restored 1171 by Abp. Roger in the norman style, and since altered or rebuilt. It is cruciform, 524½ ft. long (next to Winchester) by 222 (thro' the transept), 105 to 109 broad, 95 to 101 high, with side buttresses, crocketted pinnacles, etc. The fine W. front, restored by Abp. Markham, has two pinnacled towers 196 ft. high, a richly traceried window, canopied, and stained with figures of 16 prelates and saints, many empty canopied niches, — stone figures of Abp. de Melton, Rob. de Vavasour, and Rob. de Percy, round the middle door, and a profusion of sculpture; the early eng. S. transept (the oldest part) b. 1220-46 by Abp. de Grey, has a catherine-wheel window, and stained figures by W. Peckitt (1796); N. transept, begun 1260 by Jno. de Romain the treasurer, with the 'Five Sisters' window 50 ft. high; nave 261 ft. long, b. 1291-1330 by Abps. le Romain and Melton (who finished the W. front), with its clustered pillars, clerestory windows, and arch'd timbered roof (restored since the fire of May 20. 1840); choir, b. 1361-1470 by

Abp. de Thoresby, etc., and restored by Smirke at cost of 50,000*l.* since Feb. 2. 1829, when it was fired by J. Martin, a lunatic; unfinished central tower 213 ft. high (with 8 windows 45 ft. high, but without a spire), b. 1370-80 by Abp. Thoresby (instead of Jno. de Romain's), resting on four great arches and clustered piers 100 ft. high; mosaic pavement, renewed 1736; richly florid stone screen of Hen. VI.'s time, with full-size figures of 15 kings from the Conqueror to Hen. VI.; Mrs. Wandesford's iron gates; new organ (replacing Ch. I.'s, which was burnt), given by Earl of Scarborough, b. by Elliott for 8000*l.*, with 53 stops, 4200 pipes (5000 in that of Haarlem, but the York pipes are larger); new carved canopied stalls; new altar screen by Scott (who was killed 1834 by a fall from the scaffolding); lady chapel, behind the altar; a noble E. window, 75 ft. by 32, stained throughout with figures 2 ft. high of scripture characters, kings, priests, saints, etc., in about 200 parts 3 ft. square, begun 1405 by J. Thornton of Coventry; Earl Carlisle's window (1804) in S. aisle, brought from Rouen, with the 'Meeting of the Virgin Mary and Eliz.' after del Piombo; marble font; also effigies, tombs, etc. (many injured by the late fires) of Abps. Roger (near the door to St. Sepulchre's chapel, which he built), de Grey (d. 1216, richly canopied), Sewal, de Ludham, de Grenefield (good brass, 1315), Scrope (beheaded 1398), Rogers, Bowet (d. 1407, with florid eng. pinnacles, — much injured), Savage (d. 1501), Hutton, Piers, Matthew (restored since 1829), Frewen, Sterne, Lamplugh, Dolben (who was at Marston Moor), Jno. Sharp, Markham (1777), Will. de Hatfield (son of Edw. III., — canopied), J. Haxty (d. 1424), Sir G. Tavile, Mrs. Hodson (who d. 1636, only 38 yrs. old, and had 24 children), Dr. Burgh (by Westmacott), the Wentworths, Mrs. Matthew (whose two husbands were archbps., and her four sisters married bishops), 2 brasses of Eliz. Tims (1585) and J. Cotrel, — and the graves of many prelates from Bosa (d. 677) downwards, kings Eadbert, Eanbald, and Sweyne or Sueno, earl Tosti, etc., — besides 2 old stone coffins, a norman boundary stone, etc. Traces of norman arches are left; a crypt is under the choir, and the base of the old norman choir was found there 1830; the SW. tower, restored since the fire of 1840, has a new peal of 12 bells, replaced 1844 at cost of 2000*l.* by Dr. Beckwith (who left 40,000*l.* to the city charities 1843), — and in NW. tower is the great Tom or Peter of 10¾ tons, 12½ ft. diam. 7½ high, cast by Mears, and hung June, 1845. The Chapter Ho. (restored 1845 by Dr. Beckwith), of Edw. III.'s time or later (about 1284-1340), is 8-sided, 63 ft. diam., 68 high to the knot in the coloured timber roof, which stands without a pillar, but the sides are buttressed; it has 44 canopied stalls (of Purbeck marble), stained windows 50 ft. high, empty niches, a silver crozier (6 ft. long) brought from Portugal by Ch. II.'s queen, carved ivory horn of Ulphus of Deira, by which he gave lands to the abbey (redecorated 1675), Abp. Scrope's cup, an old chair, a chartulary of Edw. I.'s time, etc.; in the vestry is an ancient chest; — the library, in the norman style (once a chapel to the palace), and open to the public, was restored 1806, has a stained window, and the books of Abp. Matthew and Dr. Fothergill, including old MSS., some of Caxton's books, Erasmus' greek testament on vellum (1519); the deanery and canons' houses are new. St. Mary's mitred benedictine abbey, which covered 15 acres, near Bootham bar and the river, was found. 1088 by W. Rufus (on site of a temple of Bellona, and of St. Olave's priory, where Earl Siward its founder was buried), burnt 1137, reb. 1270-91 by Abbot de Warwick, val. 1550*l.*, turned into a palace by Hen. VIII., and came to the Robinsons; traces of it are in the Manor Ho. (as above), near which are the arch'd vaults 129 ft. long, and part of a kitchen; 8 windows in the N. wall, and a corner of the W. end of church (which was 371 ft. by 61) remain, with part of a court or cloister, and an old tombstone; St. Mary's and Bootham corner towers are also seen: but most of the stones were taken to build York Cast., St. Olave church, Beverley minster (when restored 1717), Lendal straith, etc.; some statues, and the seal, etc. are in the Philosoph. Soc.'s museum, which stands in the grounds. Near it is a many-cornered tower (12-sided ?), from which runs a wall by the Mint Yard, with courses of roman bricks in it (each 17 in. by 11, and 2½ thick). In Vicar's Lane is the old arch'd gate, etc. of St. William's college for priests, found. 1252 by Abp. de Grey, or 1460 by the Nevills, and belonging to Lane Fox, of Bramham; the Mint Yard has parts of the norman cloisters of St. Leonard's (a wine vault) and St. Peter's hosps., found. 1080-1100 by the Conqueror and his son Rufus; near Micklegate are the gate and part of the church of Holy Trin. benedictine priory, found. as a cell to Tours ab. at the Conquest, and given to the Goodrickes of Ribstone; behind this is the Old Baile, the site of a saxon castle, and the archbishops' prison. Close to the castle, within the new walls, on an artificial mound 90 ft. high, is part of the Conqueror's round massive keep, called Clifford's tower, which had a moat and drawbridge, was repaired Ch. I.'s time, and the square gate added, but blown up 1684. The city walls, as reb. by Edw. I. about 1280, and restored and paved with brick 1831, make a pleasant promenade (like those at Chester), and are 2 m. 3 furl. 96 yds. round, with 6 gates, etc. as follows: Micklegate bar (SW.) on London road, where Rich. duke of York's head was placed ("Off with his head, and set it on York gates." — 3rd pt. Hen. VIth), has turrets and battlements over a roman tuscan (?) arch of millstone grit, restored 1727, and again 1827 (when the barbican was removed); thence by the new Victoria bar near the rail. station, to N. Street postern, which has the best view of the cathedral, abbey, etc., across the Ouse at Lendal ferry to Manor shore; Bootham bar. (NW.) on Edinbro' road, with roman stones in it, restored 1719, and 1832; thence by the Cathedral Close and Lord Mayor Walk, to Monk bar, which is very old, with figures on the battlements, and was restored 1846; thence to Laythorp postern, which was taken down to build the new bridge over the Foss 1826; thence to Walmgate bar (SE.) on Hull road, with its old portcullis, battlements, and barbican, restored 1648 and 1840; thence by the cattle mkt. to Fishergate (postern gone), which, having been walled up, was re-opened 1827; thence by the Castle to Castlegate postern; across the Ouse at New Walk ferry to Skeldergate (postern gone), and so round by the Old Baile and city gaol to Micklegate. About 20 towers appear to be left of the 40 which Leland saw. ENGLAND.

1. ITS BOUNDARIES, COAST LINE, ETC.

ENGLAND, which for situation, climate, mineral wealth, sea-coast and other causes, is the most fortunate of nations, was settled (B. C. 55 to A. D. 450) by the Romans, who called it Britannia, and divided it into four provinces (see BRITAIN in its place for particulars, and the like for all other names referred to); by the Saxons and Jutes (446), and by the Angles (547, see EAST ANGLIA), who founded the little kingdoms of the Heptarchy, or Octarchy,—East Anglia, Essex, Kent, Mercia, Northumbria (or Bernicia and Deira), Sussex, Wessex,—made into one Angle-land or Eng-land by Egbert (827-8); was overrun by the Danes (from about 766), who settled on the coast, and under Canute (1016) shared the kingdom with Ironside; settled by the Normans (1066) under Will. I.; conquered Ireland 1182, and Wales 1281; called 'Great Britain' at the union with Scotland 1707, and 'the United Kingdom' upon the union with Ireland 1800; is traversed by about 2200 m. of canal (made since 1768), and upwards of 4700 m. of railway (since 1825); watered by the Thames, Severn, Trent, Mersey, Ouse, Dee, Tyne, Tees, Nen, etc., with their branches (making above 500 rivers in Engld. and Wales); and bordered by R. Liddell, the Cheviots, R. Tyne, and Scotld. (N.), and by the 'Narrow Seas' on the other sides, viz. North Sea (E.), British Chan. or The Channel (S.), Atlantic (SW.), St. George's Chan. and Irish Sea separating it from Ireland (W.).

It lies between lat. 49° 57′ 41″ N. (Lizard pt.) and 55° 49′ 20″ N. (Berwick), and between long. 5° 41′ 31″ W. (Land's End), and 1° 45′ 14″ E. (Lowestoft). Length, from Selsey Bill NNW. to the Liddell, about 320 m. (or to Cape Wrath 590,—or on the meridian from St. Alban's head due N. to Berwick 360 m.,—see also Dunnose); greatest breadth, perpendicular to the length, 330 (from Land's End to N. Foreland); average ditto 196 (or 217 including Wales); relative size to United Kingdom 4179-10,000ths; circuit with Wales 1660 m., of which 1590 is coast (without Wales, it is 1420, of which 1200 is coast), for the most part cliffy, with the best harbours on the S. and W., while the sea gains ground (in some parts it retires) on the low shores to the E. and SE., where remains of forests are often seen. The E. coast of 480 m. (for which see Northmbrld., Durh., York., Linc., Norfk., Suffk., Esx., Kent) is rocky from Berwick to Flamboro' head (Stoupe Brow being 893 ft. high); thence to Dover, with a few exceptions about Cromer, N. and S. Forelands, etc., it is almost a dead flat, lined with dangerous shifting sands, which have swallowed thousands of collier ships and their hardy crews, and to clear which demands a perpetual look-out from the most experienced seamen: it has — coast-guard stations, with about 22 principal lights (including Farn islds., Spurn head, etc. with 11 floating on the sands); and the best ports or harbs. are at Berwick on the Tweed, Newcastle and Shields on the Tyne, Sunderland, Stockton on the Tees, Whitby, Scarboro', Hull, and Grimsby in the Humber, Boston and Lynn in the Wash, Yarmo' roads, Lowestoft, Harwich on the Stour, Sheerness at the Nore in the Thames' mouth (which is full of sands), London, and the Downs inside Goodwin sands.

Along the S. or Channel coast of 360 m. (see Kent, Susx., Hants., Dorset., Devon., Cornwl.), chalk and other cliffs, the "white cliffs of old Albion," prevail, except at Dungeness, from Brighton to Hurst cast., and on the Chesil bank; but there are few shoals: it is protected by—coast-gd. stations, and about 13 lights (including Beachey head 475 ft. high, the Eddystone, Lizard, and Casquets); and the ports, etc. are, Dover (the nearest to France[1]) where a harb. of refuge is making, Shoreham, Portsmo' inside Spithead, Cowes in I. of Wight, Southampton, St. Helier's in Chan. Islds., Poole, Weymouth where the Portland breakwater is making, Bridport, Exeter, Dartmo', Plymo' inside the Sound and breakwater, Falmo', Penzance in Mount's Bay, and St. Mary's in Scilly Islds. The W. coast of 750 m., is cliff throughout (500 to 750 ft. high at Gt. Orme's head), except from Point of Ayr round to Walney islds.; and has—coast-gd. stations, 35 principal lights (12 on rocks or shoals), and ports at Barnstaple on the bay (Lundy islds. in front), Bridgwater on the bay, Bristol at the head of Brist. chan. or Severn's mouth, Newport, Swansea on the bay, Carmarthen on the bay, Milford Haven, St. Bride's bay and islds., Aberystwith on Cardigan bay, Holyhead harb. of refuge on Anglesey islds. near Carnarvon bay, Rhyl bathg. place, Chester on the Dee (full of sands), Liverpool on the Mersey, and Livpl. bay (with several sands in it), Fleetwood on the Wyre, Lancaster in Morecambe bay (full of sands), Whitehaven, Carlisle in Solway Frith (full of sands), Douglas in I. of Man. There are upwards of 148 lights of all kinds round the coast (exclusive of 9 in Man, and 68 in Scotld.), 92 being general, and 16 floating lights; the dues collected in '32 were 240,000*l.*, the maintenance being 75,000*l.* Total coast-gd. stations 255, with 60 revenue cutters, under a comptroller, vice comp., 60 inspecting officers, and about — chief officers and men.

3. REAL PROPERTY, POOR RATE, ETC.

Real property (1815) 51,151,653*l.*; ('43) 82,436,913*l.*, of which (about 26¼ million £ is laid in Midsx., Lanc., York.) 37,795,905*l.* is on lands, 34,957,347*l.* on houses, 1,786,943*l.* on tithes, 136,828*l.* on quarries, 1,775,385*l.* on mines, 376,472*l.* on ironworks, 10,967*l.* on fisheries, 1,204,196*l.* on canals, 2,395,222*l.* on rails.[1] Ditto rentals 29,252,542*l.* (under deduction of 10 per cent. for fall in currency[2]), or 18*s.* 1½*d.* per acre (when wheat was 77*s.*); and 37,795,905*l.* or 23*s.* 5½*d.* per acre (wheat 55*s.*). —— County income ('48) 1,363,461*l.*, of which 616,596*l.* from co. rate, on valuations amounting to 48,169,589*l.* (exclusive of Cornw., Ruts.), made between 1739 and 1844, — 182,230*l.* from police r., 258,883*l.* from the Treasury. ——Poor rate (yr. 1846-7) for 550 unions (592 Engld. and Wales) 5,006,750*l.* on 64,379,964*l.*, or 1*s.* 6¾*d.* in the £ (wheat being 59*s.*); cases relieved 1,385,890 (out-door 1,165,415) or 6·8 per cent. in estimated pop. of 14,035,131. The assessment varies from 63 to 94 per cent., or is about 80 on the average, of the real property; further, 62 per cent. is on lands, 31 on houses. In 1776, the expend. was 1¾ million £; in 1803, 5¼ millions; in '33, 8¾ millions; in '46, 6¾ millions. For the year ending Ladyday '50, it was 5,395,022*l.* for Engld. and Wales (2,912,613*l.* for out-door relief), or 7 per cent. less than '49; but the total expend. for all purposes, including medical relief, vaccination and registration fees, etc. was nearly 7 millions, levied on 67¼ millions, or 8*s.* per head of pop., with wheat at 42*s.* 7*d.* Up to 1 Jan. '51, in the 606 unions with 13,952 parishes, there was a decrease of 7·4 per cent. in persons relieved (14·7 per cent. in grown able-bodied paupers) since '50, —while 2000 persons had been assisted to emigrate; and for half year to Ladyday '51, in 607 unions with 13,975 pars., there was a decrease of 8 per cent. compared with '50. About 530 pars. with 1½ million souls are out of union. The unions are under 22,000 guardians (one in five being ex officio), and 12,000 officers are employed. Nearly 3-5ths of those born are brought to be vaccinated. In '47-8, for Engld. and Wales, the rate in the £ was 1*s.* 10*d.* and per centage of poor 11·8; while for Scotld. and Ireld. they were 1*s.* 10½*d.* and 17·8, and 1*s.* 2*d.* and 8·6, respectively. ——Total val. of endowed charities (Engld. and Wales) 1,209,396*l.*, of which 312,545*l.* for schools and education [illegible]2,048*l.* for 434 grammar schools). Of 28,840 endowed charities in Engld. and Wales, 13,000 are less than 5*l.* a year, 5000 under 60*l.*, 4000 under 100*l.* By a late act they are to be managed by a board of five commissioners. —— Savings banks ('49) 456, with 24,678,645*l.* from 888,141 depositors. ——In '38-9, above 119,527 m. of road in Engld. and Wales (there were above 123,000 m. in '43), included above 2868 m. of paved streets and roads in towns, 19,666 m. of turnpike; the total cost was 1,267,848*l.* (1,551,336*l.* in '43), and the debt above 5½ million £ (8¼ millions in '47, and income 1½). They are on the whole better managed and better laid out in Scotld. and Ireld. than in Engld. From Jan. 1839 to June '49, 1650 new streets, 200 m. long, with 64,000 houses, were built within the London metropolitan district, which includes all the outskirts (where buildings spring up most rapidly), and may give a rough average of the number of houses to a street, their length, etc.

4. EDUCATION, CRIME, ETC.

In '46-7 (according to the National Society's Returns) out of 11,853 pars. and districts (including I. of Man, but except Monmo', which is reckoned with WALES) 10,997 had 20,350 church schools, supported by 802,461*l.* with 1,301,863 child. (or 1 in 11½) attending, and 25,611 paid teachers (4051 being monitors), whose salaries were 568,448*l.* and who had 8446 teachers' houses; out of these 625 were free schools, and 3641 sund. sch. (exclusively, — with 49,635 gratuitous teachers and 404,559 child.); and 8014 in union with the National Soc. had 733,169 child., and received total grants of 278,691*l.* Between 10,000 and 11,000 church schools are now in union with the National Society, according to the latest returns. The British and Foreign School Society take no account of sunday schools, and there is no accurate list of their day schools. No information is afforded by the Wesleyan, Congregational, and other bodies. The Sunday School Union Report gives 239,429 child. in 1583 sund. schools. Of children who go to school, it is observed that 35 per cent. are taken away under 7 yrs. old, 62 per cent. under 10 yrs., and only 8 p. c. remain above 12 yrs. Church schools receive 79 per cent. of the gov. grant (which is made in proportion to the sums contributed), British and Foreign Society schools 9. —— Offenders in '48, 29,427 (or 21,888 av. of 5 yrs.), of whom 22,277 were convicted (12 hung), 5552 were females, 1072 under 15 yrs. of age, 7373 could not read or write. In '50, the committals in Engld. and Wales were 26,813 (or 3·6 per cent. less than '49), of whom 20,537 were convicted. About 60 per cent. of those imprisoned are under 1 month (chiefly as vagrants, trespassers, etc.); of those convicted after trial, 40 per cent. are under 3 months, and 50 from 3 to 12 months. For many years past murder has been the only crime punished with death. —— Following the Sup. Registry districts of '45, including Wales (total pop. 15,914,148 + 198,571), the 'births' were 543,251 (1 in 31) of whom 265,103 were females, 38,241 or 7 per cent. illegit.; 'deaths' 349,366 or 1 in 46; 'marriages' 143,743 (at church 129,515) or 1 in 127, — of which 118,894 persons (71,229 being women) or 41·4 per cent. signed with marks. In '48, births were 563,059 (36,747 illegit.); deaths 399,800; marriages 138,230 (115,937 marks): — in '50, births 578,159 (39,334 illegit.); deaths 440,853; marriages 141,883 (at church 123,182) of whom 109,162 persons signed with marks. The last quarterly return for July '51 comprised 2189 sub-registries in Engld. and Wales, in 623 superintendent registrars' districts; including more than 12,000 churches or chapels, 2869 registered places of worship. About 6,613,000 persons (7,796,000 in '51) are in 117 districts, comprising the chief towns, with a mortality of 2·4 per cent.; and 9,301,200 (10,627,000 in '51) are in 506 districts among the small towns and country parts, with a mortality of 2 per cent. —— In the County Courts ('48), 427,600 causes were entered, for sums amounting to 13,446,800*l.* (32,520 above 10*l.* each, 16,500 under 1*l.*), and the fees were 234,270*l.*

5. POPULATION.

Population (1801) 8,331,434, ('21) 11,261,437, ('41) 14,995,138, — having increased, since 1801, 62½ per cent.; in '41, there were 5·441 souls per house, 297·6 per sq. mile, 1 per 2·15 acres of land.

[1] The Select Committee on the Law of Partnership state that in 33 yrs. (between the Peace and 1848) whilst lands in Gt. Brit. have increased only 8,500,000*l.* in annual value, or little more than 5 per cent., messuages (being chiefly houses, manufactories, and warehouses in and near towns, inhabited by persons depending on trade and commerce) have augmented above 26,000,000*l.* in an. val., or 30 per cent.; and the value of rails., gas-works, and property held in shares as personal property, had increased 12-fold.

[2] See M'Culloch's Account of the British Empire, from which the substance of this sketch is drawn.

Taking Engld. and Wales, the pop. (1801) is 8,872,980, ('21) 11,978,875, ('41) 15,906,741, which gives an increase of 61·7 per cent. since 1801, 275·144 souls per sq. m., 1 to 2·33 acres, and 5·403 per house (7½ in London, 9 in Plymo' and Devonport, 5 to 7 elsewhere); about 5 millions were gathered in 90 towns (each exceeding a pop. of 10,000) where the increase, 1831-41, was 20·2 per cent., while the country parts increased only 11·2 per cent. [From the Tables of Population and Houses for the Census of 1851, it appears that the pop. of Engld. and Wales for 1851 is 17,877,473 (exclusive of seamen, etc. on board, who otherwise make it 17,922,768, of whom 9,160,180 are females), and taking that for 1801 at 8,892,536 (which differs from the above on account of some allowances made in the Returns for the sake of comparison), the increase since 1801, in half a century, is 101·04 per cent. (104·95 for males, 97·46 for females); or 14, 18, 16, 14, 13 at each of the censuses; or 1·41 yearly (1·45 males, 1·37 females). Since '41 the increase is 13 per cent.; or taking it roughly, from the middle of '41 to that of '51, it increased 2,047,000; i. e. 204,700 yearly, 3923 weekly, 560 daily.] Although about 1-20th (in Wales 1-24th, in Scotld. 1-9th) more males are born than females, yet, such is the wear and tear of the sex, that the Pop. Returns invariably show an excess of females. — Out of a very large number of persons born, only 75 per cent. on the average live to be 5 yrs. old (the other 25 per cent. dying before that age), 70 per cent. to 10 yrs., 66 p. c. to 20 yrs., 60 p. c. to 30 yrs., 54 p. c. to 40 yrs., 46 p. c. to 50 yrs., 38 p. c. to 60 yrs., 24½ p. c. to 70 yrs., 9 p. c. to 80 yrs., 1 p. c. to 90 yrs.; females living longer on the average, for which reason life offices charge, or ought to charge, a lower premium. Again, out of a large number alive, 15 per cent. are under 5 yrs., 13 p. c. are 5 to 9 yrs., 11 p. c. are 10-14 yrs., 10 p. c. are 15-19 yrs., 16 p. c. are 20-29 yrs., 12 p. c. are 30-39 yrs., 9 p. c. are 40-49 yrs., 7 p. c. are 50-59 yrs., 5 p. c. are 60-69 yrs., 2 p. c. are 70-79 yrs. Thus, in a large town, if you want to know, pretty nearly, how many are under 15 yrs., add the per centages 15, 13, and 11, which gives 39 per cent.; or if you want to know how many are between 5 and 15 yrs. (usually the extreme ages of those who go to school), add the per centages 13 and 11, and you get 28 per cent., or above one-fourth of the pop. — In the great towns, London, Manchester, Liverpool, etc., the mortality per cent. ranges from 2·5 to 3·5 (in Liv.) against 1·8 to 1·9 in the country parts of Kent and Surrey; among soldiers 1·5 per cent. die (8 to 12 p. c. in W. Indies), or 10 to 16 p. c. in war; in the police 1 p. c., in public hospitals 3 to 9 p. c., in workhouses 18 to 29 p. c., in lunatic asylums 26 p. c.: the mortality in prisons is 60 to 100 p. c. higher than in the ordinary pop.; and among Cornish miners about 12 p. c. higher than among other labourers. About 2·45 to 2·76 p. c. of members of benefit societies are sick on the average; 2·81 of the police (10 dys. a year to each), 4½ to 5 in the army, 2·1 in gaols. It is observed by Mr. Farr, that when virulent diseases, as cholera and small pox, are raging, the fatal cases, after the first heavy attack, decrease by a regular law about 12 p. c. daily. — A thousand (1000) persons increasing 5 per cent. in 30 years, will in a century grow to 1176 persons, and will double in 426 yrs.; increasing 10 per cent., in the same term they will grow to 1374, and double in 218 yrs.; increasing 20 per cent., they will grow to 1836, and double in 114 yrs.; increasing 30 per cent., they will grow to 2398, and double in 79 yrs.; increasing 40 per cent., they will grow to 3070, and double in 62 yrs.[1] —— Pop. of the Brit. Islds. in 1800, about 15,800,000; on 28 May 1821, 21,202,966 (including 319,300 army and navy, 89,508 Chan. Islds. and Man); on 30 May 1831, 24,410,429 (including 277,017, and 103,710, for the same), which gives an increase of 15·1 per cent.; on 7 June 1841, 27,019,588 (including 193,460, and 124,040, for the same), which gives an increase of 10·6 per cent.; — or taking it at 26,707,065 (exclusive of the same, but including travellers by rail.), to 31,527 sq. m. of land, we have 224½ persons per sq. m., but 221½ persons if 984 sq. m. of water are added in.[2] [Taking the pop. of Gt. Britain on 31 Mar. '51, at 21,104,072 (exclusive of 167,614 army and navy), and that of Ireland at 6,515,794 (exclusive of — for the same), the total pop. of the Brit. Islds. is 27,619,866 (or 27½ millions), or hardly 3 per cent. more than in '41; whereas, had the pop. of Ireland increased as usual instead of falling off, the total might have exceeded 29½ millions, or about 10 per cent. more.] The gross income of the people of Gt. Brit. is estimated at 360 to 380 millions, taking it at 18*l.* or 19*l.* per head for 20 millions of pop.; that of Ireld. may be taken at 7½*l.* per head extra.

6. GEOLOGICAL FORMATIONS.

Every variety of rock or earth known to geologists, from the newest (on the E.) to the oldest (on the W.), is found in this island: for example, a line from Harwich, along the E. Counties and Gt. Western rails. to Exeter, Lostwithiel, and Land's End, passes through the crag and clays of Essex; the clays and sands of Midsx.; the chalk and marl of Berks.; the oolite and greensand of Wilts.; the coal (Bristol), lias, and red marl of Somers.; the new red sandstone, grit, granite (Dartmoor), and carboniferous limest. of Devon.; the killas or clay slate, and granite of Cornw.: trap (at the Lizard), and mica slate (at the Start), are not far from this line. Again, a line from Dungeness (or by rail. from Brighton) to London, and thence by the N. Western up to Carlisle, cuts through the Wealdon clays and chalk, etc. of Kent and Sussex; the chalk, marl, sand, and clay of Surrey; the clay and sand of Midsx.; the chalk, greensand, and oolite of Bucks.; the oolite of Nhmptn.; the red marl and new red sandst. (Birmingham) of Warwk.; the silurian rocks (Walsall), coal (Dudley, Wolverhampton), magnesian limest., new red sandst. of Staffd.; the red marl and new red sandst. of Chesh.; the coal, grit, and new red sandst. of Lanc.; and, lastly, the silurian and primary rocks of Westmrld. and Cumbrld., — having the granite and coal towards the coast. Or, follow the Gt. Northern and N. of Engld. rails. from London to York and Berwick, and we have the same variety of rocks, except those of the primitive formation. Except the iron in the greensand and clays, and occasional veins of copper pyrites, no mineral of any consequence is found E. of a line from Portland thro' Leicester to Hartlepool, — a line which marks the natural division of the purely agricultural and manufacturing districts; for as lime, chalk, sand, clay, etc. on the E.

[1] D. Gilbert, in the Parochial Hist. of Cornwall.

[2] Including the E. Indies and colonies, the whole British empire contains above 3 million sq. m., and 166⅔ million souls, that is, one-sixth of the world.

are the true fertilizers of the soil, and contribute to the perfection of husbandry, so the rocks on the other side are rich with coal and metals, and other elements of manufacturing prosperity. But even those on the E. are made useful: the flints in the chalk are sent to the Potteries, sand to the glass works; clay is turned into coarse earthenware, etc. Elephant and other bones have been found in some of the newest formations along the E. coast (and also near the chalk at Brighton), where immense numbers of stones, containing phosphate of lime, are ground down to a rich manure; fossil saurians in the Weald of Sussex, in the I. of Wight, and in the lias about Lyme, etc., whence it stretches thro' the country to Whitby, where saurians again have been found. The regularity and position of beds of sea shells, gravel, sand, raised beaches (as in W. Cornw., and near Preston in Lanc.), prove, according to the geologists, that they were once under the sea or freshwater; while the manner in which the granite, basalt, and carboniferous limest. run in and out among other rocks, show as certainly that they have been melted by fire. Freestone for building and cement, marble and chert, fullers' earth, etc., are quarried in the oolite and lias, where the Bath, Cheltenham, and the best mineral waters are observed; chalk is the basis of the round green S. Downs of Sussex, Wilts., the highest point of it being Wallbury Hill or Inkpen Beacon; ironstone is found near the coal; the best building stone in the magnesian limestone (W. R. York.); lead in the mountain or carbonif. limest. (of Devon., Derby., N. R. York., Northmbrld., and I. of Man), which is usually rugged, broken, and full of deep valleys or caves, while the slate and granite of Devon. and Cornw., affording tin, copper, manganese, with traces of silver and gold, are in general smooth and barren; the new red sandstone of Worcest. and Chesh. yields salt. A line from Dorchester to the Wash divides, in a rough way, brick-built from stone-built houses, — the latter lying to the W., and the distribution being more marked in vils. than towns.

Most of the great rivers flow E., from a ridge which, under various names, runs from Cumbrld. to the Land's End, — the E. side being the most fertile, rich, and populous, and the W. the most hilly. On or near this ridge, the highest points are: Cheviot 2568 ft., on the Border in Northmbrld.; Scafell 3166, Helvellyn 3055, and Skiddaw 3022, in Cumbrld.; Ingleboro' 2361, in W. R. York.; Kinderscout 2150, in the Peak of Derby.; Malvern 1444, in Worcest.; Cleeve Hill 1134, in the oolite of the Cotswolds, Gloucest.; Dunkerry Beacon 1668, in Somers.; Dartmoor 2077 (Yes Tor), in Devon.; Carraton Hill 1208, in Cornw. Other points in the middle and E. are Bardon Hill 853 ft. (with a vast view) in Leicest.; Nettlebed Mill 820, in Oxfd.; Wendover Hill 905, in Bucks.; Kensworth 904, in Herts.; Westbury Down 775, in Wilts.; Inkpen Beacon 1011, in Hants.; Pilsdown Pen 934, in Dorset.; Hind Head 923, in Surrey; Ditchling Beacon 858, in Sussex; most of them being on the lias and chalk, or near these rocks.

Av. fall of rain, near London, 23 inches (or see GREENWICH), and av. evaporation 24 in.; most rain (30 to 51 in.) falls in the W. or hilly parts of the country, and the rainy days are 140 to 180 in the year; N. winds are to S. as 19 to 17. Mean range of temp. 18° to 80°, the mean being 47½° to 52½° for the year, or 59½ to 64½° in summer, 37½ to 44½° winter; along the S. coast at Hastings, Undercliff, Torbay, Looe, Penzance, it is some degrees higher than in the midlands; but though milder here, the climate is less bracing. Nearly 40 species of quadrupeds and mammalia (including whales and seals in the N.) are natives, with about 274 species of birds, 170 fish, 4 or 5 reptiles (the worst being the viper), 430 testacea or shell fish, and 7000 insects. The roebuck was hunted in Northmbrld. down to Geo. I.

7. MINERALS.

Coal, which more than any other mineral promotes our manufacturing prosperity, is worked in Northmbrld. and Durh. round Newcastle, etc. (the best), the field being 700 sq. m., at 12 ft. thick on the average, 600 yds. deep in one part; in Cumbrld. at Whitehaven, Workington, etc., 300 yds. deep, right under the sea; W. R. York. round Barnsley (the thickest seams in this part), Halifax, etc.; S. Lancash. from Burnley to Prescot (cannel coal at Wigan); E. Derb. near Butterley, etc.; E. Chesh. near Stourport, and W. Chesh. at Parkgate; N. Staffd. at the Potteries, and round Cheadle, — in S. Stafd., at Wolverhampton (30 to 45 ft. thick, the thickest bed in Engld.), Bilston, Walsall, Dudley; Leicest. round Ashby-de-la-Zouch; Warwk. near Atherstone; E. Salop, at Broseley, Coalbrookdale, and above Stourport; W. Gloucest. in Forest of Dean, a very regular basin, — S. Glouc. and N. Somers. about Bristol, Kingswood, Radstock (about 400 yds. deep); in W. Monmo', at Bedwelty, etc., a part of the welsh field, wherein anthracite is worked; Bovey lignite, or wood coal, is found in Devon., Sussex (Waldron), York.; parret or cannel coal at Wemyss, and splint coal at Glasgow (SCOTLAND). The Newcastle and Welsh fields contain a supply for 3000 yrs. Above 40 millions of tons a year are used and exported, of which London takes 3, Ireld. and foreign markets 4, the iron works 9, the potteries and railways ¾ each; and it employs about 177,000 persons in one way or another: there was a duty on it when sea-borne till 1830.—— Iron, where found, usually lies near the coal by which it is smelted, and is worked in York., Lancash. (in Furness, where red hæmatite or soft iron for wire is got, as well as in Cumbrld.), Derby., Stafd. (the richest, — about Wolverhampton, etc.), Worcest. (Dudley), Salop (Coalbrookdale), Leicest., Glouc. (Forest of Dean), Monmo' (Tredegar), Somers. (a little, — mentioned at 'Domesday'), Devon. and Cornw. (hæmatite); in '46 about 1,900,000 tons were made in Gt. Britain (600,000 in Stafd., and a total of 1,300,000 in Engld. and Wales[1]) by 500 furnaces, worth about 6*l.* per ton; of this 3-10ths was pig or cast iron, and 450,000 t. were exported; it employs about 20,000,000*l.* capital, and 125,000 to 150,000 persons.—— Tin is found in Cornw. (from the earliest times) and Devon. producing 50,000 t. at 65*l.* to 80*l.*—— Copper, in Cornw. (where the tinners, till 1735, threw it away as 'poder,' or rubbish), Devon., Stafd. (Ecton); in '48, the av. sales of 5 years at Swansea (where it is all smelted), from nearly 100 mines, was 172,000 t. of ore, or 13,650 t. of metal, worth 70*l.* a ton; cap. 2,000,000*l.*, and 55,000 persons (in Unit. Kingd.).—— Lead, in Durh., Northmbrld. (Alston), Cumbrld. (with graphite, or 'black lead,' at Borrowdale), N. R. York., Salop, Derby. (before the Conquest), Stafd. (Ecton), Leicest., Somers. (a little), Cornw., Devon., I. of Man; about

[1] In '40, 1,150,000 t. were made, of which 505,000 were in Wales.

51,000 t., of which one-half yields 8 oz. of silver per ton. — About 4000 t. of manganese are got in Devon. and Cornw. to colour china; tellurium, tungsten, uranium, antimony (also in Cumbrld., Westmrld.), indeed almost every kind of mineral, in Cornw., where the 'mundic,' which they throw away, contains much iron, sulphur, tin, silver, etc.; zinc is found near copper, in Derby., I. of Man. Building stone at Portland, round Bath, W. R. York. (Roche Abbey, etc.), and in many parts,—there being scarcely any sort, from the soft chalk marl in I. of Wight, and the ragstone of Kent, to the hard granite, but what is turned to account by house builders; slate in Devon., Cornw., I. of Man, Westmrld.; grindstones from the grit at Newcastle (Gateshead), Wickersley (6 ft. diam. for the Sheffield cutlers); granite in Cornw., Devon. (Dartmoor), Chan. Islds.; marble in Derby. and Staffd.; salt (which bore a duty till '23), in the brine springs and rocks of Chesh. (Northwich), and Worcest. (Droitwich), which produce 360,000 tons (or 22 lbs. per head of pop.) yearly, besides 340,000 t. exported,—and employ (in Chesh.) 300 flats or barges, 8000 persons, and a cap. of 700,000*l.*; lime in great abundance, especially in the Midland and E. counties, for whitewash, mortar; fullers' earth in I. of Wight, Surrey. Total an. value of mineral produce 33,000,000*l.*

8. MANUFACTURES.

The woollen manufact., first improved by the Flemings of Edw. III.'s time, is chiefly carried on in W. R. York. (Leeds), Gloucest. (Stroud), Wilts. (Bradford), Somers., Dorset.; worsted in Norf'k. (Norwich), W. R. York. (Bradford), Lanc. (Rochdale); and yarn spun in Lanc. and Leicest. Crapes and shawls are made at Norwich, Yarmo', Bocking, Braintree, — indianas, etc. at Norwich, Heveningham, Harlestone, Kidderminster,—buntings and baizes at Sudbury,—fustians in Lancash., —alpaca at Bradford, — tweeds, etc. at Trowbridge and Westbury, — blankets at Frome, Melksham, Calne, Dewsbury, Witney (a few),—druggets in Cumbrld. (Carlisle), Westmrld., Lanc. (Bury), Hants. (Andover, etc.),—serges or long ells at Wellington (Somers.), Okehampton, Ashburton, Buckfastleigh, etc. in Devon.,—mohair at Lakenham — haircloth at Warminster and Bristol (horse-hair seats),—pilot cloth at Witney,—carpets at Kidderminster (with foreign rugs, waistcoat piecings), Bridgnorth, Axminster, Wilton, — woollen hose, shirts, etc. in Leicest. (Loughboro', Hinckley, etc.), — flannels in N. WALES; horse-hair weaving at Worcester, Sheffield. Total an. val. about 24 million £ (Gt. Brit.), of which the wool is 12, wages 7, profits 4, — and including 1¼ for stockings, which employs about 14,000 frames. In '45, 77 million lbs. of wool were imported (32 from New S. Wales and other colonies, 18 from the Hanse Towns), and 2½ exported (chiefly to Belgium); val. of woollen goods exported 8¾ million £ (in '50, it was upwards of 10 million £). — Cotton goods, the most important of our manufactures, are made in Lancash. (Manchester, chiefly), York., Chesh. (Stockport), Derby., Staffd., also Notts. and Leicest. (hose and bobbin-net lace[1]), to the val. of 36 million £ (only 600,000*l.* in 1766; 9 million £ in 1810), of which the profits are about 12, wages 17; employing about 250,000 power looms in '45 (282,000 in '50), with a cap. of 47 million £, and 1,200,000 persons in one way and another. In '45, 721½ million lbs. of cotton 'wool,' i. e. the vegetable as it is grown, were imported (5 millions in 1781), of which 43 millions were exported (97,000 lbs. in 1781), and 597 consumed or spun into yarn by 13 millions of mule (or machine) spindles, and 4½ of throstle (water) spindles, — "a machine of 100-horse power, moving 50,000 spindles, being able in a day of 12 hrs. to spin 62,500 miles of thread;" above 1000 tons of cotton are required daily to meet consumption; 'fine' yarn is above 60 hanks of 840 yds. each to the lb.; about 70,000 hands make bobbin-net lace, val. 2¾ million £; and 25,000 frames (in Unit. Kingd.) make 2,900,000 doz. pair of hose, val. 1 million £. In '50, 21 million £ of goods, and 7¾ million £ of yarn, were exported, of which E. Indies and Germany took 7. — Linen and flax are spun in W. R. York. (Leeds, etc.), Lancash. (Warrington), to the val. of 10 million £ (3½ for wages), by about 133,000 persons; and Claussen's discovery of flax-cotton promises to extend its growth and manufacture most beneficially in the United Kingdom. Coarse linens, sacking, ticks, sailcloth, etc. are made at Bristol (which has hemp and flax works), Newark, Stowmarket, Reading, Farnham, Maidstone (hop bags, etc.), Bridport, Crewkerne, Knaresboro'; hemp and cotton drablets for smock-frocks at Haverhill, Knaresboro'. Above 4¾ million £ worth exported in '50; and 1,822,000 cwt. of flax imported. — Silk, brought over in the 14th cent., is made in Manchester (mixed with woollen), Leeds, Spitalfields, Coventry (ribbons), Derby, Leek, Congleton, Coggeshall, Colchester, Chippenham, Halstead, Reading, Sudbury, Newbury (ribbons, etc.), and shag for silk hats at Andover, Whitchurch, Wokingham. About 6¼ million lbs. imported chiefly from France, Italy, China, India[2], are used; total val. of goods made (Unit. Kingd.) about 10½ million £, of which broad silks are 3¾, ribbons 1¾. Cards and spindles are made in York. and Lancash.

Hardware, including every sort of iron and steel and other metal goods, are made chiefly at and round Birmingham (in Warwh., Worcest., Staffd.) and Sheffield, — and the heavier kinds in Salop (Coalbrookdale), Lancash., Mmmo', etc. At Birmingham, among about 200 distinct articles, they make fire arms, steam engines, brass, albata plate, hooks and eyes, lamps, japanned goods, buttons (of metal, bone, horn, pearl, china clay), metal toys and trinkets, steel pens (above 300 millions a year), tools, tin plate, screws, spoons, steel, wire; locks, japan wares, saddlers' ironmongery at Wolverhampton; japan wares, etc. at Bilston; nails, saddlery, etc. at Wednesbury; nails, etc. at Dudley and Stourbridge; screws at Sedgley. Sheffield makes cutlery, edge tools, britannia plate, german silver, steel, files, railway carriage springs, screws, grates and fire irons, percussion caps, type, vices and hinges; files, tools, at Warrington; files at Miles Platting; nails at Wigan, Leigh, Billinge, etc. in Lancash.; pins (3000 hands) at Warrington, Birmingham, Gloucester, Bristol, Stroudwater, Deptford; needles and fish-hooks at Redditch, Long Crendon, Alcester, Sheffield; cutlery at Salisbury; spindles at Manchester; machinery at Liverpool, Birmingham, Manchester, London, Leeds, etc. About 300,000 persons are employed in the hardware trade; and the an. val. is upwards

[1] Bobbin-net or machine lace also in Derby. (Belper, etc.), Somers. (Chard), Devon. (Barnstaple, Sidmouth, Exmo', Axminster, Honiton, etc.), I. of Wight (Newport); pillow lace in Beds., Bucks. (Cowper's 'Yon cottager who weaves at her own door'), Northmptn., Oxfd., Devon., etc.

[2] A little native silk has been produced by rearing silk-worms in Cornwall (M'Culloch).

of 17 million £. Above 2½ million £ worth of hardware and cutlery exported in '50. — Watches (val. 1¾ million £) are made at Clerkenwell, Coventry, Liverpool, Edinbro'; watch tools at Prescott; watch chains at Christchurch. Jewellery, in London, Edinbro', Dublin, and other great towns.

Leather and shoes, etc. to the val. of 16 million £, employing 287,000 persons, are made at Bermondsey, Northampton, Wellingboro', Rothingboro', Kettering, Stafford, Norwich, Bicester (slippers); saddlery at London, and other great towns; gloves at Woodstock, Worcester, Yeovil, London, Ludlow, Leominster, — those of silk and cotton being made in Notts. and Leicest. Gutta percha, a solid vegetable juice first brought from the East 1840-5, is now much used for soles, and in the making of many useful and ornamental articles, — for which also caoutchouc, a similar substance, is employed.

Pottery, which has superseded the old wooden and pewter platter, is made in Staffd. (chiefly) at The Potteries, Northmbrld., Durh., York., — also at Worcester (good china), Derby, Colebrookdale, Lambeth (stone ware), and many other places where clay exists for the coarser sorts; fine clays and sands are supplied from Cornw. and Devon. (soapstone and manganese), Dorset., I. of Wight, etc. An. value about 2½ million £, of which The Potteries make 1¾ million, and 1 million is exported ('50). The duty on bricks was repealed 1850.

Plate Glass is made at Ravenhead, St. Helen's, Newcastle, Shields, Blackwall, Birmingham, etc.; crown (or window), sheet, and bottle glass at Birmingham (which furnished that for the Great Exhibition), Dudley (flint or crystal), Stourbridge, Liverpool, Warrington, — in Yorksh. (Leeds), Bristol. About 330,000 cwts. were made '42, but the manufacture has greatly increased since the duty was taken off.

Paper (worth 2 million £, employing 30,000 hands and 800 mills in Unit. Kingd.), is made in Kent, Bucks., Herts. (Dickinson's mills, etc.), Surrey, Devon., Derby., also Lanc. and York. (brown, from woollen rags) wherever good water can be got. In London, the centre of the book trade, nearly 3000 works (with new editions) a year are published, worth about 450,000*l.*; and 230 monthly and quarterly magazines produce 500,000*l.* The stamp duty on — newspapers in '45, was 327,682*l.*, besides 157,274*l.* on advertisements; in '50, 65¾ million 1*d.* stamps, and 11¾ million ½*d.* stamps, were used by 159 London papers (with 891,650 advertisements[1]), and 222 english provincials (875,631 advert.); 7¾ million 1*d.* and ¼ million ½*d.* by 110 scottish papers (249,141 advert.); million 1*d.* and ½ million ½*d.* by 102 irish papers (236,128 advert.).

Malt, which is made from barley chiefly, and sometimes from oats, beans, and peas, is brewed into porter in London (2 million barrels) and Dublin, and into ale at Burton-on-Trent, Alton, Edinbro', and in Wilts. (the Kennetale): in Engld. about 32 million bushels (12 mill. in 1702) pay 4¾ million £ duty, and out of 134,000 brewers, etc. there are 90,000 retailers; in Scotld. 4 mill. bushels pay 516,000*l.* duty, and out of 16,200 brewers, etc. 15,800 are retailers; in Irld. 1½ mill. bushels pay 191,000*l.*, and out of 13,760 brewers, etc., 13,600 are retailers. In '49 about 24 million gals. of manufactured spirits paid 4¾ million £ duty in Unit. Kingd., of which 3½ were from Engld., 1¼ from Scotld.; above 10½ million gals. were imported, of which 5¾ are rum (from W. Indies and Mauritius chiefly), and 4½ are brandy. About 8 million gals. of wine were imported (6¼ being sherry and port from Spain and Portugal).

Stuff waterproof hats with a frame of wool are made in Derby., Glouc., and finished off with beaver nap (for the best) in Bermondsey and other parts of London; second or plated hats, in Lanc. (Oldham), Chesh., Staffd.; felt hats at Newcastle-under-Lyne, Atherstone, Rudgley, Bristol; also others with a leather frame. About 30,000 hands are engaged, and the an. value is 3 million £. Straw plat for bonnets in Beds., Bucks. (at Dunstable, Luton, etc.), Herts., Northmptn.

Soap is made (170¼ million lbs.) at Liverpool and London (chiefly), Runcorn, Newcastle, Brentford, Bristol, Glasgow, Paisley, Hull, etc.; candles, about 150 million lbs., val. 3¾ million £. Coaches, about 100,000 of all sorts (in Gt. Brit.) are in use, mostly made in London and Edinbro'; railway carriages at Manchester, Newcastle, Birmingham, etc. Powder at Hounslow, Dartford, Waltham; chemicals (as potash, blue, dyes for cloth, etc.) at Shields, York, Glasgow, London. Bleach, dye, and print works, are found in York., Lanc., Chesh., Derby., Notts., Renfrew., etc. in Scotld.; sound Belfast in Irld. Ships are built at London, Blackwall, Northfleet, Hull, Sunderland, Shields, Glasgow, Liverpool, Bristol, Belfast, etc.; and yachts at Cowes. Combs made at London, Kenilworth; tobacco and snuff at London, Bristol, Liverpool, etc. Other manufactures in London offer a specimen of such as are for the most part common to all great towns, as bookbinding, floor-cloths, gas, glue, artificial flowers, millinery, shirts, and other articles of clothing, lucifer matches, ornamental goods, cabinet work, boots and shoes, leather, spirits and beer, saddlery, type, turnery, boxes, rope.[2]

9. FISHERIES.

The val. of fisheries is reckoned at 4½ million £ for the Unit. Kingd. Salmon are caught in the Trent, Severn, Tweed (4000 boxes), in Engld., — Tay, Spey, etc. in Scotld., — Bann, Foyle, Boyne, Shannon, in Irelnd., and sent, packed in ice, to Liverpool and London (about 3 millions, val. 130,000*l.*); some are kippered or cured by peat smoke. Herrings, on the E. coast (July and Aug.) at Wick, Peterhead, Frazerburgh, Banff, Lybster (and Greenock, L. Fyne, etc. on W. coast), in Scotld., — Sunderland, Yarmo' (where bloaters are cured), and other parts of Engld. and in the I. of Man; in '44, 665,356 barrels were cured in Gt. Brit., employing 14,067 boats, 60,457 hands (or 98,124 persons altogether). Pilchards, in Cornw., in Mount's Bay, St. Ive's, etc., whence 21,000 hhds. were sent to the Mediterranean in '42; cap. about 25,000*l.* Cod, in N. Sea; and with ling, dog-fish, etc. in Orkney and

[1] Advertisements are usually profitable to newspapers; but it appears that at a certain point their gains are balanced by heavy paper duties, and restrictions on the size. This point is easily reached by The Times, which otherwise could afford to give ten supplements full of advertisements for the one it now makes the public a present of.

[2] See Mayhew's London Labour and the London Poor, for a curious and instructive account of the small trades of London, and the manner in which the poor live.

Western Islds., and W. coast of Ireld. Mackerel, haddocks, hake, etc. in the Channel and N. Sea; and haddocks also in Aberd., where the 'Finnan haddle' is cured. Lobsters, coast of I. of Wight, York., Shetland Islds. Oysters, shores of Essex and Kent (where natives are bred) in the Thames; also at Poole, Jersey, Carlingford, etc. Whitebait in the Thames; shrimps at Gravesend, Pegwell bay, etc.; prawns in I. of Wight.

10. AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE.

The counties most noted for dairy produce, as butter, cheese, and for cider, are on the W., including Chesh., Herefd., Worcest., Gloucest., Somers., Devon., Wilts., Dorset., with W. R. York., Derby., Camb., Suffk., Essex, Bucks.; those for tillage and rearing stock are Leicest., Northmptn., and the Midland counties, with Somers., Durh., E. R. York., Susx., — the best farming being in Norfk. (where the 4-shift is practised, i. e. turnips or potatoes, then barley or wheat, then clover, then oats), Suffk., Esx., Linc., Kent, Northmbrld. Wheat, which likes a clay soil, is sown broadcast (being first pickled against smut), 2 or 3 bush. an acre, producing 14 to 66 bush. (say 4 qrs. on the av.) of 60 lbs. each of grain, — while they reckon that 14 lbs. of grain gives 12½ of flour, and 28 straw; the best is grown in Kent, Susx., Esx., Norfk., Ruts., Herts., Bucks., Hants., Herefd., Linc.; and the harvest in general begins between 25 July (in the S.) and 3 weeks later (in the N.). Barley, used for bread in Wales, Westmrld., Cumbrld., and for malt and fattening stock, is grown in Norfk., Suffk., Camb., Beds., Leic., Notts., Herefd., Warwk., Salop, 2 bush. of seed drilled, or 3 broadcast, yielding 30 to 45 bush. (say 4¼ qrs.) of 54 lbs. each; rye (5 qrs.) in Northmbrld., Durh., York., where they mix it with wheat for maslin bread.

Oats are grown, on old grass or stony lands, for horses (and bread in some parts), in Northmbrld., N. R. York., the fen lands of Notts., Linc., Cambr., etc., I. of Thanet, and other parts, — the dun oat being used in Chesh., N. Derby. (for bread), Staffd., and the naked pillar oat (for poultry) in Cornw.; 5 lbs. of seed per acre give 20 to 80 bush. (5 qrs.). Beans (20 to 44 bush.) which are drilled in, are grown in the clay lands of Glouc., Esx., Kent, Beds., Hunts., Somers., etc.; peas (20 bush.) in Midsx., Kent, Suffk., etc.; turnips (first grown about 1640) in the light sandy soils of Linc. (where the crops are 5 to 10 times heavier since the use of bone manure), Norfk., Northmbrld. (drilled), Durh., Oxfd., Beds., Esx., Herts., Susx., Wilts., Hants., yielding 5 to 15 tons per acre when sown broadcast, or 25 to 30 drilled in; potatoes (8 to 12 tons) in Lancash., Chesh. (about Altrincham, etc.), Cumbrld., York. (on the warp lands), Esx., Wilts., Devon., Cornw.; tares (10 tons) are grown for cattle; clover, of various sorts, as red, dutch (or white), yellow (or trefoil); sainfoin for hay, on the Cotswolds, and chalk downs of Hants., etc.; lucerne in Kent and Susx.; cole or rape (40 to 50 bush.), in Northmptn. and Leicest. for the sheep, and in York. and Linc. for oil-cake; mangold wurzel or beet root (18 to 40 tons); carrots (350 to 800 bush.) in the light soils of Suffk., Worcest. (about Wolverley for seed), Norfk.; parsnips chiefly in the Chan. Islds.; canary, radish, and spinach, I. of Thanet, for seed; saffron, in Suffk., from Saffron Walden to Newmarket; chicory, coriander, in Esx., with teazle, which is also raised in York.; madder and woad, in Sury. (Banstead Downs) and Kent; mustard, Cambr. near Wisbeach; liquorice, W. R. York., near Ripley and Pomfret (where they make the cakes of it); camomile in Derby., also in Sury. about Mitcham, which is famous for its herbs and simples; flax and hemp, in Dorset. (Bridport), Somers. (Frome), Cambr. (Chatteris), — hemp is also grown in Lancash., and flax at Trininghaм and Patrington, following oats. Hops are grown (since Hen. VIII.) in Kent (about Maidstone, Canterbury, etc.), Sury. (Farnham, the best), E. Susx., Herefd., Worc., Suffk. (Stowmarket), Notts. (Retford, a few), the produce (1 to 20 cwt.) being very uncertain; in '45, about 48,000 ac. paid 274,800*l.* duty at 2*d.* per lb.; cherries and filberts in Kent (since Hen. VIII.); apples and pears in all the S. and W. counties, — cider and perry being made in Herefd. and Glouc. (the best cider), Worcest. (the best perry), Devon., Monmo', Radnor. Dr. Playfair says, that as food for man, 3½ lbs. of beans are equal to 3½ of peas, 4 of lean meat, 7½ flour or bread or barley meal, 9 oatmeal, 25 cow's milk, 50 carrots or potatoes, 100 turnips. For fattening cattle, 100 lbs. of av. natural meadow hay are equal to 22 of oil cake, 23 of field beans, 26 seed vetches, 65 oats or barley, 85 bran, 135 wheat chaff, 83 lucerne hay, 75 red clover hay, 235 old wheat straw, 319 potatoes, 382 carrots, 548 mangold wurzel, 676 swedish turnips, 411 cabbage hearts. (See Thom's Irish Almanack.)

About one-half of the cultivated land is in grass, the best grazing grounds being in Bucks. (Vale of Aylesbury), Leicest., Northmptn., Warwk., Chesh., the marshes of Somers., Kent, Linc., where an acre will feed a bullock and 5 or 6 sheep in summer, and 3½ sheep in winter; meadow hay in Midsx. and the W. counties produces 1 to 1½ tons per acre, clover hay elsewhere and in Scotld. 1 to 3 t., sainfoin 1 to 2 t.; excellent water meadows are found in Notts., Wilts., Dorset. Large black draught flemish horses used by the London brewers, and hunters are bred in Northmptn. and Leicest.; for the saddle and draught in E. and N. R. York.; stout active punches in Suffk.; and the Clydesdale for husbandry in S. Scotld. Welsh and Galloway breeds are small; Shetland ponies, the smallest of any; the best racers are of arabian or moorish blood. About 1½ million of horses are reckoned in Gt. Britain, worth 12*l.* to 15*l.* on the av.; and they take about 1 acre in 6 for keep. Their size and condition excite the admiration of foreigners, who are accustomed to the miserable horses abroad.

Among the breeds of cattle, are the N. Devons, red, active, with middle sized horns, weighing 30 to 50 stone; large Herefd. and Susx. breeds, related to the Devons; the long bending horns of Lancash., Staffd., etc., out of which Bakewell produced his New Leicesters; the Holderness or Teeswater short horns, in York., Durh., Northmbrld., being the best milkers, and fatting well; the Suffk. duns, yielding 6 gals. of milk a day. There are about 4,520,000 head of cattle in Engld. and Wales (5,620,000 in Gt. Brit.), one in four being slaughtered a year; each cow gives 180 lbs. butter yearly on the av., and 3 to 4 cwt. cheese; about 12,000 kept in London, yielding 9 quarts a day, and are chiefly of the York. breed, while much of the meat is that of scotch cattle stall-fed in Norfk., Suffk., etc. Cattle have been much improved within the last century by systematic breeding and turnip feeding. Remains of a wild cream-coloured breed of the urus kind are kept at Chillingham, Gisburne, and at Hamilton in Scotld.

Good butter is made in Esx. (Epping), Cambr., also in Suffk., Somers., Gloucest., Oxfd. (Banbury), York., etc.; cheese in Chesh., Glouc. (20 to 80 lbs. weight), Salop, N. Wilts., Somers. (strong Cheddar), Leicest. (rich Stilton at Melton Mowbray), Warwk., Berks. (pine-apple). Derby. (like Dunlop), Cambr. (milk cheese at Cottenham), besides the cream cheese of Bath and York; clouted cream is made in Devon.

Long-woolled (or hornless) sheep, are the Teeswater (or Durh.), Linc. and Romney Marsh breeds (all which are about 25 to 30 lbs. the qr., and 8 to 18 inches fleece), with Bakewell's New Leicesters (20 to 30 lbs., and 6 to 14 in.), while the short-woolled includes the S. Downs fed on the chalk soils (18 lbs. the qr., and 3 to 4 lbs. of fine fleece), the Herefords (best wool), Wilts (heaviest wool), Dorsets, Norfolks, the horniless Cheviots of Northmbrld. and Cumbrld. (12 to 18 lbs., and 3 lbs. fleece). About 27 million head are kept (1 in 3 being slaughtered yearly), or 30 millions in the Unit. Kingd., producing 540,000 packs (240 lbs. each) of wool, the weight of which has increased 1-5th in the last 50 yrs. The merino or spanish breed (14 to 16 lbs. the qr., 2½ to 3¾ fine fleece), which were brought in about 1780, are used for crosses. Goats are kept on many of the hills, as in Wales. Large hogs are bred in Berks. (for the distilleries), Hants. (for bacon), Gloucest., Hereford., and smaller ones in Wilts., Suffk.; good poultry in Berks. (Wokingham), and the Dorking 5-claw'd kind in Sury. and Susx.; many ducks in Berks.; geese in Linc. (in the fens), Suffk., Norfk., Berks., Somers. (the best bed feathers); turkeys in Norfk., Suffk., Salop.

The best wooded tracts are to the W. and S., and in the SE. which is well timbered, though much reduced by having supplied the furnaces for iron extracted from the Weald of Kent and Susx. (till about 1780), where it grows in the strong clays, as well as in Sury., Hants., and many other parts; about 40,000 ac., out of 123,000 belonging to the Crown, are enclosed for navy timber in the New Forest, Dean, Alice Holt, Bere, Woolmer, Parkhurst (all in Hants.), Delamere (Chesh.), Salcey and Whittlebury (Northmptn.), Wychwood (Oxfd.), Windsor (Berks.), Waltham (Esx.); but most of them are to be disafforested.

Estimated acres in crop 13,300,000 (say 13¼ millions; in 1810, it was 10½ millions), of which wheat is 3,800,000, barley 1,500,000, oats and rye 2,500,000, beans and peas 500,000, potatoes, turnips, and rape 2,000,000, clover 1,300,000, fallow 1,500,000, hops 50,000, gardens 1,500,000; and the annual val. of crops is reckoned by M'Culloch at 80 million £, which with stock, dairy produce, timber, reckoned at 62 million £, make 142 millions (217½ mills. for Unit. Kingd.) for the total val. of agricultural produce in Engld. and Wales. Comparing the gross rentals of '42-3 and '14-5, it appears that there is an increase of 9¼ mills. (31 per cent.) or 5*s.* an acre, against a fall of 22*s.* in the av. price of wheat. Rents are about one-fourth of the produce; but for very good land surveyors reckon that one-third goes for rent, another for expenses, another for profit. The total capital may be 6*l.* to 7*l.* an acre, or upwards of 200 millions, upon which the gross profit is 10 per cent., but the nett is much lower. Middling arable land lets 10*s.* to 18*s.* (up to 35*s.*), pasture 16*s.* to 3*l.* (up to 5*l.* or 6*l.*). In 1796, the av. cost of cultivating 100 ac. was 411*l.*, in 1813 it was 771*l.* About 6 million acres have been enclosed 1760-1830 (274,000 from 1845 to '50); and the numbers of persons of all kinds engaged in or dependent on agriculture, is 2¼ millions in Gt. Brit., and 5¼ millions in Ireld. (this was in '45), or say 4¼ now, making a total of 7½ millions. Of 76¼ million acres in the Unit. Kingdom, 19 are arable and gardens (2½ in Scotld., 5½ in Ireld.), 27 are meadow and pasture (2¾ Scotld., 6¾ Ireld.), 15 valued at 5 million £, are improveable wastes (6 Scotld., 5 Ireld.), and 15¼ are unimproveable (8½ Scotld., 2½ Ireld.).

11. CANALS AND RAILWAYS.

About 2200 m. of canal are cut, uniting all the large towns, and rivers; the Leeds and Liverpool (127 m.), and Grand Trunk (93 m.), being the longest, Sankey Brook (finished 1768) the oldest, and Huddersfield in one part the highest (656 ft. at Marsden). —— Up to 29 June '50, 6308 m. of railway in the Unit. Kingd. were open (4901 in Engld. and Wales, 842 m. in Scotld., 515 m. in Ireld.), with 59,974 persons, including officers, employed on them (46,787 Engld. and Wales, 8516 Scotld., 4671 Ireld.), 2030 stations (1610 Eng. and Wales, 296 Scotld., 129 Ireld.); 31¾ million passengers had travelled in the half year; and the receipts were 6,057,291*l.*, of which 603,245*l.* from Scotld., 239,615*l.* from Ireld., 3,046,934*l.* for goods. Of 5672 m. authorized, 3754 were for Engld (595 making), 916 for Scotld. (81 making), 1002 for Ireld. (192 making). [In '51, up to Sept., 6486 m. were opened, and the traffic receipts for 8 months were 1631*l.* per mile, or 52*l.* per mile for the last week in Sept.] The daily mileage was 3,290,864 m. done by 14·41 persons per mile, and about 2500 engines; average fares 20*s.* per 100 m. first class, — 11*s.* second; passenger traffic 60 per cent. of gross revenue, goods 31 p. c.; capital expended 40,394*l.* per mile, and earnings 5·6 per cent. (on capital), of which the expenses were 2·5. Chance of a fatal accident on 1 m. of rail. is as 65 millions to 1; of any accident 8½ millions to 1 (for 100 m. in either case it would be 100 times greater, and so on). About 56 per cent. of accidents are from collision, 18 from broken wheel or axle, 14 from a bad rail. Again, of accidents which persons bring on themselves, 28 per cent. are from being in dangerous places, 24 from getting out when the train is moving, 12 crossing the line. About 1-7th is a single line; — m. are on the broad gauge of 7 ft.; irish lines on the middle gauge of 5¼ ft.; the rest on the narrow gauge of 4 ft. 8½ in. (the usual width of carts when Stephenson made the first rail.). In Engld. 2000 m. of telegraph were laid '49, at a cost of 150*l.* per mile.

12. REVENUE.

In year ending 5 Jan. '51, the Income of the Unit. Kingd. was 57,431,796*l.* (102 millions in 1800), of which the customs and excise produced 37,280,424*l.*, stamps 6,706,761*l.*, assessed and land taxes 4,535,710*l.*, property and income tax 5,510,860*l.*, post-office 2,261,262*l.*, crown lands 779,970*l.*; and the Expenditure was, for collecting the revenue 2,733,345*l.*, interest of national debt 28,091,590*l.*, the civil government 1,602,105*l.*, justice 2,399,185*l.*, diplomatic service 329,592*l.*, army 6,401,883*l.*, navy

6,437,883*l.*, ordnance 2,553,178*l.*; while the surplus of income was 2,493,262*l.* [For year ending 5 July '51, the revenue was 53,045,267*l.* against an expenditure of 50,012,481*l.* The Budget for 51-2, estimates the customs at 20,400,000*l.*, excise 14 millions, stamps 6,310,000*l.*, taxes 4,348,000*l.*, prop. tax 5,380,000*l.*, post-office 850,000*l.*, crown lands 160,000*l.*, miscellaneous and stores 712,000*l.*, making 52,140,000*l.*] The principal source of this large income is the Imports, or produce of the colonies and foreign parts, the chief of which into the Unit. Kingd. (year ending 5 Jan. '51) were, 51 million lbs. of coffee (12¼ being exported again), 3¾ million qrs. corn, 1,821,578 cwts. flax, 1,048,625 hemp, 116,926 tons guano, 5 million lbs. raw silk, 4¼ million gallons rum (1¼ million exported), 3¼ mill. gals. brandy, 6¼ million cwts. refined sugar, 50½ million lbs. tea, 870,000 loads timber (620,000 from colonies), 6 million cwts. cotton wool (i. e. raw cotton), 72¾ million lbs. sheep and lamb's wool, 3 ½ million lbs. tobacco (9½ exported again), 9½ million gals. wine (1¾ exported). Exports, or produce of the country, to the same date, reached 65,756,032*l.*, including coals 1,280,341*l.* (3,348,000 tons), cotton goods 27 million £, earthenware 1 million £, glass 308,000*l.*, haberdashery, etc. 1,470,304*l.*, hardware and cutlery 2,639,728*l.*, linen 4,844,000*l.*, machinery 1,043,760*l.*, iron 4,952,800*l.* (772,700 tons), copper 1,839,400*l.* (422,300 cwts.), tin 1,053,000*l.*, silk goods 1,265,400*l.*, woollen 10,036,000*l.* One-half was exported through Liverpool, and one-half also was sent to the Colonies and United States. [In '49, the exports were 59 million £, and the imports 84¾ millions, exclusive of 10¾ million qrs. corn, and 185,365 live stock, making it nearly 100 millions. The av. declared (or real) val. of exports, 1839-44, was 52½ million £, of which 11 per cent. was to Germany, 5 to France, 5 Italy, 11 E. Indies, 6½ Holland, 11 Canada and W. Indies, 12 United States, 4½ Brazil; or 44 per cent. to continent of Europe, 35 to that of America. The exports of 8 months in 1851, i. e. to Sept., are 47¼ million £. (against 43¾ in '50, and 38½ in '49), which may make it upwards of 70 million £. for the whole year.]

Customs, or duties on foreign produce, for the same year, were 22,064,680*l.* for Unit. Kingd., or 18,056,775*l.* for Engld. and Wales, 1,951,981*l.* for Scotld., 2,055,925*l.* for Irld., — of which London, Liverpool, Bristol, Hull, contributed nearly 16 millions,—Glasgow, Leith, Greenock, above 1½ million Dublin, Belfast, Cork, nearly 1½ million. Customs in 1596, 50,000*l.*; in 1763, 2 million £; in 1846, 18,199,000*l.* (222,621,000*l.* for Unit. Kingd.) from 80 ports. The carriers of produce to and fro are the Merchant Shipping, which taken together make the 'tonnage' of the country, by which all comparisons of its foreign trade are measured; as registered in year ending 5 Jan. '51, it amounted to 34,281 vessels of 4,232,962 tons [1], with 239,283 men (in '49, 34,090 v., 4,144,115 t., and 237,971 m respectively),—of which 18,393 sail of 2,612,584 tons (11,718 being above 50 t. each), and 895 steamers of 108,706 tons, belonged to Engld.; 3432 sail of 491,395 tons (2154 above 50 t. each), and 169 steamers of 30,827 tons, belonged to Scotld.; 2135 sail of 233,753 tons (1098 above 50 t. each), and 114 steamers of 27,679 tons, to Irld.; 839 sail, 59,059 tons (335 above 50 t. each), and 7 steamers of 1130 tons, to Chan. Islds. and Man; making 24,799 sail and 1185 steamers belonging to the Unit. Kingd. The same year 1265 vessels of 238,289 tons were built, including 628 of 120,985 tons built in Unit. Kingd. of timber (18 being steamers), and 61 of 12,800 tons, of iron (50 being steamers); and the same year 692 in the Unit. Kingd. were wrecked or broken up (4 steamers). The same year the vessels employed in the 'foreign trade' (including repeated voyages) were: Inwards from foreign parts, 22,709 british and irish vessels of 4,700,199 tons (with 240,980 men), and 15,145 foreigners of 2,400,277 tons (with 123,564 men); Outwards to foreign parts, 21,989 brit. and irish of 4,742,345 tons (with 248,918 men), and 16,900 foreigners of 2,662,243 tons (134,409 men), — the increase in foreign shipping being larger compared with british than the year before. [For Engld. and its islds. alone, the numbers were: Inwards, 15,846 of 2,761,154 tons (3987 of 849,537 t. being steamers), and 12,535 foreigners of 1,996,240 tons (961 of 203,753 t. being steamers); Outwards, 16,123 of 2,951,180 tons (3817 of 799,996 t. being steamers), and 14,373 foreigners of 2,262,317 tons (936 of 211,313 t. being steamers).] Same year those 'coastwise,' i. e. between the ports of the Unit. Kingd. (including repeated voyages) were: Inwards, 135,867 sail of 10,383,989 tons, and 19,814 steamers of 4,636,631 t.; Outwards, 142,495 sail of 10,610,664 tons, and 19,756 steamers of 4,645,910 tons. [For Engld. and its islds. alone, these numbers were: Inwards, 102,698 sail of 8,049,775 tons, and 11,007 steamers of 2,349,112 tons; Outwards, 117,813 sail of 9,143,756 tons, and 10,619 steamers of 2,288,543 tons.] Same year those in the 'colonial trade,' i. e. between the Unit. Kingd. and its colonies, were: Inwards, from colonies, 5525 of 1,584,317 tons (399 of 73,249 t. being steamers), and 237 foreigners of 82,185 tons; Outwards, 5150 of 1,457,735 tons (369 of 72,267 t. being steamers), and 302 foreigners of 92,434 tons. [For Engld. and its islds. alone, there were: Inwards, 4693 of 1,335,731 t. (399 of 73,249 t. being steamers), and 214 foreigners of 72,178 tons; Outwards, 4352 of 1,217,169 tons (367 of 71,953 t. being steamers), and 233 foreigners of 73,323 tons.

Excise, or duties on home produce, for same year, were 15,215,744*l.*, levied on 48½ million lbs. hops, 40¾ mill. bush. malt, 141 million lbs. paper, 204½ ditto soap, 24 million gals. spirits. Income and Property Tax ('48) 5¾ million £, of which 2½ on lands, 1¾ on trades and professions (exclusive of public offices). Of the last item, out of 147,650, there are 73,000 under 200*l.* a year, 393 above 10,000*l.* (22 above 50,000*l.*). [In 1815, 16½ million £ property and (10 per cent.) income tax were paid on 178½ million £; in '43, 5½ million £. property and (3 per cent.) income tax, on 185½ million £ (?).] Postage in '50, 2,339,737*l.* (1½ million £ in '42) on 276¼ million letters in Engld., 35½ each in Scotld. and Irld. About 8½ million £ were paid in money orders by 1360 offices (of which 830 were in Engld.).

The cost of collecting the revenue is about 8½ per cent.; of the excise 6 per cent. (10 in Irld.); of the assessed taxes 5 per cent. Local taxation of all kinds (rates, tolls, etc.) about 11¼ million £, or 13¼ to 14 for Unit. Kingd. National debt (which was 16¼ million £ in 1702, 239¼ millions in 1793, 840½ millions in 1817) was up to 5 Jan. '50, 775,734,580*l.*, chiefly in the 3 and 3½ per cents., and the interest was 27,686,459*l.*, payable to about 280,000 warrants, of which 87,000 are under 5*l.* and 230,000 under 50*l.* Banks: their total issue not to exceed about 18 million £ (exclusive of the Bank of Engld., whose issue may exceed 14 millions, so long as it keeps an equivalent excess of coin and bullion in stock), of which 8½ for Engld., 3 for Scotld., 6½ for Irld.

13. ARMY AND NAVY.

Army consists of 17 regts. of dragoons, 3 guards, 99 infantry, 1 rifle brigade, 1 regt. artillery, 1 corps of engineers, making, according to the estimates for '51-2, 98,714 men (exclusive of those in E. India service); and the charge is 5,925,945*l.* (only 3,521,070*l.* for the actual forces). The forces were 57,000 and 250,000 in 1792 and 1815, which cost 1½ and 8 millions. Av. height of cavalry recruits 5 ft. 8½ in., infantry 5 ft. 7 in.; and av. ages 20 and 19 yrs. About 53 per cent. are english, 30 irish; also 62 per cent. are countrymen and labourers, 30 mechanics. Yeomanry, are about 340 troops of cavalry (besides 4 in Scotld.), and 18,000 men. Militia, when embodied, are 76 regiments in Engld. and Wales, 13 in Scotld., 38 in Ireld.

Navy in 1815, 778 ships and 80,000 men, which cost 17 million £; in '46, the charge was 7 millions; for '51-2, 5,727,259*l.*, of which 4,384,015 for the effective force, including seamen, 120 companies of marines, and 6 of marine artillery, also the dockyard establishments at Deptford, Woolwich, Sheerness, Portsmouth, Plymouth, Pembroke. The real strength of the navy in '49 (excluding hulks, etc.), was 339 sailing vessels averaging 40 guns each, and 161 steamers averaging 9 guns each (besides 47 contract mail steamers). In '51, there were 671 vessels of war of all kinds; of which 98 are hulks, receiving ships, etc., and 96 are line of battle ships. Of the latter, 16 are in commission, 58 are in ordinary or in reserve, and 22 on the stocks, building (besides 30 smaller ones). About 152 admirals, 579 captains, 845 commanders, 2103 lieutenants, are on the lists, classified as active, reserve, and retired. The cost of building and rigging a first rate of 110 to 120 guns, and 2600 to 3400 tons, is about 120,000*l.*

14. ECCLESIASTICAL INSTITUTIONS.

Church.—In '31, there were (returned) 10,533 benefices in 11,077 parishes, with 11,825 churches and chapels, and 5230 curates, whose av. stipends were 81*l.*; or a total of 10,720 benefices, with a gross income of 3,055,450*l.* (exclusive of 181,631*l.* for bishops' sees, 360,095*l.* for cathedral chapters), which gives 303*l.* for the av. gross income of each (285*l.* nett); about 2500 benefices were impropriate in private hands, 2140 impropriate or appropriate in the Crown, dignitaries, etc.; 950 are in the patronage of the Crown, 1250 of prelates, 800 deans and chapters, 4850 dignitaries (i. e. deans, etc.), 720 colleges and halls, 5000 in private hands (those which are held by roman catholics being disposed of by the archbishops and universities); further, about 300 were under 50*l.* each, 1600 from that to 100*l.*, 1600 from that to 150*l.*, about 50 exceeded 1500*l.*, and 3000 had no glebe houses; but since this many small livings have been augmented, large ones divided, district curacies endowed, parsonages built, and other improvements effected, partly out of the fund provided by the reduction of diocesan and cathedral incomes. In '48, there were 16,090 benefices, of which 7987 had glebe houses; 4906 curates, with stipends from 10*l.* to 310*l.* (1333 between 100*l.* and 110*l.*). The latest 'Clergy List' gives a total of 17,500 to 18,000 clergy (14,500 in '41). In 1810, about 20 million £ of land was titheable, and 8½ million tithe free, in whole or part. Since 1835-6, tithes have been gradually commuted for a rent charge (amounting in '50 to 3,910,917*l.*), which fluctuates with the price of corn, and has hitherto varied from 98 to 103 per cent. By the end of '50, the tithes in 12,600 'districts' (i. e. parishes in general) were commuted. —— Dissenters of all classes reckoned at 3½ millions, of whom 650,000 are roman catholics under an archbp. and 13 bishops. About 5920 ministers were returned in '41; but it is impossible to say how many dissenting chapels there are. The Census of '51 may supply this defect.

15. CIVIL GOVERNMENT.

The king (meaning the reigning sovereign, whether male or female) and the three estates of the realm, viz. the Lords Spiritual and Lords Temporal (in the Upper House of Parliament) and the Commons (in the Lower House), divide the executive and legislative powers of a constitution which is the growth of ages, and recognises an established church in union with the state. The king is supreme in both, and the fountain of honour and justice; his person and office are sacred in the eyes of the law, and hedged round by the inviolable maxim "the king can do no wrong," his ministers being responsible for what is done in his name. By the Act of Settlement, the reigning family are descendants of the Princess Sophia of Brunswick (grand-daughter of James I.), being Protestants, and in communion with the Church of England. The Upper House, or House of Peers, contains 448 hereditary members, viz. 26 English prelates, and 4 Irish (the latter changing every session), who represent the Church; 3 princes of the blood royal, 20 dukes (Norfolk, the oldest or premier duke, created 1483), 21 marquises (Winchester, 1551), 114 earls (Shrewsbury, 1442), 22 viscounts (Hereford, 1549), about 194 barons (De Ros, 1264, premier peer), 16 peers of Scotld. (chosen every new parliament), and 28 of Ireld. (chosen for life); there are also 11 peeresses (Le Despencer, 1264). In the House of Commons are 471 members for Engld., 29 for Wales, 53 for Scotld., 105 for Ireld., making 658, chosen every new parliament by the people at large (elect. 1,050,187); and as the chief councillors of the sovereign must of necessity possess the support of a majority in this house, the powers of the constitution are practically administered according to the wishes of the country. —— The judicial bench comprises a lord chancellor, assisted by 2 lords justices in the new Court of Appeal, a master of the rolls, and 3 vice-chancellors; lord chief justice, and 4 judges of the Queen's Bench; lord chief justice and 4 judges of Common Pleas; lord chief baron and 4 barons of the Exchequer, with other officers.

The shires were first modelled by Alfred, in whose time there were but 32; and the present number, 40, was not fixed till Monmo' was taken out of Wales, 1542-3. Lancash., Durham, and Chesh., are styled counties palatine (though the privileges of the two latter were much curtailed in 1830-36), because granted to their feudal owners with powers equal to those of the king in his palace. Each is under a lord lieut., high sheriff, etc. Inferior divisions of the counties, are ridings in York. (from 'treding,' or 'tri-thing') and Linc. (where they are called parts), lathes (Kent), rapes (Susx.); hundreds (meaning a hundred, i. e. 120 hides[1] or houses. or families, from hyd, a house), wapentakes (Notts. and York.), wards (Durh., Cumbrld., Westmrld., Northmbld.), the latter being made for defence on the Borders. Sessional divisions of counties were first allowed by Hen. VIII., and are still further sanctioned by the Act of 1831; tythings are older than K. Ina; parishes existed before the laws of K. Edgar 960; extra-parochial places usually mark the sites of religious houses and castles. "Borough-english" means a local custom, by which lands descend to the youngest instead of the oldest son, where no will is made; "potwallers," or "potwallopers," are pot-boilers, that is, able to work for their living; paying "scot and lot" means paying the parish rates.

16. UNIVERSITIES.

University of Oxford was founded 1261, Cambridge 1280, London 1836, Durham 1837. Colleges at London, Lampeter, Sandhurst, Haileybury, Putney (dissolved 1851), Birmingham, Manchester, Springhill, Stepney, Bristol, Cheshunt, Airdale, Rotherham, Carmarthen, Huddersfield, Sheffield, Plymo', Marlboro', Ushaw, Stonyhurst, Oscott, Prior Park, Downside.

17. ANTIQUITIES, ETC.

The Romans had about 100 towns in Britain, of which 2 were municipal (York and Verulam, or St. Alban's), 8 colonial (along the E. and W. sides), 10 under the Latian law, and 12 stipendiary,—all chiefly on the site of british towns, from which they took the names, with some alteration, as they converted the trackways into roman roads. Most of the 'abbeys' and churches which figure in the early history of places were of wood, as few stone buildings are older than the 11th century, when the art, which was lost with the Romans, was revived by the Normans. Hexham, Ripon, and some other churches were of stone; Greenstead (Essex), lately restored, was of timber. The 'castles' were earthen forts; and the 'towns,' so frequently burnt by the danish pirates, must have been wood. It is probable that many of the royal 'palaces' of Alfred and other kings were made of wattles, in a style little superior to a backwoodman's hut; or at the best, of wood on a stone base; while the houses and farm buildings were of mud and sticks. Howel Dha's White House in S. Wales was of withies; Carrick Castle in Wexfd. was of rods and withies before Fitzstephen rebuilt it of stone, 1171. Upnor was one of the last castles built (by Eliz. 1560) on the old plan, with a keep, etc. Brick buildings are as old as Rich. II., some of the most ancient being at Hull. Chetwode in Bucks. has some of the earliest stained glass (1240). In Hen. IV.'s time, chimneys, pewter platters, wooden or stuffed pillows, were thought luxuries; and even Elizabeth's presence chamber, at a much later date, was laid with fresh straw every day.

The camps, abbeys, castles, etc., are given under their names in the body of the work, and are also mentioned in the respective counties. Some of the most remarkable camps, etc. are at Agglestone barrow, Ashdown (saxon), Badbury rings (british), Bittern Grove (roman), Borough Hill (rom.), Brockley Hill (rom.), Cadbury (rom.), Caerleon, Caistor (rom.), Castlesteads, Cherbury (danish), Chesterton (rom.), Chidbury Cast. (saxon), Cisbury (br.), Croft (br.), Dorchester in Oxfd. (rom.), Easington (rom.), Eddisbury (sax.), Egerton (rom.), Harehaugh (sax.), Hembury (rom.), Holwood Hill (rom.), Housesteads (rom.), Kinfare (sax.), Kirby Thore (rom.), Lambert's Cast. (rom.), Lanchester, Leicester (rom. wall), Lincoln (rom. gate, etc.), Lympne (rom.), Maes Knoll (rom.), Maiden Bower, Maiden Castle, Ravensburgh (danish), Reculver, Richborough, Seamer (rom.), Seckington (sax.), Silbury, Silchester, Spindleston (brit.), Thetford (danish), Uffington Cast. (br.), Winchester, Worle Hill (br.), Yarnbury.——Cistfaens or kistvaens (i. e. stone boxes), cairns, and tumuli, are old burial places; druid-circles were made for religious uses; camps, moats, duns, etc. for defence.——Among druid stones, cromlechs, etc. are: Avebury, Baltony Hill, Bride Stones, Carl Lofts, Castle Rigg, Devil's Arrows, Devil's Coits, Drewsteignton, Druids' Circle, Glen Darragh (Is. of Man), Grey Yaud's Circle (at Cumwhitton in Cumbrld., 52 yds. diam., made by 88 small stones, the largest only 4 ft. high), Hemlock Stone, Kit's Coty House, St. Levan logan stone, Long Meg and her

[1] According to the old rhyme,—

"Five score of men, money, and pins, Six score of all other things."

See Ellis's Introduction to Domesday Book, from which it appears that names of hundreds have changed,—as in Lincoln., where only about 19 are like 'Domesdy.,' and in Warwk. there is not one; in Leic. and Camb. their names are nearly the same, also in Beds. and Berks.; Bucks. is said to contain 18 hunds., now only 8; in Dorset. none are mentioned. Northmbrld., Cumbrld., Westmrld., and Durham are not described at all; but N. Lanc., Furness, S. Westmrld., and part of Cumbrld. are included in W. R. York.; Lanc., between Ribble and Mersey (containing 6 hunds., or 188 manors), is joined to Chesh. Part of Buts. is described with Nhmptn. and Linc.; while many places belonging to one county are, for convenience of description or some other reason, placed in another. The hunds. of Atiscross and Exetau (now transferred to Flint. and Denb.) stand as parts of Chesh.; Herefd. figures as a Welsh co.; and part of Monmo' is described with Gloucest. Some places mentioned are now depopulated, and their memorial lost; others, now of consequence, did not then exist. Besides which, topographers must remember that names there are not always names of villages, but of manors, sometimes insignificant; ex. gr., in Surrey, Waletone or Wallington, Cisedune, now unknown, are both in Beddington; Hacheham (now Hatcham) is a manor in Camberwell; Belgeham is Balham in Streatham par.; Witford, a hmlt. of Mitcham, of which the only memorial is a lane so called. Aplestede (Hants.) was in Southwick; Elentone (Berks.) is Ealingtone, or South Elington, where Maidenhead now stands. In Midx., Hatone is in Bedfont par., Titcheham and Coleham in Hillingdon; Chenetone is Kempton in Sunbury, Hergotestane is Haggerstone in Shoreditch, Lilestone is Lisson Green, Paddington. Eia (Ossulstone hund.), which belonged to Geoffrey de Mandeville, is now the Marq. of Westminster's, under the name of Eyebury, near Chelsea, in St. George's par. To this may be added, from the same authority, that only 4 forests besides New Forest are mentioned, though others are alluded to; the salt wiches in Chesh. are noticed, also some at Stratton and Sennen (Cornw.), now given up; but the tin mines of Cornw. are not spoken of. The lead mines of Derby. are noticed, with ironworks in Somers., Herefd., etc. Fish are mentioned frequently for payments of rent.

Daughters, Rollrich, Stanton (Derby.), Stanton Drew, Stonehenge, Trevethy, Whitbeck Stones. —— The ruined abbeys, priories, etc. (in Engld. and Wales) are: Abbey-Cwm-hir, St. Alban's*, Balla Salla (Is. of Man), Bardsey, Basingwerk, Battle*, Bayham, Beaulieu, St. Bee's, Bolton, Buildwas (part norman), Bungay, Bury-St.-Edmund's*, Byland, Calder, Caldy, Canterbury*, Castleacre, Cerne, Christchurch, Clare, Clerkenwell*, Colchester*, Crowland*, Cymmer, W. Dereham, Evesham, Fountains, Furness, Glastonbury*, Hailes, Hartland, Haughmond, Holme Cultram*, Ipswich, Kirkham, Kirkstall, Lanercost, Laycock, Leiston, Leominster, Lilleshall, Llantoney, Lydiate, Malmesbury*, Margam, Monmouth, Neath, Netley, Newstead, Penmon, Pennant Melangell, Radford, Ramsey*, Reading*, Repton, Rivaulx, Selby, Shap, Spinney, Stamford, Strata Florida, Swingfield (preceptory), Talley, Thetford (nunnery), Thornton-Curtis (priory), Tintern, Tynemo' (priory), Valle Crucis, Walsingham, Waltham* (and cross), Wenlock, Westminster, Whalley, Whitby, York (St. Mary's). Those marked*, with those at Abingdon, Bardney, Cirencester, Coventry, Gloucester, Holme in Nrfk., Hyde, Peterboro', Selby, Shrewsbury, Tavistock, Tewkesbury, Thorney, Winchcombe, were mitred abbeys before the Reformation. The Bishop of Norwich is to this day titular abbot of Holme, which was not dissolved. —— Some of the best cathedrals and churches are at St. Alban's, Attleboro', Avington (norman), Balsall Temple (n.), Bangor, Barfreston (n.), Beverley, Bodmin, Boston, Bristol (Redcliffe ch., etc.), Brixworth (n.), Cambridge, Canterbury, Carlisle (n.), Castle Rising (n.), Castor, S. Cerney (n.), Chester, Chichester (cath. and cross), Christch., Cirencester, Clare, Clifton Camville, Coleshill, Collumpton, Coventry, Crambourne, Crediton, Crewkerne, St. Cross (n.), Derby, Devizes, Dorchester, Droxford (n.), Dunham Magna (n.), Dunstable (n. 1131-5), Dunster, Durham, Earls Barton (n.), Ely, Filey, Framlingham, Gloucester (n.), St. Germain's, Hereford, Hexham, Howden, Iffley (n.), Kilpeck (n.), Lichfield, Lincoln, London, Louth, Ludlow, Luton, Malmesbury, Manchester, Mapplestead, Newcastle, Newport (n.), Northampton, Northleach, Norwich (n.), Oxford (n.), Peterboro', Ripon, Rochester, Romsey, Salisbury, Sherborne, Shottesbrook, Shrewsbury, Snettisham, Sompting (n.), Southwark, Southwell, Stanton St. John, Stewkley (n.), Stow (n.), Stratford, Taunton, Tewkesbury ab. church (n.), Thaxted, Tiverton, Upton (n.), Wakefield (chapel), Walsoken, Wellingboro', Wells, Westminster, Wimborne Minster, Winchester, Wolverhampton, Worcester (n.). The four round churches in England are in Cambridge, London (Temple), Lit. Maplestead, Northampton; many old ones in Norfolk and Suffolk have round towers; Canterbury cath. has the oldest pointed arch (1175, in the choir); the largest and most uniform example of the pointed style is at Salisbury; at Arundel remains the only ancient high stone altar. St. Martin's (Canterbury) and Minster (Thanet) churches (both lately restored) are two of the oldest existing churches. —— The earliest brasses are at Stoke D'Abernon (1277), Trumpington (1289), Acton, Chartham, etc.; the latest is Abp. Harsnett's at Chigwell (1631). Cobham, Battle, Oxford, etc. have good collections; there are few in the N. of England. —— Old castles[1] remain at Abergavenny, Acton Burnell, Alnwick, Arundel, Ashby-de-la-Zouch, Bamboro', Barnard Castle, Beeston (one of oldest), Berkeley, Berkhampstead, Berwick, Bodiam, Bramber, St. Briavell's, Brougham, Caldicott, Carisbrook, Castle Rising, Castleacre, Castleton, Cawood, Chartley, Chepstow, Chester, Chilham, Cockermouth, Conisboro', Corfe, Coventry (St. Mary's Hall), Cowdray, Donnington, Dudley, Durham, Eltham, Fotheringay, Framlingham, Goodrich, Grosmont, Guildford, Hadleigh, Halton, Harbottle, Hastings, Hedingham, Heron Gate, Herstmonceaux, Hertford, Hever, Hoghton, Kenilworth, Knaresboro' Lancaster, Launceston, Lewes, Leybourne, Tower of London, Lostwithiel, Ludlow, Maxtoke, Mayfield, Middleham, Naworth, Newark, Newcastle, Norwich, Nottingham (modern), Oxford, Pevensey, Pickering, Pleshy, Pomfret, Porchester, Prudhoe, Ragland, Restormel, Richmond, Rochester, Saltwood, Scarboro', Shoreham, Somerton, Spofforth, Tamworth, Tattershall, Thornbury, Tiverton, Tixall, Tonbridge, Trematon, Tutbury (visited by Brit. Archæol. Associatn. 1851), Usk, Warkworth, Warwick, Whittington,' Wigmore, Wressle, York. —— There are pillar stones at Bewcastle, Rudstone, and also at Kirk Braddan and Kirk Michael (in I. of Man); three of Q. Eleanor's crosses at Geddington, Hardingstone, and Waltham; old market crosses at Chichester, Leighton Buzzard, Winchester; greyfriars steeple at Lynn; various remains at Ipswich. See the Channel for the martello towers. —— Among the seats distinguished for size or antiquity are: Adlington Hall, Aldbury Park, Aldermaston House (eliz.), Althorpe Pk., Alton Towers, Alnwick Castle, Ampthill Pk., Annesley Pk., Apley Pk., Appleby Cast., Appuldercombe, Arno's Grove (by Sir R. WALES.

1. ITS BOUNDARIES, REPRESENTATION, ETC.

WALES (36-42, 56-60, 74-80) the country of the Cymry, or Cymraeg, or native Britons, was the Britannia Secunda of the Romans, who overran it 50-78, under Os. Scapula and Jul. Frontinus; was afterwards called Cambria Wallia (from Gael or Gaul), and Weallas (by the Saxons); was divided (843-77) into three principalities, Gwynedd in N. Wales, Dinevor (or Dyved) in S. Wales, and Powys in E. Wales (after Howel Dha's time, 950, called Venedotia, Dimetia, and Gwent), which, with Ferregs and Morganwg, make the 5 'royal tribes;' ravaged by the Danes (along the S. coast) 875, partly settled by the Normans 1102-8, annexed to Engld. by Edw. I. (whose son was the first Prince of Wales), and finally incorporated by Hen. VIII.; is traversed by 210 m. of railway, and 100 m. of canal; watered by the upper Wye, Towy, Teifi, the upper Severn and Dee, Clwyd, Conway, etc.; and bordered by Irish Sea (N.), the Dee, Chesh., Salop, Herefd., Monmo', and R. Rumney, in Engld. (E.), Bristol Chan. (S.), St. George's Chan., separating it from Ireld. (W.). It lies between lat. 51° 22½′ N. (near Porthkerry) and 53° 25′ N. (Llanpadrig), and long. 2° 51′ W. (near Holt) and 5° 20′ W. (Ramsey isld.). Length from Aberddaw N. to Point of Ayr 136 m.; greatest breadth 100; average ditto 58; relative size to Engld. 1284-10,000ths, — to Unit. Kingd. 616-10,000ths; circuit about 540 m., of which 390 is rocky coast, as described in Engld. (above), with 13 lights and — coast-guard stations. It contains 7425 square m., or 4,752,000 acres, of which about 311,000 are arable and pasture, 1,100,000 unprofitable; 911,603 + 10,542 persons (in 1984 separate places), of whom (this is for 1841) 64,169 are in Merthyr Tydvil, Swansea, Cardiff, — 463,896 are females, 326,725 under 20 years of age, 774,393 born in the counties where settled, 5276 in Ireld., 1173 in Scotld., — 90,133, or 9·9 per cent. live by trade, manufact., etc., 103,632 or 11·4 per cent. by agricult. (35,777 being farmers and graziers), 5787 educated professions (1610 cler., 396 med., 691 leg., and 3090 following miscellaneous pursuits), 720 army at home, 5038 seamen, etc., 531 gov. civil service, 23,978 independent, 66,637 agricult. labourers, 53,430 labourers in general (with miners, etc.), 63,216 servants (52,727 female), etc.; 188,229 houses, besides 10,157 empty, and 1764 building; 12 counties as below, 86 hundreds, 838 parishes; returns 29 members to parl. under the Reform Act, viz., 15 for the counties (elect. 36,984), — 14 for cities and boroughs (el. 11,035), being one each for *Brecon, Merthyr Tydvil (new boro'), and for the following districts of (2 to 8) boroughs, *Beaumaris (with Holyhead, etc.), *Cardiff (with Cowbridge, etc.) Cardigan (with Aberystwyth, etc.), *Carmarthen (with Llanelly), Carnarvon (with Bangor city, Pwllheli, etc.), Denbigh* (with Ruthen, Wrexham, etc.), Flint (with St. Asaph city, Holywell, Moed, etc.), Haverfordwest (with Fishguard, etc.), Montgomery (with Llanidloes, Newtown, Welshpool, etc.), Pembroke* (with Tenby, etc.), New Radnor (with Presteign, etc.), Swansea (with Neath, etc.), — those marked * being also reformed municipal boroughs (since 1835); is divided into 2 circuits,

N. Wales and Chester, S. Wales and Chester, with assize towns at those above in italics; into 42 poor l. unions, 43 sup. registries, and 45 county courts (see the counties respectively), — besides 4 excise collections, viz., E. Wales (or Cardiff), Mid. Wales (Llanfair), N. Wales (Llanrwst), W Wales (Kidwelly); and contains 4 dioceses (as below), province of Canterbury.

2. REAL PROPERTY, POOR RATE, ETC.

Real prop. (1815) 2,343,715*l.*; ('43) 3,365,818*l.*, of which (nearly 1 million £ lies in Glamrgn., Denbigh.) 2,371,183*l.* is on land, 599,053*l.* on houses, 173,388*l.* on tithes, 70,181*l.* on quarries, 128,409*l.* on mines, 35,550*l.* on ironworks, 25,000*l.* on canals, 22,388*l.* on rails. Ditto rentals 1,644,874*l.* or 6*s.* 11½*d.* per acre (when wheat was 77*s.*), and 2,371,184*l.* or 9*s.* 11¾*d.* per acre (wheat 55*s.*). —— County income ('48) 88,763*l.*, of which 49,565*l.* from co. rate, on valuations amounting to 2,443,510*l.* (exclusive of Radnor.), made between 1811 and '44, — 11,136*l.* from police r., 12,110*l.* from the Treasury.——Poor r. (yr. 1846-7) for 42 unions (or 1009 pars.), 292,035*l.* on 2,940,623*l.*, or 1*s.* 11¾*d.* in the £ (wheat being 59*s.*); cases relieved 85,243 (out-door 79,139) or 8·5 per cent., in estimated pop. of 962,450. For half-year ending Lady-day '51, the exped. was 120,566*l.* (113,189*l.* out-door), or 4 per cent. less than '50. —— Total charities 188,851*l.*, of which 6344*l.* for schools and education. Savings bks. ('49) 25, with 692,531*l.* from 21,195 depositors. In yr. '38-9, 12,083 m. of road (2123 being turnpike) were maintained for 87,488*l.* —— In '46-7, out of 1109 pars. and districts (reckoning Monmo') 793 had 1010 church schools, supported by 28,896*l.* with 63,891 child. attending, and 911 paid teachers (184 being monitors), whose salaries were 22,002*l.* and who had 320 teachers' houses; out of these 416 were free schools, and 187 sund. sch. (exclusively, — with 2281 gratuitous teachers, and 19,050 child.); and 381 in union with the National Soc. had 31,483 child. and received total grants of 13,776*l.* In '47, nearly 32,000 child. went to 580 schools (chiefly sunday) in N. Wales, whence the number may be inferred for S. Wales. —— Offenders in '48, 922 (or 760 av. of 5 yrs.), of whom 623 were convicted, 211 were females, 15 under 15 yrs. of age, 276 could not read or write. Following the Sup. Registry districts of '45. Reckoning Monmo' (total pop. 1,068,547 + 14,317), the 'births' were 32,977 (in '33), of whom 16,002 were females, 2526 or 7·7 per cent. illegit.; 'deaths' 22,125, or 1 in 51, — the all-England av. being 46; 'marriages' 8304 (at church 6484), or 1 in 142; — of which 9616 persons, or 58 per cent., signed with marks.

3. POPULATION.

Population (1801) 541,546, ('21) 717,438, ('41) 911,603, having increased, since 1801, 55 per cent.; in '41, there were 4·843 souls per house, 122·8 per sq. mile, and 1 per 5·21 acres of land. [The pop. in '51 is 1,011,656 (540,473 being females); but taking it at 1,007,241, and in 1801 at 547,017 (allowing for soldiers, etc.), the increase in half a century is 101·6 for S. Wales (110 for males, 94 for females), 63 for N. Wales (68·8 males, 57·7 females); or 14, 18, 14, 15, 14, and 10, 17, 10, 10, 4, at each of the censuses up to '51; or 1·41 and ·98 yearly.] People are longer lived on the average than in Engld.; and of those who survive to between 90 and 100, the females are 2 to 1. Most of the people are dissenters, who count about 1780 ministers and 166,000 members. A Breton dialect of Welsh prevails in the S.

4. GEOLOGICAL FORMATIONS, MINERALS, ETC.

A line from Narberth past Llangattock and Builth, divides the coal and old red sandstone in the SE. from the slaty or 'silurian' rocks which prevail to the W. and N., forming the barren mountain ranges of the kind found in S. Scotld. and SW. Irld. Carboniferous limestone borders the coal in the S., where it appears in the rugged cliffs of Glamrgn., Pembroke., etc.; and it is also seen mixed with the coal, gritstone, and new red sandstone (along the Clwyd) in Flint., Denb., and Angles., which last has the greatest variety of rocks. The whole welsh series may be studied on a line from Cardiff through Menai Strait. Trap masses strike NE. and SW. in Pemb., Carnrvn., Angles. Among the highest points are: Snowdon 3571 ft. (the most elevated in S. Britain), Carnedd Llewelyn 3469, Carnedd David 3469, in Carnrvn.; Cader Idris 2914, Arran Fowddy 2955, Arrenig 2809, Cader Ferwyn or Berwyn 2563, in Merion.; Brecknockshire Beacon 2862, Carmarthenshire Van 2596; and Plinlimmon 2463, round which most of the greater rivers take rise. Rich coal is worked in Flint. (15 seams in one part 59 ft. thick), and Denb. (a seam 15 ft. thick at Wrexham), where the basin under the Dee contains a supply for 300 yrs.; but the S. Wales field of 1200 sq. m., which is by far the largest, would take 2000 yrs. to exhaust. It extends from W. Monmo' through most part of Glmrgn. to Kidwelly in Carmrthn, reappearing in S. Pembroke., and becoming anthracite or stone coal in the W. and N. Angles. has a poorer sort of coal, and great boulders of it are scattered about there. Black-band ironstone (not so rich in metal as the english or scotch) abounds near the coal; and above 530,000 tons of iron were produced in the provinces of N. and S. Wales in '40. Copper is worked in Angl. (Parys mountain) and Carnrvn.; lead in Flint. and Denb. some of it yielding 42 oz. of silver per 100 tons; and a little of both in Merion. (with traces of gold and silver) and Cardigan. Hæmatite, zinc, calamine, and copper are also found in Flint., with manganese in Denb. Good streaked marble is quarried in Angl. which is the only county with granite; slate in Carnrvn. (Bangor, etc.), Merion., and some other parts; chert (the nearest thing to chalk) in Flint. Flannels are made in Montgmry. round Newport (the centre) for finer sorts, Welshpool, Llanbrynmair, and Llanidloes (coarser kinds), which was the original seat; and in Merion., round Dolgelly (coarse webs), Machynlleth (which is pronounced Mackunthleth), Towin[1]: woollen stockings, socks and gloves, round Bala (the old place of goats' hair wigs), and in Denb. and Flint. Stout calicoes are made at Mold and Holywell; malt and leather at Welshpool, pottery at Swansea. Copper is brought from all parts to be smelted at Swansea; and there are tin works at Treforest, zinc works at Cadoxton.

[1] Pandy, in S. Wales, marks a place where fulling used to be carried on.

Though in some parts rich in mineral wealth, the surface is mostly, as Justice Shallow says, "barren, barren, barren, — marry, good air," which is cold though bracing. About 34 in. of rain fall. — Glamorgan cattle are the largest, being improved by crossing with Ayrshire; small native cattle, and the black breeds from Scotld. and Irld., are taken to graze. Upwards of 1¼ million sheep (the largest being in Angl.) yielding 10,000 wool-packs are reared, the 'welsh mutton' from the hills being noted for its sweetness; small sure-footed merlyn ponies are bred in Merion. and good horses in Montgmry.; goats on the hills. Some of the vales in Denb., Glmrgn., and Carmrthn., are fertile, and Angl. has good loamy soil (with much peat), but draining is not practised, and the best farming is noticed where english is spoken: the chief crop is oats. Estates run from 20*l.* to 30,000*l.* a year; farms are small, and many on lease; fences of stone; the people simple and hardy in their habits, living in rude cottages, on buttermilk or flummery meal, and salted meat, etc. all home-made. Comparing the gross rentals of '42-3 and '14-5, there is an increase of 726,340*l.*, or 3*s.* an acre, against a fall in the average price of corn. Merion. is tolerably well wooded, and it is considered the most 'picturesque' of all. Grouse, partridges, with other game, abound. The larger rivers are: the Conway, Clwyd; Dee rising under Arran Fowddy, and flowing through Bala lake and Owen Glendower's country; Dovey, Severn and Wye (under Plinlimmon), Rheidol, Teifi, Tâf, Towy, Taff, Usk, etc.; and Bala is the largest of the lakes, of which there are about 100 in Card., Merion., Carnarvn. Many small rivers are short and rapid, tumbling over falls, or pistylls, which are best seen after rain. Salmon trout, pike, grayling, sewin and gwynniad, etc. are caught in the streams and lakes; the golden eagle, kite, falcon, appear in the hills; many rare fish, birds, and plants found on many parts of the coasts; seals in the caves; kittiwakes, puffins, and other seafowl in the cliffs; and oysters on Saru Padrig. The Menai and Britannia bridges cross Menai Strait. The old cantrefs and cwmmwds were altered into hundreds 1535, but are still noticed by native writers.

5. ANTIQUITIES, ETC.

A few of the most remarkable antiquities are: camps at Caer Bannau (roman), Caer Sws (rom.), Caerleon, Caerwent (rom.), Castell Tomen y Muir (rom.), Cellan, Dinas Dinorwig camp (british), Moel Gaer (brit.), Penycerig (brit.); druid stones at Arthur's Stone, Bryn Celli Dhu (or Plâs Gwyn), cromlech, Clynnog crom., Kenligg ogham stone, Llanaligo crom., Mynydd Cefn Amlwch crom., Newydd Fynyddedd circle, St. Nicholas or Diffryn House crom., Plâs Newydd crom., Trellech, — many being in Angles. county, which the Welsh called 'Mon mam Gymrie,' the mother or nurse of Wales; old castles at Beaumaris, Carnarvon, Cardiff, Castell Caer Lleion, Castell Dinas Brân, Castell Dôlforwyn, Caerphilly, Carew, Carreg-Cennen, Cilgerran, Conway, Coyty, Criccieth, Denbigh, Dolwyddelan, St. Donatt's, Eulo, Flint, Grosmont, Harlech, Haverfordwest, Hawarden, Kidwelly, Lamphey, Llangibby, Laugharne, Lawhaden, Llanstephan, Manorbier, Neath, Ogmore, Oxwich, Oystermouth, Pembroke, Penard, Penrice, Rhuddlan, Roche, Ruthin, Tower, Tretower, Webley, White Cast.; old churches or cathedrals (see ENGLD.) at St. Asaph, Cellan, St. David's, Lantwit Major, Llandaff, Wrexham. Some old or large seats at Chirk Cast., St. David's (old palace), Downing (eliz.), Glanusk, Glynllifon, Golden Grove, Gwrch Cast., Gwydir, Hafôd, Hênsol, Margam Abbey, Middleton Ha., Mostyn (eliz.), Newton Park, Nannau, Penrhyn Cast., Picton Cast., Plâs Newydd, Pool Pk., Powis Cast., Slebech, Stackpoole, Wynnestay. Of about 143 castles, traces of 107 remain,—a few, as at Dolwyddelan, being purely welsh, marked by no portcullis, few windows, and thin rude walls (Cliffe's North Wales); but most of the welsh castles were of wood. The 'seven wonders of N. Wales' are, Snowdon, St. Winefred's spring at Holywell, Overton ch. yard, Gresford bells, Llangollen bridge, Pistyll Rhaiadr fall, Wrexham steeple.

From the 'five royal tribes' are descended the families of Wynne, Lloyd, Powell (i. e. Ap Howell), Davies, Pryse (ap Rhys), Owen (whence ap Owen or Bowen), Evans (whence Bevan), Jones, Kynaston, Vaughan, Williams, Nanney, Morris, Kyffin, Hughes (whence Pugh), Glyn, Oliver, Philips, Matthews, Newton; some are from the 'fifteen special tribes,' viz. Marchudd, Braint Hir, Hwfa ap Cynddelw, Llowarch ap Brân, Cilmin Droed Tu, Ednowain ap Bradwen, Ednowain Bendew, Edwin ap Grono, Hedd Molwynog, Ednydd ap Morien, Macloc Crwm, Gwerydd ap Rhys Gôch, Marchweithan, Nevydd Hardd, Colwyn ap Tangno; others are of norman or later descent.

SCOTLAND.

1. BOUNDARIES, ETC.

SCOTLAND, or N. BRITAIN, was called Caledonia by the Romans, who overrun it under Agricola (A. D. 78), and divided it into Valentia and Vespasiana (S. and N. of Stirling, or the Wall), which at a later period were called Pict-land, and Scot-land,—the latter after the Dalriads or Scotti, who came from Ireland (Scotia) to Cantyre, etc., and were joined to the Picts under Kenneth (843); included Northmbrld., Cumbrld., Westmrld., down to Dav. I., and was united to Engld. 1708; is traversed by 850 m. of railway and 210 m. of canal; watered by the Tweed, Forth, Clyde, Tay, Dee, Spey, etc.; and bordered by the Cheviots, Tweed, and Engld. (SE.), N. Sea (E.), Atlantic (N. and W.), Irish Chan. separating it from Ireland (SW.), Irish Sea (S.). It lies between lat. 54° 38′ N. (Mull of Galloway) and 58° 40½′ N. (Dunnet Hd.), and long. 1° 47′ W. (Buchanness) and 6° 8½′ W. (Ardnamurchan Pt.) Length, from Berwick N. to Strathy Point, 270 m.; greatest breadth, including the nearest islds. on the W., about 290; average ditto 130; relative size of mainland to islds. 8603-10,000ths,— ditto to United Kingdom 2508-10,000ths; circuit about 1540 m., of which 1470 is coast, bold and cliffy, with deep water all round. The E. side of about 480 m. (see Berwk., Hadngtn., Edinb., Fife., Forfar., Kincard., Aberd., Banff., Elgin., Nairn., Invern., Ross., Suthrld., Caith.), has — coast-gd. stations and 6 principal lights (including the Bell Rock), with harbs. at Leith in Frith of Forth, St. Andrew's near Fifeness, Dundee on the Tay, Montrose, Aberdeen near Girdleness, Peterhead near Buchanness, Inverness in Moray Frith, Cromarty on the bay near Tarbetness, Dornock in the Frith, Wick on the bay; — coast-gd. stations and 2 lights are on the N. coast of 90 m. (see Caith.), Suthld., between John o'Groat's Ho. and Cape Wrath, having Pentland Frith leading by it, with the Orkney and Shetld. Islds. beyond; on the W. coast of 780 m. (see Suthrld., Ross., Invern., Argyll., Dumbrtn., Renfw. Ayr., Wigton.), which is broken up into islds. and long deep lochs, are — coast-gd. stations and 6 lights (Barra, Skerryvore, etc.), with harbs. etc. at Kyle Skee, Loch Broom (the Westrn. Islds. being across the Minch Chan.), L. Alsh and Sleat Sound inside Skye, Rum, etc., L. Sunart, Sound of Mull, and L. Linnhe inside Mull, Tyree, etc., Sound of Jura inside Jura and Islay, Campbelton near Mull of Cantyre (the nearest to Ireld.), L. Fyne inside Arran and Bute, Greenock and Glasgow on the Clyde, Irvine and Ayr in the Frith of Clyde, Stranraer on L. Ryan and Port Patrick; the S. coast of 120 m. (Wigton., Kirkcdbt., Dumfr.), has — coast-gd. stations, and 3 lights, with Mull of Galloway in Luce bay, Barrow head between this and Wigton bay, and Dumfries on the Nith in Solway Frith, which is choked with shifting sands. About 65 lights of all kinds are shown round the coast.

2. OCCUPATIONS OF THE PEOPLE, PARLIAMENTARY REPRESENTATION, ETC.

It contains 29,600 sq. m., or 18,944,000 acres, of which the islds. are 2,611,200, and about 5,000,000 are cultivated; 550,428 families, or 2,620,184+25,507 persons (in 2775 separate places), of whom (this is for 1841) 599,284 are in Glasgow, Edinbro', and Leith, Aberdeen, Dundee, Paisley,— 1,378,322 are females, 1,223,348 under 20 yrs. of age, 1,988,024 born in the counties where settled, 37,796 born in S. Britain, 126,321 in Irld., — 473,581 or 16·5 per cent. live by commerce, trade, manufact., 229,337 or 7·9 per cent. by agricult. (54,873 being farmers and graziers), 27,808 educated professions (18,099 following miscellaneous pursuits), 58,291 independent, 4631 army at home (with E. I. Comp.), 24,359 seamen (naval and merchant, with fishermen, etc.), 2777 gov. civil service, 229,337 agricult. labourers, 84,573 labourers in general (with miners, porters, etc.), 158,650 servants (136,883 female), etc.; 502,852 houses (many flats, etc. being reckoned houses), besides 24,026 empty and 2646 building; 33 counties (as below), with 950 parishes, exclusive of about 200 q. s. (quoad sacra) pars.; returns 53 members to parl. under the Reform Act (which gave 1 each to Greenock and Paisley, with 6 more to other boroughs or burghs), viz. 30 for the counties (elect. 48,456), 23 for cities and boroughs (el. 41,849), being two each for Edinbro' city, Glasgow city, — one each for Aberdeen city, Dundee, Greenock*, Paisley*, Perth city, — and one each for the districts composed of 3 to 17 of the smaller burghs, as St. Andrew's (with Cupar, etc.), Ayr (with Irvine, Inverary, Oban*, etc.), Dumfries (with Annan, etc.), Elgin (with Peterhead*, etc.), Falkirk* (with Airdrie*, Hamilton*, etc.), Haddington (with Jedburgh, etc.), Inverness (with Forres, etc.), Kilmarnock* (with Pt. Glasgow*, etc.), Kirkcaldy (with Dysart, etc.), Leith* (with Musselburgh*, Portobello*, etc.), Montrose (with Forfar, etc.), Stirling (with Dunfermline, etc.), Wick (with Cromarty*, Kirkwall, etc.), Wigton (with Whithorn, etc.),—all of which, except the 13 parl. burghs (marked *) created by the Reform Act, are also royal burghs, making 63 (exclusive of Peebles, Rothesay, Selkirk, which since the Act have votes for their shires only, — and Auchtermuchty, Earlsferry, Falkland, Newburgh, which had decayed before the Union); is divided into 3 circuits, South, West, and North, with assize towns at those marked in italics (above),— and 16 synods with 83 presbyteries.

3. REAL PROPERTY, POOR RATE, EDUCATION, ETC.

Real prop. (1815) 6,642,955*l.*; ('43) 9,481,762*l.*, of which (nearly 3 million £. lies in Lanark. and Edinbro') 5,586,528*l.* is on lands, 2,919,339*l.* on houses, 33,474*l.* on quarries, 177,593*l.* on mines, 147,413*l.* on iron-works, 47,810*l.* on fisheries, 77,891*l.* on canals, 181,333*l.* on rails. — Gross rental (1811) 4,851,404*l.* or 5*s.* 1½*d.* per acre; ('43) 5,586,528*l.* or 5*s.* 10¾*d.* —— Valued rent, upon which the land-tax and other charges are assessed since 1674, 3,804,221*l.* scots. —— Fiar price of wheat (1842-8), see the counties; it means the legal average price ascertained by the sheriff in Feb. and Mar., as the standard for factors and clergy stipends. — Savings bks. ('49) 40, with 1,008,191*l.* from 85,472 depositors. —— Expend. for poor (1847-8) in 880 pars. (600 being assessed) 544,344*l.*, on the real property valuation, of which 401,886*l.* for 100,961 poor on roll, 53,384*l.* for 126,684 casual poor. [In 1841 (265 pars. being assessed) the expend. on 81,756 poor, or 3·2 per cent. of pop., was 162,625*l.*, or 4½*d.* per £, of which 89,097*l.* was from 265 legally assessed pars., 17,776 from voluntary assessment, the rest from church collections.] For year ending May '50, the expenditure was 534,353*l.* for 79,031 poor on roll, and 53,070 casual poor; and 21 poor-houses had been built. Charities, or 'mortifications' for the poor, are now appropriated with the poor law levies. —— Av. number of offenders (1836-46) 3572; in '48, 3975, of whom 3669 were convicted, 1184 were females, 656 under 15 yrs. of age, 911 could not read or write; in '50, 4468 committals, of whom 3363 were convicted.——Income of 1162 parish schools (estab. 1696) 25*l.* to 34*l.*, or 25½*l.* on the average, exclusive of fees, house and garden (which nearly double the average); classics and mathematics are taught in more than half. In '51 the Free Church had 1671 schools, with 8506 teachers, and 99,019 child. Total schools about 5500; the average number at parish and private schools is 60 and 50 children.

4. POPULATION.

Population (1755, Dr. Webster's Returns) 1,265,380, (1801) 1,599,068, (1821) 2,093,456, (1841) 2,620,184, having increased, since 1801, 53·7 per cent.; in '41 there were 5·211 souls per house (10·2 in Aberdeen, 6 in Edinbro', 5 in Glasgow, 4 to 7 elsewhere), — per sq. mile, 1 per 7·23 acres of land (15·4 ac. in the islds.), and about 850,000 were collected in 20 towns (above 6000 each), which had increased (1831-41) 19 per cent. [The pop. in '51 is 2,870,784 (with 1,507,162 females), and taking it at 2,865,421, and that for 1801 at 1,608,420 (allowing for military, etc.), the increase in half a century is 78 per cent. (84 for males, 73 for females); or 12, 16, 13, 11, 10, at each census to '51; or 1·16 yearly (1·22 males, 1·15 females).]. There are, on the average, more persons living at the older ages than in Engld.

5. GEOLOGICAL FEATURES, MINERALS, ETC.

It is all hill and valley. The Highlands, lying NW. of a line from Dumbarton thro' Perth. etc. to Aberdeen (the direction also of the Grampians), are chiefly granite, gneiss, mica and chlorite slate, and other primitive rocks, with old red sandstone in Caithn. and the coast of E. and W. Ross.; they are covered with heath or bog, and divided by deep glens or straths, and passes, with long narrow lakes, which run (like the hills in general) NE. and SW. Immediately SE. of this line, a band of 'old red' makes a fertile bottom in Strathmore to the range of the Ochills; thence the great scottish coal-bed (the seat of the principal manufactures), mixed with masses of trap and 'old red,' stretches to a line from Girran to Dunbar, which marks where the slaty rocks in the hill country of S. Scotld. ('Heelands' as distinguished from Highlands) begin, and extend to the dales on the Border, having granite in Kirkcdbt., 'new red' in S. Dumfr., 'old red' and mountain limestone E. of Selkirk. Some of the highest points of the Grampians are: Ben Lomond 3195 ft., Ben Lawers 3945, Ben More 3819, Ben Nevis 4374 (the highest in Brit. Islds.[1]), Ben Muckdhu 4299, Ben Aven 3967, Cairntoul 4230, Cairngorm 4050; beyond these, and the great trough of Glenmore in Invern. (the line of the Caledonian canal), are Ben Wyvis in Ross. 3721, Ben Klibreck in Sutherld. 3464, etc. Bencleuch in the Ochills is 2430; Broadlaw in S. Scotld. 2741, and others range from 2000 to 2500; Ben More in Mull 3168, Goatfell in Arran 2865. —— Coal, in a field of 2800 sq. m., with some seams 21 to 60 ft. thick, is worked in Ayr., Renfrew., Lanark. (Glasgow), Stirling., the Lothians, Clackmn. (parret kind), Fife.; beds of lignite are found in Sutherld., Argyll., Dumfr. —— Iron in the blackband ironstone in Lanark. (around Gartsherrie, Monkland, etc.), Stirlg., Ayr., Fife., etc., to the extent of 600,000 tons (240,000 t. in '40), chiefly extracted by the hot blast; lead at Leadhills and Wanlockhead (Dumfr.), Dollar, and Strontian, where the metal of that name was first noticed; copper at Blair Logie, Airthrie, Alva, Tillicoultry (with traces of zinc, lead, silver, cobalt, etc. at the latter two), Fetlar. Antimony is found at Langholm, manganese near Aberdeen, alum in the clay slate pits at Hurlet. Granite is quarried in Edinb., Aberd.; marble in Argyll., Invern., Perth., Suthrld.; slate at Easdale and Ballachulish, and in Aberd., Perth., Peebles., paving stone in Forfar., etc., and stone suitable for houses in every part. Trap is equally plentiful.

Most of the great rivers run E.-ly with a rapid course, flooding their banks after much wet, as the Tweed, Forth, Tay (having a great volume of water), Dee, Spey; the Clyde flows W., passing over several good falls. The greatest lakes are Lomond (24 m. by 7, next to L. Neagh in the Brit. Islds.), Awe, Ness, etc., and there are mineral springs at Strathpeffer, Muirton, Moffat, Hartfell, Innerleithen or 'St. Ronan's,' Airthrie, Pitcaithley, etc. —— Climate moist but healthy, with changeable and boisterous winds, but more backward than in Engld., so that little wheat is grown beyond the Grampians (except on Moray Firth), and barley, though of the same weight, gives less malt. Mean temp. round Edinbro' 48°, ranging from 38° to 58°; in other parts, the mean lies between 39° and 53°: there are 23½ in. of rain at Edinbro' (Oct. and Nov. being the wettest); 22 to 26 in. on the E. coasts, with 145 rainy days; 35 to 46 in. with 200 rainy days, on the W. side, and in the islds. —— Salmon, trout, pike, perch, etc. in the rivers and lakes; ling, cod, etc. are caught in the Orkney and Western Islds.; herrings at Wick, etc.; roe and red deer, black-cock, partridge, blue hare, and other game; seal, otter, are also found.

6. AGRICULTURE.

There are many fertile straths and carse lands, the best and most cultivated tracts being in Berwk., E. Lothian or Hadngtn., Lanark. or Clydesdale, Ayr., Galloway (Kirkcdbt. etc.), Dumfr., — carses of Falkirk (Stirlg.) and Gowrie (Perth.), Strathmore in Perth. and Forf., Fife., and parts of Aberd., Elgin., and E. Ross. Chief crops are: oats (the potato oat being the most common grain, — 25 to 60 bush. an acre), barley or bere or bigg, wheat, turnips (first grown in Edinb. and Roxb. 1750-60), potatoes (on the carse lands), clover, rye-grass. Farm buildings are good; leases from 19 to 21 yrs. common; the scotch two-horse plough, harrows, Meikle's thrashing machine (since 1794) in universal use; draining and other improvements practised by the farmers, who carry a name for high and careful farming. Most of the fences are the stone 'Galloway dykes,' 5½ to 6 ft. high. The best dairy lands are in Ayr. and Renfrew. where the Cunningham cows give 600 gals. milk yearly (each 3½ gals. producing 1½ lbs. of butter), and where they make Dunlop cheeses of 20 to 60 lbs.; and in Galloway, which has a polled black or brindled breed. The highland mid-horns in Argyll. are good for the table; the Fife. and Aberd. breeds are also mid-horns: the total head of cattle may be 1,100,000. About 1,600,000 ac. are in pasture; stock of sheep 3½ million, of the Cheviot, small black-faced or heath, Shetland dun-faced, and other breeds; sheep farming (the extension of which has scattered the pop. here) is carried out on a large scale in S. Scotld. and Argyll., Invern., Ross., Sutherld., many even of the highest hills being green or heathy to the top. The native hogs are white, gaunt, and long-legged; the Hebrides have a small active breed; Dumfr. and Kirkcdbt. produce the best ham and bacon; goats are kept on the hills. —— Much of the old forests is laid under the bogs as in Ireld., but there are above 1 million acres of timber, one-half being plantations in Perth., Aberd., Ross., Invern., Elgin., etc. There are about 7800 proprietors; many of the estates are large, and most entailed. The tenants (see 'farmers and graziers' as above) have a capital of 35 million £, and their profits are 4. Rent of corn land 7*s.* to 3*l.* (up to 5*l.*), pasture 14*s.* to 25*s.* (to 3*l.*). Comparing the rentals of 1811 and '43, there is a rise of 735,124*l.*,

[1] In its place Ben Nevis is stated (on the authority of M'Culloch) to be lower than Ben Muckdhu, but this is a mistake, according to the Ordnance surveyors, who still give the pre-eminence to Ben Nevis. In the Society's Map the heights of Ben Nevis and its rival are 4374 and 4299 ft. (Ordnance Survey); in the Companion to the Almanac for 1833, 4380 and 4300 (Jamieson); in Black's Guide, 4416 and 4418 (D. Stevenson). Johnston, in his Gazetteer, in which are collected all the most trustworthy dimensions of this kind, gives them 4368 and 4305.

or 9¼*d.* an acre, against a fall in wheat. Acres in crop are about 3,390,000, of which oats are 1,300,000 (at 5 qrs. an acre), barley 450,000 (at 4 qrs.), wheat 350,000 (at 3½ qrs.), turnips and clover 450,000 (each), potatoes 200,000, peas and beans 50,000 (at 3 bush.), flax 5000, gardens 35,000, fallow 100,000; and their estimated an. val. is 18¾ million £, which with pasture, wood, heath, etc. is 27¾ million.

7. MANUFACTURES.

Woollen fabrics, mostly coarse, are made at Aberdeen, Galashiels (tweeds, etc.), Hawick (hose), Stirling (tartans and carpets), Kilmarnock (carpets, shawls, scotch bonnets), Dumfries and Selkirk (hose). Cotton, chiefly at Glasgow and Paisley, upwards of 42 million lbs. being consumed by 1¾ million spindles and 26,000 looms. Linen, round the great centre Dundee, in Fife., Forf., Perth., Kincard.; also at Dunfermline (the finer sorts) and Aberdeen. Print-works and bleaching are carried on in Renfw., Lanark., Dumbrtn., Stirlg.; muslin embroidery at Glasgow and Kilmarnock; rope and sails made at Greenock, Dundee, Aberdeen (which also makes combs); metal goods, nails, etc. in Stirlg.; pottery in Lanark.; glass at Dumbarton, Alloa, Leith, and Glasgow, where, also, tobacco, steam boats, engines, etc. are manufactured; coaches at Edinbro'.

About 210 m. of canal are cut, of which the Caledonian is 60, Forth and Clyde and Union (Glasgow to Edinbro') 65. There were about 950 m. of railway by end of '50 (see ENGLAND). In '47, about 14,000 m. of road (1300 in Highlands, and 6000 being turnpike), which cost about 85,000*l.*

8. REVENUE, COMMERCE.

The nett revenue ('49-50) was 6,016,752*l.*, of which the customs were 1,949,030*l.* from 25 ports,—excise 2,629,731*l.* from 15 collections,—stamps 518,037*l.*, and taxes 296,882*l.*, from 22 districts,—post-office 168,134*l.*, property tax 454,938*l.*——Commerce has increased 30 to 35 per cent. in the last half century (see ENGLAND for latest customs and tonnage). In year ending 5 Jan. '51, the shipping Inwards and Outwards (including repeated voyages), was 'coastwise' 16,766 sail of 1,042,971 tons, and 17,322 of 1,028,376 tons,—besides 4467 steamers of 983,760 tons, and 4603 of 1,018,634 tons; from and to 'colonies' 514 sail of 178,574 tons, and 508 of 171,626 tons,—besides 8 foreigners of 3778 tons, and 12 of 3029 tons; from and to 'foreign ports' 1510 sail of 223,278 tons, and 1738 of 282,752 tons,—besides 1834 foreign sail of 185,578 tons, and 1799 of 195,793 tons,—also 80 british steamers of 21,243 tons, and 83 of 22,516 tons, and 7 foreign steamers of 1645 tons, and 5 of 1175 tons. In the same year, Scotld. and I. of Man had 10,480 boats with 40,362 hands in the fisheries; and 544,009 barrels of herrings were cured (267,000 exported), besides 91,000 cwts. of cod, ling, hake.

Crown lands produce 10,600*l.* (nett) a year. About 295 post-offices pay money orders. Local taxation (as rates, dues, etc.) about 1 million £.

9. ECCLESIASTICAL AFFAIRS, UNIVERSITIES, ETC.

A 'churchman' here means a presbyterian, after the form of church government finally established 1688. The parishes (each of which has a kirk session for ordinary church business) are united in 83 presbyteries (6 to 34 pars. each) and 16 synods, with about 1120 clergy (including 42 parl. churches, and 200 quoad sacra chapels); and the whole regulated by a general assembly of 386 members, of whom above 100 are lay-elders, in which a moderator presides for the church, and a lord high commissioner on behalf of the sovereign. Stipends are derived from teinds or tithes, of which 148,596*l.* are unexhausted for future livings; the average is 233*l.*, exclusive of a glebe of 4 arable acres (at least) and grass for a cow and 2 horses, making about 20*l.* more. About one-third of the patronage is in the Crown, the rest mostly with the heritors; but the church members have a veto under Earl Aberdeen's act. Dissenters number about 1,200,000, of whom 600,000 belong to the Free Church, which numbers 700 congregations in 17 synods and 71 presbyteries[1]; 450 congs. in 28 presbyteries to the United Presbyterian synod; 40 congs. in 6 presbs. to the Reformed Presbyterian church; 40 congs. in 7 presbs. to the United Original Seceders' synod; 145 congs. to the Congregationalists; 110 congs. in 7 dioceses to the Scottish Episcopal church; 80 congs. in three dioceses, or about 145,000 members, to the Roman Catholic church. University of St. Andrew's was founded 1411, of Glasgow 1450 (also the Andersonian 1796), of Aberdeen (King's College) 1494, of Edinbro' 1582, of Aberdeen (Marischal Coll.) 1593. Colleges at Edinboro', Glenalmond, and Blairs.

A lord president and 12 other judges, in two houses and divisions, constitute the court of session, or supreme civil court; six of the number compose the court of justiciary (or criminal court), who go circuit; and two, the court of exchequer. Peerage (represented by 16 peers in the House of Lords), 81 members, of whom 8 are dukes, 4 marquises, 42 earls, 5 viscounts, 21 barons, 1 baroness; but 41 of them are peers of Gt. Britain, and 3 of Ireld. About 70 dormant and extinct peerages; and 113 baronets of Scotld. and Nova Scotia, instituted 1625. Sheriffdoms and parishes began to be recognised in the 12th cent. For the badges of the clans, see HIGHLANDS.

10. ANTIQUITIES.

Among the chief antiquities are: camps at Ardoch (rom.), Barra Hill (british), Blackchester (rom.), Bochastle (rom.), Burnswark, Carby Hill (brit.), Castle Cary, Castle Dykes (rom.), Castle Overby, Castletown (b. and r.), Caterthun (brit.), Catrail (dyke), Dalginross, Dundornghill, Dunodeer (?), Dunsinane, Eildon Hill, Green Castle (rom.), Inchuthil (rom.), Kemp's Castle (rom.), Kirkintilloch (rom.), Normandykes (rom.), Raedykes (rom.), Strageth (rom.), Tibbers Cast. (rom.), Warkdykes (rom.); pillar stones at Ruthwell, and Sueono's Stones; druid stones at Kirkmichael (a large collection), Stannis, Torhouse, Uig; round towers at Abernethy, Brechin; ruined abbeys, etc.

[1] By Mar. '51, this body had raised 2,475,616*l.* for purposes at home and abroad.

Some of the finest seats are: Abbotsford, Abergeldie (Duchess of Kent), Atholl Ho., Armidale, Balmoral, Blantyre, Brahan Castle, Colzean Castle, Cullen Ho., Dalkeith, Drum, Drummond Castle, Duddingstone (by Chambers), Dunglas, Dunkeld, Dunvegan, Dupplin, Eglintoun, Gordon Cast., Hamilton Palace, Hawthorndean, Hoddam Cast., Hopetoun Ho., Inverary, Lee, Lethington, Melville Cast., Merchistoun, Penycuik, Queensbery, Raith, Scone Palace, Tavmouth Cast., Tyningham, Wemyss Cast.

IRELAND.

1. BOUNDARIES, AND COAST LINE.

IRELAND, the Icrne, Juverna, Hibernia, of the ancients, was called Scotia from 5th to 11th cent., and then Ireland; invaded by the Danes 838-50, who settled along the E. and SE. coast; conquered (1172) by the English under Hen. II., who divided it into the country Within and Without the Pale (i. e. Leinster in general), and united to England 1800; is traversed by 540 m. of railway, and 300 m. of canal; watered by the Shannon, Blackwater, Barrow, Suir, Liffey, Boyne, Bann, etc.; and bordered by the Atlantic (N., W., and S.), North Chan. separating it from Scotld. (NE.), Irish Sea and St. George's Chan. separating it from Engld. and Wales (E. and SE.). It lies between lat. 51° 26′ N. (Cape Clear) and 55° 22′ N. (Malin Hd.), and long. 5° 27½′ W. (Cairney Pt.) and 10° 19½′ W. (Dunmore Hd.). Length from Mizen Head NE. by N. to Fair Head 305 m.; greatest breadth perpend. to this 190; average ditto 120; relative size to Unit. Kingd. 2697-10,000ths; circuit about 1400 m. (or 2346 with harbs., creeks, etc.) of bold rocky coast, much broken up into bays and havens on all sides except the SE., where it is flat and lined with many long sands. Along the E. side of 280 m. (see Wexfd., Wicklow, Dubl., Meath, Louth, Down, Antrim) are 82 coast-gd. stations, about 12 principal lights (the Tuskar, Howth, Copeland, etc.), and the harbs. of Wexford near Carnsore point, Wicklow, Dublin on the bay, Drogheda on the Boyne, Dundalk on the bay, Newry on Carlingford bay, Strangford on the lough, Belfast on the lough; on the N. side of 160 m. (see Antr., Derry, Donegl.) are 19 coast-gd. stations, 3 lights, and Church bay in Rathlin isld. opposite Fair head (the nearest to Scotld.), Portrush near Giant's Causeway, Derry on L. Foyle, L. Swilly near Malin head, Sheephaven near Bloody Foreland; the W. side of 740 m. (see Donegl., Fermanagh, Sligo, Mayo, Galway, Clare, Limrk., Kerry, Cork) has 88 coast-gd. stations, 10 lights, with harbs., etc. of Donegal on the bay, Sligo on the bay, Killala on the bay, Blacksod bay inside Achill isld., Westport on Clew bay, Killeries, Briterbury bay near Slyne head, Galway on the bay inside the Arran islds., Limerick up the Shannon inside Loop head, Tralee on the bay, Valentia (the nearest to America) in Dingle bay, Kenmare on that river or bay, Bantry on the bay, Mizen head near Dunmanus bay; and on the S. side of 220 m. (see Cork, Waterfd., Wexfd.) are 72 coast-gd. stations, 6 lights, and many good harbs., including Crookhaven, Roaringwater bay inside Cape Clear isld., Kinsale, Cork, Dungarvan, Waterford on the Barrow or Suir inside the Hook, and Saltees light near Carnsore point. Above 60 lights, of all kinds, are placed along the coast, which has 28 fishing districts, with 15,250 registered boats, and 63,400 hands (in '50); seals, sun-fish, cod, hake, flat-fish, ling, herrings, oysters, lobsters, etc. are caught; turbot, sole, etc. sent to Dublin by rail. It is further divided into 17 districts for salmon fishing.

2. OCCUPATIONS OF THE PEOPLE, PARLIAMENTARY REPRESENTATION, ETC.

It contains 32,513 sq. m., or 20,808,271 acres, of which 13,464,300 (or 65 per cent.) are arable, 6,295,735 uncultivated bog, hill, etc. (2,330,000 being improveable), 374,482 in plantations, — in towns, 630,825 in water; 1,472,787 families, of whom (this was in 1841) 974,188 or 66·1 per cent. live by agricult., 352,016 or 24·0 per cent. by manufact., trade, etc., 38,657 professions or independent, 9,256,501 by manual labour, 67,224 in 1st class houses, 1,083,590 in 3rd and 4th (or lowest) class houses; 8,175,124 + 40,772 persons, of whom 433,314 are in Dublin, Cork, Belfast, Limerick, — 4,155,548 are females, 4,009,188 under 20 yrs. of age, 439,973 were born out of the counties where settled, 21,552 were born in Engld., 8585 in Scotld., — 5279 are of clerical profession, 2604 legal, 3877 medical, 3238 merchants, 485,878 spinners, 117,847 weavers, 471,062 farmers, 1,234,119 farm servants and labourers, 8974 fishermen, 11,665 clerks, 295,765 servants; 1,328,839 houses, besides 52,208 empty, and 3313 building; 4 provinces, Ulster (N. and NE.), Leinster (SE.), Munster (SW.), Connaught (W.); 32 counties (as below), with 316 baronies and 2532 parishes; 131 poor law unions, exclusive of 50 more either formed or forming by division of the larger ones; returns 105 members to parl. under the Reform Act (which added 5 to the number settled at the Union), viz. 64 for the counties (elect. 31,832[1]), 41 for cities and boroughs (el. 40,234), being two each for Dublin city*, Cork city*, and two (instead of 1) each for Belfast*, Dublin univ., *Galway, Limerick city*, Waterford city*, — one

[1] Under the act of 1850 for extending the franchise, the electors, by a return, Mar. '51, are, for counties 135,245, cities and towns 20,255, boroughs 8046.

each for Armagh city, Athlone, Bandon, Carlow, Carrickfergus, Cashel city, *Clonmel, Coleraine, Downpatrick, Drogheda, Dundalk, Dungannon, Dungarvan, Ennis, Enniskillen, Kilkenny city*, Kinsale, Lisburn, Londonderry or Derry city*, Mallow, New Ross, Newry, Portarlington, *Sligo, Tralee, *Wexford, Youghal,—the 11 marked * being also reformed municipal boroughs under the act of 3 & 4 Vict. (exclusive of 84 smaller ones); is divided into 6 circuits (as below), those in italics (above) being assize towns,—into 5 military divisions, with head qrs. at Dublin, Belfast, Limerick, Kilkenny, Cork,—and into 10 dioceses, in the provinces of Armagh and Dublin (since the new distribution of 1833?).

3. POOR LAW, EDUCATION, ETC.

Estimated gross rental ('46) 13,562,646*l.* or 19*s.* 5½*d.* per acre.——From 1839, 131 unions had been formed, divided into 2049 electoral divisions (4 to 29 in each union); acres 13,187,421; pop. ('41) 8,174,566, house room for about 250,000 (319,000 in '51), cases relieved ('47-8) 525,263 (besides 1,433,042 out-door), expenditure 1,835,311*l.*, property rated 14,187,421*l.* In the year ending Sept. '50, 1,480,108*l.* was expended in 163 unions for 805,702 in-door paupers and 368,568 out-door, being a decrease in the cost of 30 per cent. since '49. And for the year ending Mar. '51, there was house room for 309,000; while the in-door cases were from 149,000 to 264,000 (besides 110,000 to 149,000 out-door), costing 1*s.* per head per week, the deaths being 2·4 to 6·4 per 1000 weekly (23 per cent. per year). Many unions having been found too large, are to be divided so as to give 50 more; 23 have been made, and the electoral divisions already increased to 3404. The poor rate valuation, which is 20 per cent. under the estimated value (which is itself less than a third of the total rental of the soil), is the nett annual value of the property, or the sum it lets for one year with another. Out of 1,316,000 tenements rated, 492,000 are under 4*l.*, and only 383,000 at and above 8*l.* (93,700 above 25*l.*).——About 664 dispensaries, 101 fever hospitals, and 41 county infirmaries (first established 1765) are dispersed over the country. County cess or rate by presentment of the grand jury ('48) 1,241,854*l.*; ('49) 1,319,000*l.* Savings banks ('48) 61, with 1,358,062*l.* from 50,119 depositors; ('49) 1,200,273*l.* from 45,548. Loan funds have declined since '45; in '49, 160 circulated 650,000*l.* with a cap. of 189,190*l.*——Births 1 in 30; deaths 1 in 55 (or 57). A registry for marriages was estab. 1845, but only for protestants; in '49, 9493 marriages (5324 at church).—— In '21 there were 394,813 children in schools of all kinds, 502,950 in '41 (when 53 per cent. of the pop. above 5 yrs. could not read or write), and 24 to 26 per cent. of pop. were between 6 and 15.——National schools in 34 districts, supported by a grant of 120,000*l.* At end of '49 there were 4321 schools and 476,000 children, including 7 model schools, 13 model agricult. schools, and 34 ordinary ones; average salary of teachers 14*l.* 10*s.* The Sunday School society in '48 had 2964 schools, with 224,132 children, and 20,104 teachers; the Church Education soc. had in '49, 1868 schools, with 112,000 children (38,000 rom. catholics). There are 9 royal gram. schools, 14 diocesan, and 22 of private foundation.——Committals in '50 were 31,326 (26 per cent. less than '49), of whom 17,108 were convicted; there were also 64,800 cases at petty sessions.

4. POPULATION.

Population (1805) 5,395,456 (?), (1821) 6,801,827, (1841) 8,175,124, being an increase of about 20 per cent. since '21 (24 per cent. in Munster, 28 in Connaught), fostered by the customs of the people derived from the old Brehon laws (all the family sharing alike), by subletting to make votes, and by the potato food; in '41 there were 6·152 souls per house (11·4 in Dublin, 9 Clonmel, 8 Cork and Limerick, 5½ to 8 elsewhere), 251·4 per sq. mile, 1 to every 2·5 acre; and about 700,000 were collected in 28 towns (above 7000 each), which had increased 6 per cent. 1831-41. [The pop. '51 is 6,515,794 (with 3,339,067 females), being a deplorable decrease since '41 of 1,659,330, or 20 per cent. (23·5 in Munster, 28·6 in Connaught), chiefly through emigration (1,700,000 having left the Unit. Kingd. in this period, of whom about 1¼ million were Irish), the failure of the potato crop in 1847-8, fever, and cholera. The towns have increased their pop. (except Carrickfergus) between 4 and 43 per cent.; but the decrease is general in all the counties except Dubl., and many vils. of Clare, about Kilrush, etc. have been depopulated. Had the average increase, 5 per cent., taken effect since '41, the pop. in '51 might have been about 8,584,000, so that the comparative decrease is upwards of 2 million souls. This is indeed a great calamity; but who can help seeing that the misery and destitution which produced such a melancholy result, were a scourge in the hands of Divine Providence to save the nation from utter ruin? Even now the dawn of a better day begins to appear.] The unmarried are about 2-3rds of the community, and are more numerous in the country parts; there are more bachelors than spinsters; the widows are double the widowers, and both are more numerous in towns. On the average, persons in Ulster and Leinster are longer lived. Spanish blood runs in many of the people on the Galway and Kerry coast; german in a few descendants of the Palatines in Tippery.; scotch in Ulster; a mixture of somersetshire and welsh in Wexfd.[1]

5. GEOLOGICAL FEATURES.

A peculiarity of irish geology is that about 4-9ths of the interior is a flattish boggy plain of mountain limestone (such as makes the Derb. and Yksh. hills, but not so rugged), from which slaty and other rocks of a primary class rise towards the sea-board, where, for the most part, the highest ranges are found. This great limestone mass, which is the secret of the fertility of the soil, is bordered by a line on or near to Tralee, Killarney, Mallow, Kilworth, Mitchelstown, Clonmel, Waterford, Ballypatrick, Thomastown, Garryhill (under Mt. Leinster), Castle-Dermot, Athy, Kildare, Naas, Newcastle, Kingstown, thence by the coast past Dublin to Rush, thence to Duleek, Slane, Kells, Dalysbridge, Longford, Cloneen, Lanesboro', Drumsna, Cavan, Monaghan, Gilford (near Tanderagee), Dungannon, Salterstown, Tempo, Upper L. Erne, thence by Enniskillen and Lower

[1] See Hall's Ireland, for an amusing specimen of their dialect.

L. Erne to Donegal, thence by the coast past Sligo to Downpatrick head, thence to Castlebar, Newport, Westport, along Ls. Mask and Corrib to Galway, thence by the coast past the Shannon and Kerry head to Tralee; so that, with detached pieces near Baldwinstown, (Wexfd.), near Drogheda, Ardee, and Dundalk (in Meath and Louth), and near Donegal, it occurs in every county but Derry, Antrim, Wicklow. Old red sandstone edges this border line, near Tralee, — also from Kilworth by Waterford to Thomastown, — from Longford by Lanesboro' to Monaghan, — from Salterstown to Enniskillen, — round Donegal and between L. Erne and Sligo, — from Downpatrick hd. to Newport, — and near Galway and Kerry hd., — besides some beds of it on W. side of Waterford harb., and near Moynalty, Carrickmacross, and Newtown-Stewart; it also appears within the bounds of the same, between Cahir and Charleville (round the Galtee mountns., which are slate), — near Kilmeedy in the Knockfierna hills, — between Maryboro', Limerick, and Loughrea, round L. Derg, and the Sl. Bloom, Keeper, and Sl. Boughty mountns. (which are slate), — near Streamstown and Ballymahon, — in parts of W. and N. Roscomn., and near Newcastle (Mayo) on R. Moy. Outside this border line, clay slate prevails to the SW. and S. in Kerry, Cork, Waterfd.; clay slate to the SE., with granite in S. Wexfd. and the Wicklow mountns., and trap near Arklow; clay slate to the NE. in Louth, and E. parts of Cavan and Monaghan, in S. Armagh and Down, with granite round Newry, and in the Mourne mountns., and new red sandstone near Moira; basalt to the N. (800 sq. m. of it, 500 ft. thick), coming out at the great pillars of Giant's Causeway, Fair Head, etc. in Antrim, with 'new red' along the coast; gneiss, or mica slate, to the N. in Derry, N. Tyrone, Donegal, with 'new red' in the E. parts of the first two (next to a mass of trap in Tyrone), and granite in W. Donegal, and near Donegal town; mica slate in W. Mayo, running in the Ox mountns. to Sligo; mica slate in N. Galway, and granite in the S. part; besides single masses of granite near Cavan, Kildare (not far from trap), Sligo, Blacksod and Cleggan bays, — and of trap near Philipstown and Pallasgrean. The last is within the limestone border, which also comprises a tract of gritstone in the mountains round L. Allen (Leitrim and Cavan), and several beds of coal, — the larger or S. beds in W. Clare, Kerry, Cork, Limerk., Tippery., and Kilky., being blind or anthracite coal, without smoke or flame, while those in the N., as in Leitr., Roscomn. (near the Arigna works), Fermanagh, Meath, are of a better kind (some beds 3 ft. thick), especially in Tyrone, at Dromagh and Coalisland, where there are 7 beds, some 6 ft. thick; another bed is found near Ballycastle (Antrim), in the basalt, which is also mixed up with lias, hard chalk, and greensand. Some of the highest mountains are: Carntual 3412 ft. (highest in Ireld.), Cahir or Mac-Gillicuddy's Reeks 3200, Brandon 3126, Cahirconree 2796, Mangerton 2756, Purple mountn. 2739, Crucknabinny 2572, Toomies 2503, in Kerry; Galtymore 3008, in Limerk.; Galtees or Galtybeg 2636, Knockmealdown 2609, in Tippery.; Comeragh 2597, in Waterfd.; Mt. Leinster 2610, in Carlow; Lugnaquilla 3039, Mulloghcleevaun 2783, in Wicklow; Sliebh or Slieve Donard 2796, in Down; Errigal 2462, in Dongl.; Mwilrea or Mweelrea 2688, Nephin 2646, Benbury 2610, Croagh Patrick 2510, in Mayo; besides which, there are nearly 50 round the coast, ranging from 2000 to 2500 ft. (Keeper mountn. 2265, is in the interior), and 35 there and elsewhere from 1000 to 2000 ft. Pitchstone occurs near Newry and Antrim; beds of shells, 70 to 100 ft. above the sea, are noticed on the E. coast; with ridges of gravel, called eskers and drumlins, here and there.

6. MINERALS, ETC.

Rivers are: the Shannon (which drains a basin of 4500 m.), Blackwater, Barrow, Suir, Liffey, Boyne, Bann, Foyle, Erne, Slaney, Lee, etc. Among the lakes or loughs (= 215,252 ac. or 336 sq. m.) are: Neagh, the largest in the Unit. Kingd. (101,380 ac.), Erne (and its islds.), Corrib, Mask, Conn, Killarney. Salmon, trout, perch, pike, eels, roach, are caught. —— Minerals, though abundant in some parts, are little worked. Coal is found in Kilky., Tyrone, Tippery., Cork, Carlow, etc. (as above); iron, near the coal, at Arigna; copper in the clay slate of Wicklow (Vale of Ovoca), Tippery. (Lackamore), Cork (Allihies), Waterfd. (Bonmahon), to the amount of 6355 tons in '48; lead (with 7½ to 120 oz. of silver per ton in it), in the granite and clay slate of Mayo, Wicklow, Down; a few gold grains in Wicklow; slate for paving, at Valentia, Killaloe, Westport, Glenpatrick; black marble in Kilky., Galway (with fine serpentine), — white in Connemara, and Donegl.; limestone almost everywhere, that of the calp kind, the most suitable for building, being in beds of 1 in. to 3 ft.; marl, stone, and gypsum, near Belfast; fossil and lignite in the clay round L. Neagh. —— Large elk bones, and forest timber, including yew logs (of which the beautiful carvings in the Great Exhibition were made), are found in the bogs, which in general cover the limestone, between a line from Wicklow to Galway, and another from Howth to Sligo, at a depth of 5 to 30 ft.; 1,576,000 ac. are red bog (fir timber in it). The black bog (with oak timber in it) in the hills is reckoned at 1,254,000 ac.; it is the common fuel, and attempts are making to extract naphtha, grease, and other products from it. —— W. winds blow 3-4ths of the year; the S. and W. coasts are the mildest. Mean temp. ranges from 48° to 52°, more evenly than in Engld.; but the climate is uncommonly moist and showery (34 in. of rain at Dublin and Derry, 37 at Castleeomer, 36 to 40½ at Cork), which produces a perpetual greenness of turf, and the name of the 'green island' for the country, but is unfavourable to wheat, which is usually kiln-dried, and to seeds, which are brought from Engld. Many rare alpine plants and ferns have been discovered.

7. AGRICULTURE.

Though thin and light, yet the land, being on a limestone bottom, is wonderfully fertile, either for pasture or tillage, and has a "natural aptness for grass," which grows even on the hills. The best land is in Tippery., Limk., Kilkny., Carlow, Kild., King's and Queen's Co., Westm., Dubl., Meath, Louth, Roscmn., Armagh, Down; but the chalk and deep clay soils of Engld. are never or rarely found. Three-fifths are in tillage, chiefly in the N. and W.; more pasture in the SW. from Limk. to Waterfd., in the middle, and on the hills of Wickl., Leitr., Sligo. Oats are grown six to one of other grain (producing on the av. 44½ bush. per acre for 5 of seed); a little wheat in the E. and N.

(20¾ bush. for 2); barley (33¾ bush. for 2¾); bere or poor barley (42 bush. for 2½); flax (3 tons an acre) for the linen factors in Down, Antr., Derry, etc.; potatoes (800 to 1000 stone of 21 lbs. each), the prime article of food with the people almost everywhere, but latterly subject to periodical blight. In Connaught they burn the land to make manure for potatoes. Acres in crop '48, oats 1,922,406 (or 9,050,490 qrs.), wheat 565,764 (or 1,555,000 qrs.), barley 243,235 (or 1,135,120 qrs.), beans 25,823 (or 95,551 qrs.), peas 24,926 (or 76,957 qrs.), rye 21,502 (or 105,375 qrs.), — potatoes 742,899 (or 2,880,814 tons), turnips 255,058 (or 3,643,074 t.), mangold wurzel 12,588 (or 220,875 t.), other green crops 32,656 (or 424,382); making 2,856,696 ac. of grain, and 1,043,201 of green crops, besides 53,863 of flax (257,893 cwts.), and 1,154,302 of hay (2,287,133 tons). On the dairy lands they keep the irish cow, with some english breeds; the long horns, in the low parts, have a coarse thick hide, and horns turning inwards; mid horns, on the hills, are small, wild, and coarse haired, but good milkers; the best butter (160 lbs. per cow per year) comes from Carlow and Waterfd. Sheep are bred and fattened in Galway, Roscmn., Clare, Limk., Tippery., Meath; the native breed being large and long-woolled, but improved by crosses with the Leicester (5 to 7 lbs. fleece). Value of stock in '41, 21,105,808*l.*, including 576,115 horses and mules, 1,863,116 head of cattle, 2,106,189 sheep (1½ million being long-woolled), 1,412,813 pigs (a large ugly breed, kept for cheap bacon and ham), 92,865 asses, 8½ million poultry (including many turkeys, which are common in the cottages, warmth being favourable to them). Many goats are kept for milk. But since '41, the stock has decreased on the smaller holdings, and increased a little on the larger. —— For the last three quarters of a century farms have grown smaller and smaller, by sub-letting, etc.; but, happily, a turn has now taken place. In '41, 20,134,517 acres (including water) were divided into 685,609 farms above one acre each (306,915 above 5 ac., — and only 48,312 above 30 ac., leaving 93 per cent. below), at an av. size of 29½ ac., for the most part held by persons without skill or capital, many of whom have since emigrated, or are glad to hire themselves out for a day's labour when they can get it. But up to '48, there was a decrease of 208,600 holdings under 5 acres (in a single year, '47-8, those under 1 ac. fell off 18,000), and an increase of 159,600 of those above 15 ac. In 1850, there were only 628,222 holdings (against 651,145 in '49), and 5,758,290 acres were under crop (5,543,748 in '49), the increase being chiefly in oats and flax; there was an increase also of 146,800 cattle, 99,000 sheep, 132,000 pigs, the av. value of stock having increased to 26,952,000*l.* since '41, or 27½ per cent. (10 per cent. since '48). Conacre prevails in Connaught, i. e. a patch of ground is let for a season at 6, 8, 10, even 15*l.* an acre, to be planted with potatoes or cropped; here also, and elsewhere, much land is held on rundale or partnership, by which several persons take a farm, which they divide into fields, and the fields into shares, without roads or fences or regard to the quality or value of the land, and each holder being liable for the whole; for customary 'tenant right,' 5 to 20*l.* an acre are paid in Ulster and Connaught by the incoming tenant to the old one. Draining and rotation of crops are never thought of; old clumsy spades, ploughs, etc. are in use. Oats and potatoes, with a little bere and a few turnips, are the produce of the smaller holdings; shell sand and seaweed manures are carried sometimes 30 m. inland. The farm-houses even of rich farmers are miserable; and in the wretched cabins the peasant, as in Spenser's time, is "lying and living together with his beasts, in one house, in one room, in one bed — that is, clean straw, or rather a foul dunghill." Many cottiers get a piece of ground in whole or part wages; fences are of earth or rough stone. Leases run 21 to 61 years; estates are of all sizes up to 50,000 ac., many encumbered with debt, to pay off which, by a summary process, an act was passed 1847; between that and Sept. '51, 1945 estates have been registered, with a nett rental of 1,141,090*l.*, and encumbrances on them to the amount of 22,458,517*l.* Under this act land has sold at 10 to 20 yrs. purchase. Plantations in '41 were 374,482 ac.; few are seen outside the seats and demesnes, where, hitherto, almost the only signs of superior cultivation were to be found. But a reformation is at hand in several hopeful quarters. Steady efforts are made to discourage trading in land, and impart a better system of agriculture, as well as to extend the fisheries and the making of kelp, to draw various useful products from the peat, and to promote in general the industrial resources of the country; while the improvements formerly begun, and abandoned for want of support or protection, have now a greater chance of success.

The estimated rental (above) gives 19s. 5½*d.* per acre on 13,881,771 cultivated acres; or 12,962,646*l.* on 13,464,300 (less towns, bogs, and plantations), making the average 19s. 3*d.* Taking the average acres in crop at 5,765,000, i. e. wheat 450,000 (at 3 qrs. per acre), barley 400,000 (at 3½ qrs.), oats 2½ millions (at 5 qrs.), potatoes 2 millions, fallow 300,000, flax 100,000, gardens 15,000, the an. val. of land is reckoned by M'Culloch at 28¼ million £, which, with 7,600,000 ac. of pasture (at 50s.) and woodland, makes the estimated total of 48¼ million £.

8. MANUFACTURES.

Woollen friezes, etc. are spun by the people for use at home in many parts, and there are small factories (employing 1082 hands in '47, a bad year) in Cork, Dubl., Kilky. (carpets), Queen's Co., Waterfd., with a few flannels in Clare, Wicklow; worsteds are made (238) in Dubl. and Queen's Co., and at Bandon; cottons (4183) in Antr. (round Belfast), Down (Bangor, Newtonards), Dubl. (Chapelizod), Louth (Drogheda), Queen's Co. (Mountmellick), Wicklow (Stratford-on-Slaney), with some at Clonmel, Limerick, and Portlaw (Waterfd.); linens and flax (17,088), to the amount of 70 million yds., worth 4 million £, in Antr. and Down, round Belfast (1 million £ worth), Banbridge (which has much water-power), Lisburn, Castlewellan, Rathfriland, Kilkeel, Lurgan, Dromore, Tanderagee, — also at Coleraine (fine sorts), Drogheda (canvas, tick, sheeting, etc.); bleaching and cotton printing are carried on near Belfast, and in Armagh, Tyrone, etc. Figured muslins round Belfast employ 200,000 hands. A few silk goods, as tabinets or poplins, tabbareas, riobons, with velvets, linen yarn, and pins, are made at Dublin; 'Limerick' gloves at Cork; lace and fish-hooks at Limerick; cutlery at Enniskillen; engines at Drogheda; coaches and cars at Newry; glass at Dublin, Cork, Waterford, Lisburn, Belfast, Newry; paper at Galway, which has large chemical works; pottery and fire-bricks at Dungannon, etc.; rope, sail-cloth, dyes, etc. at Belfast;

ships at Cork, Belfast, Derry. Tanning, distilling, etc. are carried on in many places; and vast quantities of provisions are salted at Limerick, Cork, etc., and exported thence, along with cattle, grain, eggs, bacon, etc., from these towns, and Sligo, Galway, Derry, Belfast, Dublin, New Ross, Newry, etc.

Railways are on Gen. Pasley's medium gauge of 5½ feet. In '50, 475 m. were open, and carried 5½ millions of passengers, which, with goods, produced 475,300*l.*, or 1000*l.* per mile. About 540 m. of rail., made in '50, had cost 10,500,000*l.*, 4 lines single rail.; about 200 m. were making (see ENGLAND). Nearly 300 m. of canal are cut, of which the Grand canal is 101, and the Royal 83.

9. REVENUE, COMMERCE, ETC.

Revenue for year ending 5 Jan. '51, 4,094,654*l.*, of which 1,827,289*l.* was from customs (at 19 ports), 1,312,123*l.* from excise (in 17 collections), 462,692*l.* from stamps (in 30 districts). The total income was 5,121,643*l.*, and the expenditure 4,460,379*l.*——The gross customs in '49 were 2,166,000*l.* (charge of excise collections 10 per cent.); and the same in '50 were 2,055,925 (see ENGLAND). Most of the excise is on spirits and malt; the charge of collection being 11 per cent. Stamps are collected at a charge of 3¼ per cent.

For registered tonnage in year ending 5 Jan. '51, see ENGLAND. In the same year, the shipping Inwards and Outwards was, 'coastwise' 16,403 sail of 1,191,243 tons, and 7360 of 438,532 tons, besides 4340 steamers of 1,303,489 tons, and 4534 of 1,338,732 tons; — from and to 'colonies' 318 of 90,012 tons, and 248 of 68,626 tons, besides 15 foreigners of 6129 tons, and 57 of 16,082 tons; — from and to 'foreign ports' 1016 of 155,000 tons, and 433 of 96,497 tons, besides 4 steamers of 1180 tons inw.; also 871 foreign sail of 160,288 tons, and 704 of 130,588 tons.

Post-offices 800, of which 235 grant money orders; revenue '49, 184,500*l.* (charge 82 per cent.). Crown lands produce 49,000*l.* a year. Local taxation 2 to 3 million £ (rates, cess, and dues); the poor law valuation is henceforth to be the uniform basis of certain local burdens. In '48, 6 million £ worth of irish produce was sent to Liverpool, and 1 to Bristol (since that 8 million £ worth have gone to Liverpool); 2 million qrs. of grain and malt were sent to Engld., of which 1½ was oats and meal: but the same year 2 millions were imported (4 in '47, the famine year).

10. ECCLESIASTICAL AFFAIRS, UNIVERSITIES.

A line from the N. of Dubl. to the S. of Galway bay parts the archdioceses of Armagh (the primacy) and Dublin, into which the country is divided (corresponding nearly to the Leagh Conn and Leagh Mogha of old times) under the new distribution, which has reduced Cashel and Tuam to dioceses, and the dioceses from 22 to 12, with an average income of 5628*l.* (from 4500*l.* to 12,000*l.*), subject, however, to a deduction of from 5 to as much as 75 per cent. (the Bp. of Derry, for instance, whose income is put down at 8000*l.*, has to pay back 6160*l.* to the church commissioners). There are about 2400 benefices and perpetual cures, formed into 1400 livings (480 being unions of 2 or more parishes), with 2200 clergy, whose av. income is 266*l.* (about 880 being under 300*l.*, 15 from 1000*l.* to 1500*l.*); but all above 300*l.* are taxed 2½ to 15 per cent. Cathedral and other church lands are 670,000 acres; and in eight large towns about 15,000*l.* ministers' money is levied by rate. About 2300 roman catholic clergy are under 4 archbishops and 25 bishops; 433 congregations, in 35 presbyteries, are under the Ulster General Assembly, with 640 clergy; and other dissenters number 350 congregations. About 485 nonconformist ministers (presbyterian) are partly supported by a regium donum of 75*l.* to 100*l.* each (irish currency), first granted by Ch. II. 1672. In '34, the per centage of churchmen was 10¾, roman catholics 81, presbyterians 8, other dissenters ¼, being 81 rom. catholics to 19 protestants; but taking into account the reduction brought about by emigration (perhaps 1¼ million since '41) and famine, chiefly among the poor catholics, the population is now more likely to be 65 to 35. The tithes, between 600,000*l.* and 700,000*l.*, were in '38 commuted for a rent-charge of 3-4ths, or 401,000*l.* (of which 81,660*l.* is in lay impropriations), being about one-hundredth of the real rent.

University of Dublin was founded 1593, Queen's University 1851. Queen's Colleges of Belfast, Galway, Cork, were founded in '45, and opened Oct. '49 (by June '50 they had 375 students, and from Oct. '50 to June '51, 366 more); others are at Maynooth (1795), Carlow, Tuam, Kilkenny, Whitechurch, Armagh, Belfast (the Academy), Drumcondra, Clongowes Wood, Thurles.

11. CIVIL GOVERNMENT.

The government is in the hands of a lord lieutenant-general and general-governor, assisted by a privy council, and chief secretary resident in London. A lord chancellor, master of the rolls, and 4 judges each in the Queen's Bench, Common Pleas, Exchequer, preside in the law courts. Peerage includes (many being peers of Gt. Britain) 1 royal duke (Cumberland), 2 archbishops, 1 duke (Leinster), 13 marquises, 69 earls, 45 viscounts, 10 bishops, 69 barons, 1 peeress, 78 baronets; 7 titles are dormant. Militia, 37 regiments of 7 to 10 companies each when embodied. Constabulary force, or peace officers, dispersed over the country in districts and stations, were 12,212 men in '48, and cost 562,506*l.* There are 567 petty session courts; and 34 county prisons, where the diet costs 4*d.* to 1*s.* 8*d.* per head per day. About 20,000 soldiers are stationed in Ireld. at present. —— The smaller divisions are baronies, which are like the hundreds in Engld., and belonged to the old chieftains (see their names in the different counties), — parishes, mostly of large size, — and townlands or ploughlands, the divisions in common use.

12. ANTIQUITIES, ETC.

Of remarkable antiquities there are: round towers at Antrim*, Ardmore* (St. Declan), Ardpatrick, Armoy, Balla or Ballagh, Cashel*, Castledermot, Clondalkin*, Clonmacnoise* (two), Clones*, Cloyne*, Devenish*, Donaghmore*, Drumbo, Drumcliff (Clare), Drumcliff (Sligo), Dysert, Fertagh, Headfort (or Kells), Glendalough*, Kilbennan, Kilcullen, Kildare*, Kilkenny*, Killala* Killinaboy, Kilmacduagh* (17 ft. out of the perpendicular), Kilmallock, Kilree, Kinneigh, Londonderry, Lush, Meelick, Monasterboice* (and pillar-cross), Rathmichael, Rattoo*, Roscrea, Roscom, Ruan, Sier Kieran (?), Scarriff, Scattery*, Swords*, Timahoe*, Trummery, Tullaherin, Turlough*. The sites of above 120 appear on the Ordnance Survey, and about 80 remain, of which 20 (marked * above) are perfect, from 60 to 130 ft. high, 8 to 11 diam., and in several stories lit by single windows, with a cap or conical roof; human bones have been found at the bottom of some. With regard to their origin, among various opinions, it is supposed they were built by pagan fire-worshippers, or by christians (as Dr. Petrie thinks) for belfries and storehouses. —— Other objects are, druid stones at Dowth (and a cairn), Giant's Grave cromlech (near Kilternan in Dubl., with a top stone 23 ft. by 17), Grange, Grianan of Aileach, Gurlough, Howth crom., Killiney, Mount Venus crom. (near Rathfarnham in Dubl., with a top stone 19½ ft. by 11½), New Grange pillar and cairn, Shanganagh crom., Slievenagriddle circle; Danes Cast. dyke, Danes Fort rath (see Kilfinnane), Downpatrick rath, Kincora, Lisnagade camp, Ratoath moat, Staig Fort, Tara Hill; abbey ruins at Abbeyfeale, Abbeyknockmoy, Abbeyshrule, Adare, Ardfert, Ardstraw, Askeaton, Baltinglass, Bective, Boyle, Burrishoole, Buttevant, Callan, Carlingford, Castledermot, Clare, Cong, Drogheda, Downpatrick, Dunbrody, Dundalk, Dungarvan, Durrow, Ennis, Fore, Graiguenamanagh, Grey Abbey, Gowran, Holycross, Innisfallen, Jerpoint, Kilcolman, Kilcooley, Killydonnell, Lorrha, Mellifont, Monasteranenagh, Moyne, Mucruss, Multyfarnham, Newtownclonbun, Quin, Roscommon, Roserk, Sligo, Timoleague, Tintern, Trim, Vallis Salutis, Thurles, Wicklow; old churches etc. at Armagh, Banagher, Cashel, St. Doolough, Howth, Killaloe, Killeshin, Londonderry. Wakeman's Handbook to Irish Antiquities has figures of an ancient stone oratory, and a 'teampoll' or church, of which it appears there are several in Ireland; they are called 'Etruscan,' as if they followed a style, but it is evident that, in common with some to be found in Scotland and Wales, they are nothing more than the productions of unskilful men, who, without a model, piled stones together in the best manner they were able. Castle ruins at Ardglass, Askeaton, Athenry, Athlone, Athlumney, Ballingarry, Ballintobber, Ballymote, Baltinglass, Blarney, Bullock, Bunratty, Caislean-na-Circe, Carlingford, Carrick-on-Suir, Carrickfergus, Carrigogunnel, Castle Connel, Cast. Dermot, Castlemartyr, Clonmines, Cratloe, Crum, Dunluce, Greencastle, Glenarm, Inchiquin, Kells, Kilcash, Kilcolman, Kilcrea, Kilmallock, Leixlip, Limerick, Lismore, Mallow, Manorhamilton, Nenagh, Rathfarnham, Roscommon, Roscrea, Scurloughstown, Swords, Thurles, Trim, Woodstock. Among the seats are: Ballynaguard, Ballinahinch, Bessborough, Carton, Castlecoole, Clifden Cast., Clonyn, Curraghmore, Ely Lodge, Emo Park, Farnham Court, Florence Court, Headfort Ho., Hillsboro', Howth Castle, Kilkenny Cast., Kilruddery (eliz.), Kiltinnan Cast., Lismore Cast., Lissadell, Lough Glin, Malahide, Markree, Moore Abbey, Mount Shannon, Mountjoy Forest, Parsonstown, Powerscourt, Saunders Court, Shane's Castle, Slane Castle, Tollymore.

Note.—Dioceses of St. Asaph, Bangor, Hereford, Morgan, Llandaff, Llanbadern, Worcester, were under Caerleon in Augustine's time. Worcester, Hereford, Canterbury, Rochester, Dorchester, York, Lichfield, Winchester, Wells, Elmham, Exeter, London, Sodor and Man, Durham, Salisbury, Selcey, are mentioned as in the Conqueror's time. Hen. VIII. intended to make new dioceses at St. Alban's, Bury, Dunstable, Fountains (for Lancash.), Launceston, Leicester, Shrewsbury, Waltham, Welbeck. The Act of 1836, providing for the union of Sodor with Chester, and St. Asaph with Bangor, has not been carried into effect.

CENSUS OF 1851.

The substance of what has hitherto appeared of the Census of 31 March, 1851, is given below: further details are yet to be published, which will embrace a comparative view of the population of all places for each census from 1801. Table I. for England and Wales follows the divisions and districts adopted by the Registrar-General (under whom the Census was taken), and which, "like the counties, are arranged in groups, so as to bring together, as much as possible, neighbouring populations." The districts in general agree with the unions; and the counties are 'registration counties,' i. e. composed of several registries, which, when added together, do not exactly correspond with the actual counties, — the rule being, when a district stretches into another county, to give it to that where most of the population stands. The total of each division is given at the beginning of it. The reader will observe that Kensington, Chelsea, St. George Hanover Square, Westminster, etc., in this table, do not (except in a few cases) mean parishes but registries, for the bounds of which see the respective names in the body of the work, — and with the registry population above must that here given be compared. For example, Kensington includes Fulham, Hammersmith, etc.; Chelsea and St. George, consist of those parishes only; Westminster includes St. Margaret and St. John. Further down, Epsom contains 8 places, Chertsey 14 places, etc.
